DESPATCHES, Etc.

Circular.

DOWNING STREET,
1st June, 1906.

SIR,—I have had recently under my consideration certain points which have arisen in connection with the position and treatment of Foreign Consuls in the Colonies, and, after communication with the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, I have thought it proper to lay down certain principles for the guidance of Governors. You will understand that it is not expected that they can be applied in Colonies where a different practice has been established, but it is my desire that Colonial Governors should look to them as a guide in future when opportunities occur of applying them without unnecessary friction.

2. No general instructions to Colonial Governors respecting the position and treatment of Consuls appear to have been issued since a date nearly forty years ago, when it was intimated that if in any Colony precedence was, as a matter of courtesy, already accorded to the Foreign Consular Body, no alteration should be made, with the view of assimilating the practice to that in force in this country, without reference to the Secretary of State. It was observed, however, that Foreign Consuls in England have no claim of precedence, and are treated like any other Foreigners resident in England. This principle, I may now observe, equally extends to the Colonies, and it is not desirable that any instructions should be given tending to recognize the principle of according precedence to the Foreign Consular Body. In 1863 a claim was advanced by the Consular Body at Sydney to be admitted to the entrée at the Governor's levée on the occasion of the Sovereign's Birthday, and it was then stated that the rule of Her Majesty's Court was, that as Consuls-General and Consuls had no diplomatic character, and were not visitors of the Court, they fell into the class of Foreigners resident in England and went to the general entrée and were presented in the general circle.

3. As regards privileges or exemptions, it was held, on a claim advanced by the Spanish Consul at Brisbane in 1856, that there were no privileges to which Foreign Consuls were strictly or legally entitled, as a right, in Great Britain or in any of her Colonies; that the English law considered them amenable to civil and criminal jurisdiction, did not give them, or allow them, any legal privileges whatever, and could hardly be said to recognize them in their official character; and that such privileges or exemptions as they might enjoy were conceded to them (if at all) either by the Executive or Local Authorities at their discretion or by usage and courtesy.

4. This decision should be carefully borne in mind as it would prove in the highest degree inconvenient if in British Colonies, Consuls of Foreign Powers should be permitted to acquire a claim to the privileges or immunities of diplomatic agents, or to assume in any other respect a footing different from that which they hold in the United Kingdom. Recent experiences have shown that this possible danger is a real one, and should be strictly guarded against.

5. In the correspondence which has given rise to the present despatch, His Majesty's Government has been asked for instructions on several points, and I deal with these in the order in which they have been raised:

(a) As to ceremonials and formal courtesies. From the earlier part of this despatch it will be clear that the Consuls are not entitled to be specially received at public functions, and that they should not be given any precedence over local officials. In regard to this point, I may observe that, even if it were not objectionable on other grounds it would be impossible to lay down general rules as to precedence over officials, having regard to the varying importance in different Colonies of what is nominally the same office, and if special rules were laid down in each case they would give rise to endless claims from Consuls founded on the practice elsewhere which was most favourable to their contentions. The preceding considerations need not, however, prevent the Governor from specially receiving the Consuls, as a body, on certain occasions such as on the King's Birthday or on his own first arrival in the Colony, as an act of courtesy and not as a right, if this practice, which has been followed at the Cape since 1898, should be pressed upon him.

As regards visits, it has already been observed that Consuls-General and Consuls are not visitors of the Court, and it follows that they do not "visit" the Governor, who is the King's representative in the Colony. If they wait on the Governor, on any other occasion than for the transaction of consular business, they do so on the same footing as any prominent inhabitant of the Colony, and their visit does not require to be formally returned on the Governor's behalf.

(b) With regard to the transaction of public business, Consuls should, under no circumstances, be permitted to approach the Local Governments except on matters connected with the personal welfare of their countrymen as individuals, and if they should make any representations on general political questions they should in all cases be required to communicate them to their respective Governments, to be dealt with through the proper diplomatic channels. The only legitimate functions of a Foreign Consul in relation to a Colonial Administration are those connected with the welfare of his nationals as individuals, and, therefore, any questions with regard to trade and commerce which might affect the general commercial policy of the Colony would fall into the category of those which must be discussed through the respective Foreign Offices.

(c) From what has already been said, it follows that no difference should be made in treatment, as between "consuls de carrière," and other consular officers.

(d) As regards the practice of appointing a Consul-General with local Consuls subordinate to him, all consular officers require recognition by the respective local Governments before they can enter on their functions, although such recognition is only withheld in the case of some valid objection to the appointment. His Majesty's Government would not interfere with the arrangements made by Foreign Governments for the performance of consular duties, and if, for example, a Foreign Government appointed a Consul-General for South Africa, it would be open to that official in virtue of his exequatur to communicate (in the exercise of his duties as above defined) with all Governors in South Africa, and if the same Government appointed, in addition, a Consul in a South African Colony where the Consul-General was not resident, His Majesty's Government would not require that consular communications with the Governor of that Colony should be made by the local Consul and not by the Consul General, though they might reasonably require that communications connected with any one Colony should be with the occupant of one consular post only who would be designated by the Foreign Government concerned.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,

Tuesday, the 29th day of May, 1906.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Memorandum dated 9th May, 1906, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that an application was made to Mr. H. A. Conroy, inspector of Indian Treaty No. 8, at Edmonton, in October, 1905, by Mr. Thomas Bird, who resides in the Edmonton District, to share in the half-breed grant of scrip as sole heir of his deceased children, Anne Betsy and Marie Henriette Bird, and that subsequently certain affidavits, made by Mr. Bird, as to the date of birth and death of the children above mentioned, were filed in the Department of the Interior. These affidavits and the evidence taken by Mr. Conroy, considered in conjunction with the evidence which was submitted by Mr. Bird in 1885, at Calgary, before the Half-Breed Commissioners, in support of his own claim, which was then allowed, show to the satisfaction of the Minister of the Interior that Anne Betsy Bird and Marie Henriette Bird were born and died in what is now the Province of Alberta between the 15th July, 1870, and the end of the year 1885.

The Minister is satisfied that had the evidence in support of these claims been submitted to the Commissioners who investigated this class of claims Mr. Thomas Bird's claim as sole heir of the above named deceased children would have been allowed.

The Minister therefore, recommends that under paragraph F of clause 90 of The Dominion Lands Act he be authorized to issue scrip, in each case, for 240 acres of land of the class open to homestead entry in favour of Mr. Thomas Bird, father and sole heir-at-law of his deceased children, Anne Betsy Bird and Marie Henriette Bird.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

LIEN FOR WORK OR WOOD.

3. Any person who performs any work or service upon or in respect to, or furnishes any wood to be used in the working of any placer or quartz mining claim, shall by virtue thereof have a lien for the price of such work or services or wood upon the said mining claim with the appurtenances, thereto, the minerals or ore produced therefrom, the lands occupied thereby, or enjoyed therewith, or upon or in respect to which such work or service is performed or for, or upon which such wood is furnished as well as upon the machinery and chattels upon such lands, limited, however, in amount to the sum justly due to the person entitled to the lien.

4. Such lien upon registration as in this Ordinance provided shall attach and take effect upon the date of the registration as against subsequent purchasers, mortgagees or other encumbrancers whose mortgages or encumbrances are registered subsequent to to performance of such work or the furnishing of such wood.

5. The lien shall attach upon the estate or interest of the owner and all persons having any interest in the mine and the minerals or ores produced therefrom, and upon the appurtenances thereto, the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith and the machinery and chattels upon such lands.

6. Any lien registered under the provisions of this Ordinance shall, as to an undivided one-half interest in said mining claim, the appurtenances thereto, the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith and the machinery and chattels upon such lands and as to one-half of the output from said mining claim, take priority over all mortgages and encumbrances against the same; Provided that a lien registered under this Ordinance shall not have priority over mortgages or encumbrances registered prior to the passing thereof.

REGISTRATION OF LIEN.

7. A claim of lien may be deposited in the office of the Mining Recorder for the district in which the mine is situated and the office of the Gold Commissioner, and shall state :—

(a) The name and residence of the claimant and of the owner of the property to be charged, and of the person for whom and upon whose credit the work was done or wood furnished, and the time or period within which the same was or was to be done or furnished ;

(b) The work done or wood furnished ;

(c) The sum claimed as due or to become due ;

(d) The description of the property to be charged ; and,

(e) The date of the expiring of the period of credit agreed to by the claimant for payment for his work or wood.

2. Such claims shall be verified by the affidavit of the claimant or his agent having a personal knowledge of the facts sworn to.

8. A claim may include the claims of any number of claimants aforesaid who may choose to unite therein ; each claimant shall verify his claim by his affidavit but need not repeat the facts set out in the claim.

(9) The claim may be registered at any time within thirty days after the last day's labour for which the wages are payable, or on which wood was furnished, or within thirty days after the time fixed for payment, or if the labour is performed or wood furnished between the first day of November in any year and the thirtieth day of April in the following year, at any time within thirty days after the said thirtieth day of April.

10. The Mining Recorder, or his agent, in whose office the claim is deposited, shall forthwith forward to the Gold Commissioner a copy of such claim certified by him to be a true copy, and the Gold Commissioner shall enter a memorandum thereof against the mining claim described therein.

11. Every lien in respect of which a claim has not been duly deposited under the provisions of this Ordinance shall absolutely cease to exist on the expiration of the time hereinbefore limited for the registration thereof.

PROCEEDINGS TO REALIZE LIEN.

12. Every lien in respect of which a claim has been duly deposited under the provisions of this Ordinance shall absolutely cease to exist upon the expiration of sixty days from the registration of such lien unless in the meantime proceedings are instituted to realize the claim under the provisions of this Ordinance and a certificate thereof (which may be granted by the Court in which, or judge before whom, the proceedings are instituted) is duly filed in the office of the Gold Commissioner.

13. Liens may be enforced by originating summons in which shall be set forth the grounds upon which such lien is claimed. Such summons shall be granted upon affidavit of the facts set forth therein, and the court or judge may, either ex parte or after notice, appoint a receiver for such time and upon such terms as are just and proper, upon proof to his satisfaction that the lien holder is in danger of losing his claim unless such receiver is appointed.

14. Upon such summons being granted the court or judge may, after notice given to the various parties interested, including the workmen on the mining claim, which notice shall be given in such manner as the court or judge directs summarily determine and fix the liability of the owner or layman for wages due to the claimant and other workmen who have filed claims and also his liability to any other person in respect of wood furnished.

15. Any number of lien holders may join in one summons and any action brought by a lien holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all the lien holders who shall have registered their liens before or within thirty days after the commencement of the action, or who shall within the said thirty days file in the proper office of the court from which the summons issued a statement of their respective claims intituled in or referring to the said action.

2. In the event of the death of the plaintiff or his refusal or neglect to proceed, any other lien holder who has registered his claim or filed his statement in the manner and within the time above limited for that purpose, may be allowed to prosecute and continue the action on such terms as are considered just and reasonable by the court or judge ;

3. If the minerals or ore produced from said mining claim are not sufficient to satisfy the liens registered against it, the court or a judge may direct a sale of the estate and interest charged with the lien, to take place at any time after one month from the recovery of judgment, and it shall not be necessary to delay the sale for a longer period thereafter than is requisite to give reasonable notice thereof ;

4. The Court or judge may also direct the sale of any wood, machinery and chattels charged with the lien.

5. When judgment is given in favour of the lien holder the court or judge may add to the judgment the costs of and incidental to registering the lien as well as the costs of the action ;

6. Upon application the court or judge may receive security or payment into court in lieu of the amount of the claim, and may thereupon vacate the registration of the lien ;

7. The court or judge may annul the said registration upon any other ground ;

8. In any case the court or judge may proceed to hear and determine the matter of the lien and make such order as is just, and in case the person claiming the lien has wrongfully refused to give a discharge thereof, or has no just cause for his claim or claims a larger sum than is found by the court or judge to be due, the court or judge may order and adjudge him to pay the costs of the other party.

DEVOLUTION AND ASSIGNMENT.

16. In the event of the death of a lien holder his right of lien shall pass to his personal representatives.

17. The right of a lien holder may be assigned by instrument in writing.

DISCHARGE OF LIEN.

18. A lien may be discharged by a receipt signed by the claimant or his agent and verified by affidavit and filed in the offices mentioned in Section 7 of this Ordinance ; such receipt shall be numbered and entered like other instruments.

FEES.

19. The fee for registering any instrument under this Ordinance shall be $2.00.

ENCUMBERED MINES.

20. Every owner or layman, or if any owner or layman is an incorporated company, or is absent from the territory, the manager or agent of such owner or layman, who hires, or contracts with, any person to perform any work or service upon or in respect to or to furnish any wood to be used in the working of any mining claim, against which any mortgage or encumbrance was registered prior to the passing of this Ordinance, shall, immediately upon such hiring or contract, give notice in writing to every person holding any such mortgage or encumbrance of the fact of such hiring or contract. Such notice may be in form A in the schedule to this Ordinance.

21. Any person failing to give such notice who fails to pay any such person hired by him, or by whom wood has been furnished as in the next preceding section mentioned the full amount due such person, shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars and, in default of payment of such penalty and the amount so due, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months unless he sooner pay such penalty and amount.

22. After a lien has been registered by any person so hired, or who has furnished wood, as aforesaid for money due him in respect of such hiring, or for such wood, against any placer mining claim, it shall not be lawful for the owner or layman to remove any gold from such mining claim if a lien holder who has registered his lien gives to such owner or layman a written notice in form B in the schedule to this Ordinance. After such notice is given any person interested in such mining claim either on account of wages or for wood, or as owner, layman, mortgagee or encumbrancer, may notify the mining inspector residing nearest to such mining claim that a lien has been registered against such mining claim and that a lien holder has forbidden the removal of any gold therefrom, and upon receipt of such notice the mining inspector shall forthwith by himself or his agent take possession of every dump and sluice box upon and all gold dust produced from, such mining claim, and make provision for obtaining the gold therefrom at the expense of the owner or layman, and in the event of there being a prior mortgage or encumbrance against said mining claim shall pay or apportion pro rata not exceeding one half of such gold and gold dust to and among all persons to whom amounts are due for wages or for wood furnished in connection with said mining claim and the balance to the owner of the mine or the mortgage or encumbrance. If there is no prior encumbrance on said mining claim the full amount of such gold and gold dust and so much thereof as may be required for the purpose shall be applied and so apportioned in payment of the amounts due to such persons for wages or for wood and any balance shall be paid to the owner of the mine.

(2.) If there is any dispute as to the amount due for wages or wood, the said mining inspector shall deposit with the Clerk of the Territorial Court the gold dust produced from the mining claim to abide the decision of a judge upon any action to enforce the lien.

23. At every clean-up on any placer mining claim the men hired, or who have furnished wood, shall be entitled to have a representative present, as well as at the weighing of the gold dust obtained thereby, and it shall be the duty of the owner or layman to give to such representative, if required, a statement in writing of the quantity of gold obtained from time to time from such mining claim.

24. Any owner or layman who violates any of the provisions of the next two preceding sections and fail to pay to any such person so hired, or who has furnished wood, the amount due to such person in respect of such hiring or for such wood, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars and in default of payment of such penalty and the amounts due by him for wages or for wood to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, unless he sooner pay such penalty and the amount due and unpaid in respect to such wages or for wood.

25. This ordinance shall come into force on the first day of July, 1906.

The tower consists of an open steel framework, square in plan, with sloping sides, painted brown, surmounted by an enclosed wooden watchroom and a square wooden lantern. The upper portion of the framework facing the channel is covered with wooden slatwork to render it more conspicuous as a day beacon. The lantern roof is painted red, the remainder of the lantern, the watchroom and the slats are painted white. The tower is 92 feet high from its base to the top of the ventilator on the lantern.

The light is a fixed white light, elevated 104 feet above the summer level of the river, and should be visible 4 miles in the line of range. The illuminating apparatus is catoptric.

Oak point back lighthouse.....	48	35

The vessel is moored in $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms water, 500 feet west of the bar. She is a wooden schooner, painted red.

The lights are fixed red, shown from seventh order dioptric lanterns, suspended above the tops of the two masts. The illuminating apparatus and arrangement of the lanterns have been changed since last year, so as to give stronger lights with less obstruction by masts, rigging, &c. The two lights, which are elevated 43 feet above the water, should be visible 8 miles all round.

In foggy weather a hand fog horn, on deck, answers all signals from vessels. The lightship will be maintained on her station as long as ice will permit, every season.

SUBSTANCE OF RULES OF THE SENATE RELATING TO NOTICES AND APPLICATIONS FOR BILLS OF DIVORCE.

As Revised and brought in force 22nd March, 1906.

Every applicant for a Bill of Divorce shall give notice of his or her intended application, and shall specify therein from whom and for what cause such divorce is sought, and shall cause such notice to be published during at least three months before the consideration by the Committee on Divorce of his or her petition for the said Bill, in the Canada Gazette and in two newspapers published in the district in Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia or the Northwest Territories, or in the county or union of counties in other provinces, wherein such applicant usually resided at the time of the separation of the parties; but if the requisite number of papers cannot be found therein, then in an adjoining district or county or union of counties.

Notices given in the Provinces of Quebec and Manitoba are to be published in one English and one French newspaper, if there be such newspapers published in the district, but otherwise shall be published in one newspaper in both languages. If a notice given for any session of Parliament is not completed in time to allow the petition to be dealt with during that session, the petition may be presented and dealt with during the next ensuing session, without any further publication of such notice.

A copy of the said notice and a copy of the petition to be presented shall, at the instance of the applicant, and not less than two months before the consideration by the Committee of the petition, be served personally, when that can be done, on the person from whom the divorce is sought, who is hereinafter called "the respondent."

If the residence of the respondent is not known or personal service cannot be effected, then, if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Committee that all reasonable efforts have been made to effect personal service, and, if unsuccessful, to bring such notice and petition to the knowledge of the respondent, what has been done may be deemed and taken by the Committee as sufficient service.

No petition for a bill of divorce shall be presented to the Senate after the first sixty days of the Session.

The petition of an applicant for bill for divorce must be fairly written and must be signed by the petitioner, and should briefly set forth the marriage, the names in full of the parties thereto, their ages and occupations, when, where and by whom the ceremony was performed, the domicile and residence of each of the parties at the time of the marriage, their matrimonial domicile, residence, and any change thereof, the material facts upon which the petitioner relies as the grounds on which relief is asked, and the nature of the relief prayed for.

The petition should also negative connivance at, or condonation of the wrong complained of and collusion in the application for divorce.

The allegations of the petition must be verified by declaration of the petitioner, under The Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

The copy of the petition served upon the respondent shall have endorsed thereon, or appended thereto, the following information:—

- (1) The petitioner's residence at the time of service.
- (2) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the petitioner may be delivered.
- (3) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the petitioner.
- (4) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa, upon whom all notices and papers may be served.
- (5) That if the respondent desires to oppose the granting of the divorce and to be heard by the Senate Committee on Divorce, the respondent must send a notice to that effect to the Clerk of the Senate at the Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, within two months from the date of service upon the respondent, and must in the notice to the Clerk of the Senate give:—

- (a) The respondent's residence at the time of sending such notice.
- (b) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the respondent may be delivered.
- (c) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the respondent.
- (d) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa upon whom all notices and papers may be served.

(6) That, if the respondent does not so notify the Clerk of the Senate, the petition may be considered, and a bill of divorce founded thereon may be passed, without any further notice to the respondent.

(7) When the petition is one by a husband for a divorce from his wife, that, if the wife shows to the satisfaction of the Senate Committee on Divorce that she has, and is prepared to establish upon oath, a good defence to the charges made by the petition, and that she has not sufficient money to defend herself, the Committee may make an order that her husband shall provide her with the necessary means to sustain her defence, including the cost of retaining Counsel and the travelling and living expenses of herself and of witnesses summoned to Ottawa on her behalf.

No petition for a bill of Divorce shall be considered by the Committee unless the applicant has paid into the hands of the Clerk of the Senate the sum of two hundred and ten dollars, ($210.)

The petition when presented to the Senate shall be accompanied by the evidence of the publication of the notice, and by declaration in evidence of the service of a copy of the notice and of a copy of the petition.

A copy of every petition for a Bill of Divorce, or relating to any matter arising out of an application for divorce, and of every document and paper accompanying such petition or produced in evidence before the Committee, shall be furnished to the Committee by the person on whose behalf the petition, document or paper is presented or produced.

DEPÊCHES, Etc.

Circulaire.

DOWNING STREET,
1er juin 1906.

MONSIEUR,—Tout récemment on a attiré mon attention à certaines questions qui ont été soulevées à l'égard de la position et du traitement des consuls étrangers dans les colonies, et, après en avoir communiqué avec le Secrétaire d'Etat pour les Affaires étrangères, j'ai cru bon de poser certains principes pour la conduite des gouverneurs. Bien entendu qu'on ne s'attend pas qu'ils soient appliqués aux colonies où une pratique différente a été établie, mais je désire que les gouverneurs coloniaux s'en servent comme guide dans les occasions dans lesquelles ils peuvent être appliqués sans friction inutile.

2. Des instructions générales aux gouverneurs coloniaux concernant la position et le traitement des consuls n'ont pas été émises depuis près de quarante ans, alors qu'il a été énoncé que si dans une colonie quelconque la coutume a été de donner comme matière de courtoisie préséance au corps consulaire étranger, on ne fera pas de changement en vue d'assimiler la pratique à celle en force dans ce pays-ci sans en référer au Secrétaire d'Etat. On a observé, toutefois, que les consuls étrangers en Angleterre n'ont pas de titre à la préséance, et sont traités comme les autres résidents étrangers en Angleterre. Je ferai observer, maintenant, que ce principe s'étend également aux colonies, et il n'est pas à désirer que des instructions soient données tendant à reconnaître le principe d'accorder préséance au corps consulaire étranger. En 1863, le corps consulaire à Sydney réclama le privilège d'entrée au lever du gouverneur à l'occasion de l'anniversaire de la naissance du Souverain, et il fut alors énoncé que la règle de la cour de Sa Majesté était que les consuls généraux et les consuls comme tels n'avaient pas de caractère diplomatique et n'étaient pas des visiteurs à la cour, et tombaient dans la catégorie des résidents étrangers en Angleterre et se rendaient au lever général et étaient présentés dans le cercle général.

3. Quant aux privilèges et exemptions, il fut décidé, touchant une prétention du consul général espagnol à Brisbane en 1856, qu'il n'existait pas de privilèges auxquels les consuls étrangers avaient strictement ou légalement droit, dans la Grande-Bretagne ou dans aucune de ses colonies; que la loi anglaise les considérait soumis à la juridiction civile et criminelle, ne leur donnait pas, ni ne leur accordait aucun privilège que ce soit, et à peine les reconnaissait-elle dans leur caractère officiel, et que ces privilèges ou exemptions dont ils jouissaient leur étaient accordés soit par l'Exécutif ou les autorités locales à leur discrétion, ou par coutume et courtoisie.

4. Cette décision doit être soigneusement gardée en vue, car il serait très embarrassant si, dans les colonies britanniques, on permettait aux consuls des puissances étrangères d'acquiescer un droit aux privilèges ou immunités d'agents diplomatiques, ou de prendre sous tout autre rapport un pied différent de ce qu'ils ont dans le royaume-uni. Des expériences récentes ont fait voir que ce danger possible est cependant réel, et qu'on doit strictement s'en préserver.

5. Dans la correspondance qui a donné lieu à la présente dépêche, le gouvernement de Sa Majesté a été prié de donner des instructions touchant différents points, et je les traite dans l'ordre qu'ils ont été soulevés :

(a) Quant aux cérémonies et les courtoisies cérémonieuses. Dès le début de cette dépêche l'on voit clairement que les consuls n'ont pas droit d'être reçus spécialement aux fonctions publiques, et qu'on ne doit pas leur donner préséance sur les fonctionnaires locaux. A ce sujet, je ferai observer que même si la chose n'était pas d'ailleurs inadmissible, il serait impossible de poser des règles générales pour la préséance sur les fonctionnaires, vu la plus ou moindre grande importance que les diverses colonies attachent à une fonction qui est nominale la même, et si des règles sévères étaient posées dans chaque cas il s'ensuivrait de la part des consuls d'interminables réclamations fondées sur la pratique d'un autre pays qui serait plus favorable à leurs prétentions. Les remarques qui précèdent ne doivent pas, toutefois, empêcher le gouverneur de recevoir spécialement les consuls, comme corps, à certaines occasions telles que l'anniversaire de la naissance du Roi, ou à sa première arrivée dans la colonie, comme un acte de courtoisie et non comme un droit, si cette pratique, qui a été suivie au Cap depuis 1898, lui était imposée.

Quant aux visites, il a déjà été observé que les consuls généraux et les consuls ne sont pas des visiteurs de la cour, et il s'ensuit qu'ils ne "visitent" pas le gouverneur, qui est le représentant du Roi dans la colonie. S'ils se rendent auprès du gouverneur, en d'autre occasion que pour la transaction d'affaires consulaires, ils le font sur le même pied que tout autre habitant éminent de la colonie, et leur visite n'exige pas qu'elle soit formellement rendue de la part du gouverneur.

(b) Quant à la transaction des affaires publiques les consuls ne doivent jamais se rendre auprès des gouvernements locaux sauf pour matières concernant le bien-être personnel de leurs compatriotes comme individus, et s'ils font quelques représentations sur des questions politiques en général, ils doivent en tous les cas les communiquer à leurs gouvernements respectifs, afin qu'elles soient traitées par la voie diplomatique voulue. Les seules fonctions légitimes d'un consul étranger relativement à une administration coloniale sont celles qui concernent le bien-être de leurs nationaux comme individus, et, en conséquence, toutes questions concernant le commerce qui pourraient déranger la politique commerciale de la colonie tomberaient dans la catégorie de celles qui doivent être discutées par la voie des bureaux des Affaires étrangères.

(c) D'après ce qui a déjà été dit, il s'ensuit qu'on ne doit pas faire de différence dans le traitement des consuls de carrière et les autres officiers consulaires.

(d) Quant à la pratique de nommer un consul général avec des consuls locaux subalternes, tous les officiers consulaires doivent être reconnus par les gouvernements locaux respectifs avant de pouvoir entrer en fonctions, bien que cette reconnaissance est retenue seulement dans le cas de quelque objection valide à la nomination. Le gouvernement de Sa Majesté ne voudrait pas s'immiscer dans les arrangements faits par des gouvernements étrangers pour l'exécution des devoirs consulaires, et si, par exemple, un gouvernement étranger nommait un consul général pour l'Afrique Sud, il appartiendrait à ce fonctionnaire en vertu de son exé-quatur de communiquer (dans l'exercice de ses devoirs tels que définis plus haut) avec tous les gouverneurs dans l'Afrique-Sud, et si le même gouvernement nommait, en sus, un consul dans une colonie Sud-Africaine où le consul général ne réside pas, le gouvernement de Sa Majesté n'exigerait pas que des communications consulaires avec le gouverneur de cette colonie soient faites par la voie du consul local et non par le consul général, bien qu'il pourrait raisonnablement exiger que les communications reliées avec une colonie quelconque se fassent avec l'occupant d'un seul poste consulaire qui serait désigné par le gouvernement étranger intéressé.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, monsieur,
Votre très humble serviteur,

1-3

ELGIN.

AU PALAIS DE BUCKINGHAM,

Le 11e jour de mai 1906.

PRÉSENT :

SA TRÈS EXCELLENTE MAJESTÉ LE ROI EN
CONSEIL.

CONSIDÉRANT que par l'article 84, par. 1, de l'Acte de la marine marchande 1894, il est statué que lorsqu'il appert à Sa Majesté le Roi en conseil que les règlements de tonnage du dit acte ont été adoptés par un pays étranger, et y sont en force, Sa Majesté en conseil pourra ordonner que les navires du dit pays, seront, sans être remesurés dans les possessions de Sa Majesté, censés être du tonnage indiqué dans leurs certificats d'enregistrement ou autres papiers nationaux, de la même manière, au même degré et pour les mêmes fins que le tonnage indiqué dans le certificat d'enregistrement d'un navire britannique est censé être le tonnage de ce navire ;

Et considérant qu'il a été démontré à Sa Majesté en conseil que les règlements de tonnage du dit acte ont été adoptés par le gouvernement de Sa Majesté le roi d'Italie, et que ces règlements sont actuellement en vigueur dans le dit pays, étant devenus exécutoires le 10e jour de février 1906,

Il plaît à Sa Majesté, et par et avec l'avis de Son Conseil privé, d'ordonner que les navires marchands du royaume d'Italie, dont le mesurage le 10e jour de février 1906, a été déterminé et inscrit dans les registres ou autres documents nationaux du bord, seront censés être du tonnage inscrit dans ces registres ou autres documents nationaux, de la même nature, au même degré, et pour toutes les fins pour lesquelles le tonnage inscrit sur le certificat d'enregistrement d'un navire britannique est censé être le tonnage de ce navire.

Et il plaît en outre à Sa Majesté d'ordonner que les arrêtés de feu Sa Majesté en conseil datés respectivement le 30e jour de septembre 1873, le 14e jour de février 1883, et le 23e jour de novembre 1893, soient et ils sont par le présent révoqués.

PRÉSENTS :

LE LORD CHANCELIER	LE LORD DU SCEAU PRIVÉ
LE PREMIER MINISTRE	LE COMTE CARRINGTON
LE LORD PRÉSIDENT	M. SINCLAIR.

ATTENDU qu'il a plu à Sa Majesté, par sa commission datée le deuxième jour de mars 1906, de nommer et choisir le Lord Grand Chancelier de la Grande-Bretagne, le Premier Ministre et le Lord Président du Conseil, durant son absence du royaume, en pays étrangers, à l'effet de tenir au nom de Sa Majesté, son Conseil privé, et d'y signifier l'approbation de Sa Majesté de toutes matières ou choses à l'égard desquelles ils seraient ainsi autorisés par écrit sous le seing de Sa Majesté, et d'agir en toutes choses auxquelles les autorise la dite commission en la manière susdite ;

Et attendu que l'article 418 de l'Acte de la marine marchande de 1894, Sa Majesté est autorisée de temps à autre, sur la recommandation conjointe de l'Amirauté et de la Chambre de Commerce par arrêté en conseil d'établir des règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté d'ordonner que les règlements contenus dans la première annexe du dit arrêté (étant des règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer) soient substitués aux règlements à cet effet alors en force ;

Et attendu que l'article 10 des dits règlements pourvoit aux feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche ;

Et attendu que par des arrêtés en conseil datés respectivement le 30e jour de décembre 1884, et le 24e jour de juin 1885, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté, de décréter entre autres choses, que les dits règlements contenus dans l'article 10 comme susdit, seraient modifiés quant aux bateaux de pêche britanniques, tel que mentionné dans les dits arrêtés respectivement ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 27e jour de novembre 1896, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté de décréter que dès et à compter du 1er jour de juillet 1897, les dits règlements annexés au dit arrêté du 11 août 1884, sauf le dit article numéro 10 des dits règlements, soient annulés, et que les règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer contenus dans la première annexe du dit arrêté du 27e jour de novembre 1896 lui soient substitués (à l'exception susdite), et deviendront en vigueur à l'égard des bateaux de pêche britanniques ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 23e jour d'octobre 1905, il a plu à Sa Majesté de décréter que les dits règlements contenus dans le dit article 10 des dits règlements du 11e jour d'août 1884, soient modifiés tel que mentionné dans le dit arrêté ;

Et attendu que l'Amirauté et la Chambre de Commerce ont conjointement recommandé à Sa Majesté qu'en ce qui concerne les navires et bateaux britanniques les dispositions ci-après énoncées concernant les feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche soient substitués aux dispositions du dit article 10 dans l'annexe du dit arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, tel que modifié comme susdit ;

Et attendu que les dispositions de l'article un de l'Acte des règles de publication, 1894, ont été remplies,—

Sachez donc que le Lord Chancelier, le Premier Ministre, et le Lord Président, étant autorisés à cet effet par écrit sous le seing de Sa Majesté, en vertu des pouvoirs conférés à Sa Majesté par le dit acte précité, et par et avec l'avis de Son Conseil privé, décrètent par le présent, au nom de Sa Majesté, que dès et à compter du 1er jour de mai 1906, les dispositions du dit article 10 de l'annexe du dit arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, ainsi que les règlements annexés aux dits arrêtés en conseil du 30e jour de décembre 1884, du 24e jour de juin 1885, et du 23e jour d'octobre 1905, en tant qu'ils concernent les dispositions du dit article 10, seront annulés, et les dispositions relatives aux feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche contenues dans l'annexe du présent leur seront substitués et deviendront en vigueur en ce qui concerne des navires et bateaux britanniques qui y sont mentionnés.

ANNEXE.

ART. 9.—Les vaisseaux de pêche et bateaux de pêche, lorsqu'ils sont en marche, et qu'ils ne sont pas obligés par le présent article de porter ou montrer les feux ci-après spécifiés, porteront ou montreront les feux prescrits pour les vaisseaux de leur tonnage en marche.

(a) Les bateaux non pontés, par lesquels on entend les bateaux qui ne sont pas protégés contre l'entrée de l'eau au moyen d'un pont continu, lorsque la nuit ils sont occupés à pêcher avec des engins tendus à moins de 150 pieds horizontalement en mer, porteront un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon.

Les bateaux non pontés, lorsque la nuit ils pêchent avec des engins tendus à plus de 150 pieds horizontalement en mer, porteront un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon, et de plus, en approchant d'autres vaisseaux, ou que d'autres vaisseaux s'en approchent, montreront un deuxième feu blanc placé au moins 3 pieds plus bas que le premier feu, et à une distance horizontale d'au moins 5 pieds dans la direction dans laquelle est attaché l'engin de pêche tendu.

- (b) Les vaisseaux et bateaux, sauf les bateaux non pontés définis à la subdivision (a), pêchant aux filets traînants, porteront, tant que les filets sont complètement ou partiellement dans l'eau, deux feux blancs, là où ils peuvent être le mieux vus. Ces feux doivent être placés de manière que la distance verticale entre eux ne soit pas de moins de six pieds ni de plus de 15 pieds, et de manière que la distance horizontale qui les sépare, mesurée en ligne avec la quille du navire, ne soit pas de moins de 5 pieds ni de plus de 10 pieds. Le plus bas de ces deux feux sera dans la direction des filets, et tous les deux doivent avoir une portée telle et placés dans des fanaux d'une construction telle qu'ils soient visibles de tous les points de l'horizon à une distance d'au moins 3 milles.

Dans la Méditerranée et les mers bordant les côtes du Japon et de la Corée, les vaisseaux de pêche à voiles d'au moins 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut, ne seront pas obligés de porter le plus bas de ces deux feux; toutefois, s'ils ne le portent pas ils montreront dans la même position (dans la direction du filet ou de l'engin) un feu blanc, visible à une distance d'au moins un mille marin, à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux.

- (c) Les vaisseaux et bateaux, sauf les bateaux non pontés tels que définis à la subdivision (a), pêchant à la ligne avec leurs lignes tendues et attachés à leurs lignes ou les retirant, et lorsqu'ils ne sont pas ancrés ou stationnaires dans le sens de la subdivision (h), porteront les mêmes feux que les vaisseaux pêchant aux filets traînants. Lorsqu'ils jettent leurs lignes ou pêchent avec des lignes traînantes, ils porteront les feux prescrits pour les vaisseaux à vapeur ou à voiles en marche respectivement.

- (d) Les vaisseaux pêchant aux filets traînants, c'est-à-dire traînant un appareil au fond de la mer—
1. S'ils sont à vapeur, porteront dans la même position que le feu blanc mentionné à l'article 2 (a) un fanal tricolore, construit et fixé de manière à montrer un feu blanc depuis l'avant jusqu'à deux quarts de chaque côté, et un feu vert et un feu rouge sur un arc horizontal de deux quarts de chaque côté jusqu'à deux quarts sur l'arrière du travers à tribord et bâbord respectivement; et pas moins de 6 ni plus de 12 pieds au-dessous du fanal tricolore un feu blanc dans un fanal construit de manière à projeter une lumière uniforme et non interrompue visible de tous les points de l'horizon.
 2. S'ils sont à voiles, ils porteront un feu blanc dans un fanal, construit de manière à projeter une lumière uniforme et non interrompue tout autour de l'horizon, et à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, ou en les approchant, ils montreront aussi, là où il sera le mieux aperçu, un feu blanc à éclats ou une torche en temps suffisant pour éviter l'abordage.

Tous les feux mentionnés à la subdivision (d) 1 et 2 seront visibles à une distance d'au moins 2 milles.

- (e) Les dragues aux huîtres et autres vaisseaux pêchant à la drague porteront et montreront les mêmes feux que les bateaux pêchant aux filets traînants.
- (f) Les vaisseaux et bateaux de pêche pourront en tout temps employer un feu à éclats en sus des feux que le présent article les oblige de porter et montrer, et ils pourront aussi se servir de feux portatifs.
- (g) Chaque vaisseau de pêche et chaque bateau de pêche de moins de 150 pieds de longueur, à l'ancre, pourra montrer un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon à une distance d'un mille au moins.

Chaque vaisseau de pêche de 150 pieds de longueur ou plus, à l'ancre, montrera un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon, à une distance d'au moins un mille, et montrera un deuxième feu tel que prescrit pour les vaisseaux de cette longueur par l'article 11.

Si un tel vaisseau, qu'il ait moins de 150 pieds de longueur, ou ait 150 pieds de longueur ou plus, est attaché à un filet ou autre engin de pêche, il montrera, à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, un autre feu blanc placé 3 pieds au moins plus bas que le feu de mouillage, et à une distance horizontale d'au moins 5 pieds dans la direction du filet ou engin.

- (h) Si un vaisseau qui fait la pêche devient stationnaire par suite de ce que son engin de pêche s'est accroché à une roche ou à quelque autre obstacle, le jour il descendra l'amarque prescrit par la subdivision (k), la nuit il montrera le feu ou les feux prescrits pour un vaisseau à l'ancre; et dans les temps de brume, de brouillard, de neige ou de grosses pluies il fera le signal prescrit pour un vaisseau à l'ancre. (Voir subdivision (d) et le dernier paragraphe de l'article 15.)
- (i) Dans les temps de brume, de brouillard, de neige ou de grosses pluies, les vaisseaux à filets traînants attachés à des filets, et les vaisseaux pêchant à la traînée, à la drague, ou avec toute espèce d'autres filets traînants, ou à la ligne avec leurs lignes tendues, devront, s'ils sont de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut ou plus, respectivement, à des intervalles d'une minute au plus, sonner le sifflet ou la sirène, s'ils sont à vapeur, ou faire résonner le cornet s'ils sont à voiles; chaque son sera suivi d'un coup de cloche. Les vaisseaux de pêche et les bateaux de moins de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut ne seront pas obligés de donner les signaux ci-dessus, mais ils feront d'autres signaux à des intervalles d'au moins une minute.

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

RÈGLES RELATIVES AUX AVIS DE BILLS PRIVÉS.

Toutes demandes, quelles qu'elles soient, adressées au Parlement pour bills privés, devront être précédées d'un avis dans la Gazette du Canada ; le dit avis devra énoncer clairement et distinctement la nature et l'objet de la demande, et devra être signé par ou au nom des postulants avec les adresses des signataires ; et lorsque la demande aura pour objet un acte constitutif, le nom de la compagnie projetée devra être donné dans l'avis. Et si les travaux de quelque compagnie (constituée ou à être constituée légalement) doivent être déclarés comme étant d'utilité générale, cette intention sera spécifiquement mentionnée dans l'avis ; et les postulants feront adresser une copie du dit avis, par lettre chargée, au greffier de chaque municipalité qui pourra être affectée spécialement par la construction ou l'exploitation des dits travaux, et aussi au secrétaire de la province dans laquelle les dits travaux sont ou pourront être situés ; et une déclaration statutaire devra constater que cette formalité a été remplie par les postulants.

Outre l'avis à publier dans la Gazette du Canada susdite, un avis semblable devra aussi être publié dans quelque journal important, comme suit :—

4. Une compagnie de banque ; une compagnie d'assurance ; une compagnie de fidéicommissaires ; une compagnie de prêt ; ou une compagnie industrielle, sans pouvoirs exclusifs quelconques :— Dans la Gazette du Canada seulement.

B. Lorsque la demande sera aux fins d'amender un acte existant,—

Toute personne désirant obtenir un bill privé devra, dans les huit jours au moins qui précéderont l'ouverture du parlement, déposer au bureau du greffier de la Chambre dans laquelle le bill doit prendre naissance, une copie de ce bill en langue anglaise ou en langue française, avec une somme suffisante pour en payer la traduction et l'impression. Après la seconde lecture et avant la prise en considération du bill par tout comité, le pétitionnaire aura aussi à payer au greffier du Sénat, ou au comptable de la Chambre des Communes (selon le cas) un honoraire de $200, plus une somme suffisante pour défrayer le coût de l'impression de l'acte dans les Statuts. L'honoraire de $200 ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où le bill a pris naissance ; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Aucune pétition pour l'obtention d'un bill privé ne sera reçue par le Sénat ou par la Chambre des Communes, après les premières trois semaines de la session.

Aucun bill privé ne pourra être présenté au Sénat ou à la Chambre des Communes après les premières quatre semaines de la session.

Nulle pétition demandant la constitution légale d'une compagnie de chemin de fer ou d'une compagnie de canal, ou le prolongement de la ligne de quelque chemin de fer ou canal existant ou autorisé ne sera prise en considération par les comités des Ordres Permanents, à moins qu'il n'ait été soumis au comité une carte ou plan indiquant le territoire sur lequel devront être construits les travaux projetés, et chaque comté ou district dans lesquels devront être construits le chemin de fer ou canal projeté, ou quelque embranchement ou prolongement d'iceux.

Tous les bills privés demandant des actes constitutifs devront être rédigés de manière à y incorporer, en les spécifiant, les clauses des Actes généraux concernant les détails qui font l'objet de ces bills; les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés conformément à cette Règle, devront être remodelés par les auteurs et réimprimés à leurs frais, avant qu'aucun comité en examine les clauses.

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

Telles que revues et mises en vigueur le 22 mars 1906.

Tout pétitionnaire en divorce doit annoncer son intention de demander un bill de divorce, par un avis spécifiant contre qui et pour quelle cause le divorce sera demandé; il fait insérer cet avis, pendant trois mois au moins avant la prise en considération par le comité des divorces de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux—du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de sa séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Saskatchewan, l'Alberta, la Colombie-Britannique ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province; et à défaut de ce nombre de journaux, l'avis doit se publier dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins.

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba, les insertions doivent se faire dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district; autrement, elles se font en anglais et en français au même journal. Si l'avis donné pour une session expire trop tard pour qu'il puisse être statué sur la pétition pendant cette session, la pétition pourra être présentée et accueillie à la session suivante, sans nouvelle publication d'avis.

Une copie de cet avis et une copie de la pétition qui sera présentée doit, à la diligence du pétitionnaire et au moins deux mois avant la prise en considération de la pétition par le comité, être signifiée en main propre si cela est possible, à la personne contre laquelle le divorce sera demandé, ci-après appelée "partie défenderesse".

Si la résidence de la partie défenderesse n'est pas connue, ou que la remise de l'avis ne peut être faite en ses mains, s'il est prouvé, d'une manière jugée satisfaisante par le comité, que tous les efforts raisonnables ont été faits pour opérer la signification en main propre, et, en cas d'inutilité de ces efforts, pour porter l'avis et la pétition à la connaissance de la partie défenderesse, ces diligences peuvent être tenues pour une suffisante notification.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est recevable après l'expiration des soixante premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce doit être écrite lisiblement et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énonce sommairement le fait du mariage, en indiquant les noms au long, l'âge et l'état des parties, en quel temps, en quel lieu et par qui a été faite la célébration; le domicile et la résidence de chacune des parties à l'époque du mariage, leur domicile conjugal, leur résidence et tout changement qui en aurait eu lieu; les faits essentiels sur lesquels est fondée la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé.

Les allégations de la pétition doivent être appuyées d'une déclaration du pétitionnaire, faite conformément à l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893.

La copie de la pétition signifiée à la partie défenderesse portera en endos ou en annexe les renseignements suivants:

(1) La résidence du pétitionnaire à l'époque de la signification.

(2) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour le pétitionnaire puissent être délivrés.

(3) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour le pétitionnaire.

(4) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(5) Si la partie défenderesse veut s'opposer à la demande en divorce et être entendue par le comité des divorces du Sénat, elle doit adresser un avis à cet effet au greffier du Sénat aux édifices du Parlement, Ottawa, dans les deux mois de la signification faite à la partie défenderesse et donner dans cet avis au greffier du Sénat:

(a) La résidence de la partie défenderesse à l'époque de l'envoi de l'avis.

(b) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour la partie défenderesse puissent être délivrés.

(c) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour la partie défenderesse.

(d) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(6) Si la partie défenderesse ne notifie pas ainsi le greffier du Sénat, la pétition peut être prise en considération, et un bill de divorce basé sur cette pétition peut suivre son cours sans autre avis à la partie défenderesse.

(7) Lorsque la pétition est présentée par un mari pour obtenir le divorce contre sa femme, si celle-ci fait voir au comité d'une manière satisfaisante qu'elle peut opposer et qu'elle est prête à produire sous serment de bons moyens de défense contre les accusations portées dans la pétition, et qu'elle n'a pas l'argent nécessaire pour faire valoir ces moyens, le comité peut rendre un ordre que son mari ait à lui fournir la somme nécessaires pour qu'elle puisse présenter sa défense en retenant les services d'un conseil, payer ses frais de voyage et de séjour et ceux des témoins assignés de sa part à Ottawa.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est prise en considération par le comité que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $210.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation au Sénat doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis et d'une déclaration établissant qu'une copie de l'avis de la pétition a été signifiée.

Une copie de toute pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce, ou relative à quelque demande de divorce, — et une copie de tous documents et papiers accompagnant cette pétition, ou à produire devant le comité, devra être fournie par la personne au nom de laquelle la pétition, les documents ou les papiers seront présentés ou produits.

Greffier du Sénat.

After which His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to close the SECOND SESSION of the TENTH PARLIAMENT of the DOMINION with the following

SPEECH :

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

In relieving you from further attendance in Parliament, I desire to thank you for the care and assiduity exhibited in the discharge of your laborious and exacting duties.

Your invitation to His Majesty the King to visit this part of his Dominions was duly forwarded to Buckingham Palace. That it would be a source of great rejoicing in Canada if His Majesty would favourably entertain the invitation is confirmed by many similar addresses adopted in the several provinces, cities and towns—all expressing the hope that His Majesty may honour us with another visit.

It is very gratifying to note that Canada continues to enjoy a prosperity rarely equalled in the history of nations. The volume of exports and imports during the year just closed exceeds that of any previous record. The revenue also shows a remarkable increase, the receipts on account of the consolidated fund having doubled in the last ten years. The large number of private bills that have received your approval—having for their object the incorporation of railway and other industrial enterprises—affords additional evidence of the general prosperity prevailing over the Dominion.

182. Acte à l’effet de modifier l’Acte concernant le Sénat et la Chambre des Communes.

183. Acte abrogeant l’Acte créant des pensions pour certains membres du Conseil privé.

“ Au nom de Sa Majesté, Son Excellence le Gouverneur Général sanctionne ces bills.”

Alors l’Honorable Orateur de la Chambre des Communes a adressé la parole à Son Excellence le Gouverneur Général comme suit :

“ QU’IL PLAISE À VOTRE EXCELLENCE :

“ Les Communes du Canada ont voté certains subsides nécessaires pour permettre au gouvernement de faire face aux dépenses du service public.

Au nom des Communes je présente à Votre Excellence le Bill suivant :—

184. Acte accordant à Sa Majesté certains crédits nécessaires au service public pour les exercices expirant respectivement le 30 juin 1906 et le 31 mars 1907.

que je prie humblement Votre Majesté de sanctionner.”

A ce bill la sanction royale a été donnée par le greffier du Sénat, par ordre de Son Excellence, dans les termes suivants :—

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

En vous dispensant de prolonger votre présence au parlement je désire vous remercier du soin et de l’assiduité dont vous avez fait preuve dans l’accomplissement de vos laborieux et difficiles devoirs.

Votre invitation à Sa Majesté le roi, la priant de visiter cette partie-ci de ses possessions, a été régulièrement adressée au palais de Buckingham. Qu’une réponse favorable de Sa Majesté à cette invitation soit de nature à provoquer une grande réjouissance au Canada, c’est ce que tendent à démontrer plusieurs adresses semblables qui ont été adoptées dans les différentes provinces, cités et villes, et qui expriment toutes l’espoir que Sa Majesté pourra nous honorer d’une autre visite.

Il est très satisfaisant de constater que le Canada continue de jouir d’une prospérité dont l’histoire des nations offre peu d’exemples. Le chiffre des exportations et des importations pour l’année qui vient d’expirer dépasse celui de tout exercice précédent. Le revenu accuse aussi une augmentation remarquable, les recettes imputables sur le fonds consolidé ayant doublé pendant la dernière période décennale. Le grand nombre de bills d’intérêt privé qui ont reçu votre approbation et qui avaient pour objet de constituer en corporations des compagnies de chemins de fer et d’autres compagnies industrielles, fournit une nouvelle preuve de la prospérité générale qui règne au Canada.

The stream of immigrants seeking homes in the Western Provinces continues to flow in increasing volume, and owing to the favourable conditions now existing in Alberta and Saskatchewan their vacant lands are being rapidly taken up.

Several Acts of great public utility have been added to the laws in the session now drawing to a close. Among the number, I am glad to note,

An Act for the better observance of the Lord's day.

An Act in restriction of Usury.

An Act to secure the better Marking of Fruit.

An Act requiring that certain articles containing a proportion of gold and silver when offered for sale should be honestly marked.

An Act relating to immigrants and immigration, which, among other provisions, will enable the authorities to deport undesirable persons.

It is earnestly to be hoped that your example in passing the Act setting apart large areas for forest reserves will be followed by those Provincial Legislatures having jurisdiction over their public domain; and that a system of reforestation may be adopted in all parts of the Dominion, thereby preserving the uniform flow of our rivers and of our valuable water powers.

In view of the many important Acts passed, and of the numerous amendments made to existing laws during this session, it has been deemed expedient to stay the issue of the volumes of the Revised Statutes, in order that the recent legislation may be embodied.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

I thank you in His Majesty's name for the supplies you have so liberally voted.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

A copy of the convention regarding commercial relations between Japan and Canada has now been received. The Treaty has been duly ratified and exchanged, thereby giving Canada material advantages in our trade with Japan.

I now beg to express the hope that on your return to your several homes you will find evidences that the coming harvest will be a bountiful one, thus assuring another year's prosperity throughout the Dominion.

THE SPEAKER of the Senate then said :

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

It is HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S will and pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued until Tuesday, the twenty-first day of August next, to be here holden, and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued until the twenty-first day of August next.

Le nombre d'immigrants cherchant à s'établir dans les provinces de l'ouest continue toujours d'augmenter, et vu les conditions favorables qui existent dans l'Alberta et la Saskatchewan, les terres vacantes de ces deux provinces s'enlèvent rapidement.

Plusieurs actes de grande utilité publique ont été ajoutés aux lois pendant la session qui touche maintenant à sa fin. Je suis heureux de remarquer parmi ces actes :

Un acte ayant pour objet de mieux faire observer le dimanche ;

Un acte tendant à restreindre l'usure ;

Un acte tendant à mieux régler la marque des fruits ;

Un acte exigeant que certains articles qui contiennent une certaine proportion d'or et d'argent ne soient pas exposés en vente sans avoir été honnêtement poinçonnés ;

Un acte concernant les immigrants et l'immigration et contenant, entre autres dispositions, celle qui permet aux autorités de renvoyer les sujets peu désirables.

Il est fort à espérer que l'exemple que vous avez donné en adoptant le projet de loi par lequel on demandait à mettre de côté de grandes étendues de terrain pour en faire des réserves forestières, soit suivi par les législatures provinciales ayant juridiction sur le domaine public situé dans leurs limites ; qu'il soit établi un mode de reboisement dans toutes les parties du Canada et que nous puissions conserver ainsi à nos rivières et à nos précieux pouvoirs hydrauliques un volume d'eau uniforme.

Vu le grand nombre d'actes importants adoptés et d'amendements faits aux lois existantes pendant cette session, il a été jugé à propos de retarder la publication des volumes des statuts refondus, afin d'y incorporer la récente législation.

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Je vous remercie, au nom de Sa Majesté, des subsides que vous avez si libéralement votés.

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Copie de la convention concernant les relations commerciales entre le Japon et le Canada vient d'être reçue. Le traité a été dûment ratifié et les ratifications échangées, ce qui donnera des avantages considérables au commerce du Canada avec le Japon.

Je demande maintenant à exprimer l'espoir que, de retour dans vos foyers, vous trouverez des signes que la prochaine récolte va être abondante et va assurer ainsi à tout le Canada une autre année de prospérité.

L'ORATEUR du Sénat alors dit :

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

C'est le plaisir de SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL, que ce parlement soit prorogé jusqu'à mardi, le vingt-unième jour d'août prochain pour être tenu en ce lieu, et ce parlement est, en conséquence, prorogé jusqu'à mardi, le vingt-unième jour d'août prochain.

175. An Act respecting the sale and marking of manufactures of Gold and Silver.
176. An Act to amend the Act respecting the Senate and House of Commons.
177. An Act respecting Placer Mining in the Yukon Territory.
178. An Act further to amend the Criminal Code, 1892.
179. An Act to amend the Criminal Code, 1892, as respects Lotteries.
180. An Act to amend the Railway Act, 1903.
181. An Act respecting the Lord's Day.
182. An Act to amend the Act respecting the Senate and House of Commons.
183. An Act to repeal the Act respecting Annuities for certain Privy Councillors.

To these Bills the Royal Assent was pronounced by the Clerk of the Senate in the following words:—

"In His Majesty's name, His Excellency the Governor General doth assent to these Bills."

Then the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons addressed His Excellency the Governor General, as follows:—

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:—

"The Commons of Canada have voted the Supplies required to enable the Government to defray the expenses of the Public Service.

"In the name of the Commons, I present to Your Excellency the following Bill:—

184. An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 30th June, 1906, and the period of nine months ending the 31st March, 1907.

to which Bill I humbly request Your Excellency's assent."

To this Bill the Clerk of the Senate, by His Excellency's command, did thereupon say:—

"In His Majesty's name, His Excellency the Governor General thanks His Loyal Subjects, accepts their benevolence, and assents to this Bill."

SPEECH :

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

In relieving you from further attendance in Parliament, I desire to thank you for the care and assiduity exhibited in the discharge of your laborious and exacting duties.

Your invitation to His Majesty the King to visit this part of his Dominions was duly forwarded to Buckingham Palace. That it would be a source of great rejoicing in Canada if His Majesty would favourably entertain the invitation is confirmed by many similar addresses adopted in the several provinces, cities and towns—all expressing the hope that His Majesty may honour us with another visit.

It is very gratifying to note that Canada continues to enjoy a prosperity rarely equalled in the history of nations. The volume of exports and imports during the year just closed exceeds that of any previous record. The revenue also shows a remarkable increase, the receipts on account of the consolidated fund having doubled in the last ten years. The large number of private bills that have received your approval—having for their object the incorporation of railway and other industrial enterprises—affords additional evidence of the general prosperity prevailing over the Dominion.

The stream of immigrants seeking homes in the Western Provinces continues to flow in increasing volume, and owing to the favourable conditions now existing in Alberta and Saskatchewan their vacant lands are being rapidly taken up.

Several Acts of great public utility have been added to the laws in the session now drawing to a close. Among the number, I am glad to note,

An Act for the better observance of the Lord's day.

An Act in restriction of Usury.

An Act to secure the better Marking of Fruit.

An Act requiring that certain articles containing a proportion of gold and silver when offered for sale should be honestly marked.

An Act relating to immigrants and immigration, which, among other provisions, will enable the authorities to deport undesirable persons.

It is earnestly to be hoped that your example in passing the Act setting apart large areas for forest reserves will be followed by those Provincial Legislatures having jurisdiction over their public domain ; and that a system of reforestation may be adopted in all parts of the Dominion, thereby preserving the uniform flow of our rivers and of our valuable water powers.

In view of the many important Acts passed, and of the numerous amendments made to existing laws during this session, it has been deemed expedient to stay the issue of the volumes of the Revised Statutes, in order that the recent legislation may be embodied.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

I thank you in His Majesty's name for the supplies you have so liberally voted.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

A copy of the convention regarding commercial relations between Japan and Canada has now been received. The Treaty has been duly ratified and exchanged, thereby giving Canada material advantages in our trade with Japan.

I now beg to express the hope that on your return to your several homes you will find evidences that the coming harvest will be a bountiful one, thus assuring another year's prosperity throughout the Dominion.

THE SPEAKER of the Senate then said :

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

It is HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S will and pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued until Tuesday, the twenty-first day of August next, to be here holden, and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued until the twenty-first day of August next.

DESPATCHES, Etc.

THE 11TH DAY OF MAY, 1906.

PRESENT :

The KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.

Lord Chamberlain.

Lord Ribblesdale.

Mr. L. Harcourt.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1895, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State ; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient ;

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the nineteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five between His Majesty and the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following:—

Treaty between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Nicaragua for the Mutual Surrender of Fugitive Criminals.

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and His Excellency the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, having determined, by common consent, to conclude a Treaty for the extradition of criminals, have accordingly named as their Plenipotentiaries:

ARTICLE I.

The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other those persons who, being accused or convicted of a crime committed in the territory of the one Party, shall be found within the territory of the other Party, under circumstances and conditions stated in the present Treaty.

25. Dealing in slaves in such manner as to constitute a criminal offence against the laws of both States.

Extradition shall also be granted for participation in any of the aforesaid crimes, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both Contracting Parties.

Extradition may also be granted at the discretion of the State applied to in respect of any other crime for which, according to the laws of both the Contracting Parties for the time being in force, the grant can be made.

Provided that the surrender shall be made only when, in the case of a person accused, the commission of the crime shall be so established as that the laws of the country where the fugitive or person so accused shall be found would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had been there committed; and, in the case of a person alleged to have been convicted, on such evidence as, according to the laws of the country where he is found, would prove that he had been convicted.

Extradition shall not be granted if, according to the laws of either country, the maximum punishment for the offence charged is imprisonment for less than one year.

ARTICLE III.

No Nicaraguan shall be delivered up by the Government of Nicaragua to the Government of the United Kingdom, and no subject of the United Kingdom shall be delivered up by the Government thereof to the Government of Nicaragua.

ARTICLE IV.

The extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, should be under examination for any crime in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until the conclusion of the trial and the full execution of any punishment awarded to him.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place. This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents, or duly recognized Consuls General of the High Contracting Parties respectively.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by a sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A sentence passed in contumaciam is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent Magistrate, who is to examine him and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE X.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime has been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XI.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XII.

If sufficient evidence for extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered and his conveyance till placed on board ship; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of His Britannic Majesty. The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal, who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions, shall be made to the Governor or Chief authority of such Colony or possession by the chief Consular officer of Nicaragua in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of (subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty) by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

His Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Nicaraguan criminals who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of His Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year, and not less than six months.

It shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in London within the period of six months from the date of signature.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and affixed thereto their respective seals.

(L.S.) HERBERT HARRISON.
(L.S.) ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at London on the thirteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and six:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the 25th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and six, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the Republic of Nicaragua, under and in accordance with the said Treaty:

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

Circular.

DOWNING STREET,

1st June, 1906.

SIR,—I have had recently under my consideration certain points which have arisen in connection with the position and treatment of Foreign Consuls in the Colonies, and, after communication with the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, I have thought it proper to lay down certain principles for the guidance of Governors. You will understand that it is not expected that they can be applied in Colonies where a different practice has been established, but it is my desire that Colonial Governors should look to them as a guide in future when opportunities occur of applying them without unnecessary friction.

2. No general instructions to Colonial Governors respecting the position and treatment of Consuls appear to have been issued since a date nearly forty years ago, when it was intimated that if in any Colony precedence was, as a matter of courtesy, already accorded to the Foreign Consular Body, no alteration should be made, with the view of assimilating the practice to that in force in this country, without reference to the Secretary of State. It was observed, however, that Foreign Consuls in England have no claim of precedence, and are treated like any other Foreigners resident in England. This principle, I may now observe, equally extends to the Colonies, and it is not desirable that any instructions should be given tending to recognize the principle of according precedence to the Foreign Consular Body. In 1863 a claim was advanced by the Consular Body at Sydney to be admitted to the entrée at the Governor's levée on the occasion of the Sovereign's Birthday, and it was then stated that the rule of Her Majesty's Court was, that as Consuls-General and Consuls had no diplomatic character, and were not visitors of the Court, they fell into the class of Foreigners resident in England and went to the general entrée and were presented in the general circle.

3. As regards privileges or exemptions, it was held, on a claim advanced by the Spanish Consul at Brisbane in 1856, that there were no privileges to which Foreign Consuls were strictly or legally entitled, as a right, in Great Britain or in any of her Colonies; that the English law considered them amenable to civil and criminal jurisdiction, did not give them, or allow them, any legal privileges whatever, and could hardly be said to recognize them in their official character; and that such privileges or exemptions as they might enjoy were conceded to them (if at all) either by the Executive or Local Authorities at their discretion or by usage and courtesy.

4. This decision should be carefully borne in mind as it would prove in the highest degree inconvenient if in British Colonies, Consuls of Foreign Powers should be permitted to acquire a claim to the privileges or immunities of diplomatic agents, or to assume in any other respect a footing different from that which they hold in the United Kingdom. Recent experiences have shown that this possible danger is a real one, and should be strictly guarded against.

5. In the correspondence which has given rise to the present despatch, His Majesty's Government has been asked for instructions on several points, and I deal with these in the order in which they have been raised:

(a) As to ceremonials and formal courtesies. From the earlier part of this despatch it will be clear that the Consuls are not entitled to be specially received at public functions, and that they should not be given any precedence over local officials. In regard to this point, I may observe that, even if it were not objectionable on other grounds it would be impossible to lay down general rules as to precedence over officials, having regard to the varying importance in different Colonies of what is nominally the same office, and if special rules were laid down in each case they would give rise to endless claims from Consuls founded on the practice elsewhere which was most favourable to their contentions. The preceding considerations need not, however, prevent the Governor from specially receiving the Consuls, as a body, on certain occasions such as on the King's Birthday or on his own first arrival in the Colony, as an act of courtesy and not as a right, if this practice, which has been followed at the Cape since 1898, should be pressed upon him.

As regards visits, it has already been observed that Consuls General and Consuls are not visitors of the Court, and it follows that they do not "visit" the Governor, who is the King's representative in the Colony. If they wait on the Governor, on any other occasion than for the transaction of consular business, they do so on the same footing as any prominent inhabitant of the Colony, and their visit does not require to be formally returned on the Governor's behalf.

(b) With regard to the transaction of public business, Consuls should, under no circumstances, be permitted to approach the Local Governments except on matters connected with the personal welfare of their countrymen as individuals, and if they should make any representations on general political questions they should in all cases be required to communicate them to their respective Governments, to be dealt with through the proper diplomatic channels. The only legitimate functions of a Foreign Consul in relation to a Colonial Administration are those connected with the welfare of his nationals as individuals, and, therefore, any questions with regard to trade and commerce which might affect the general commercial policy of the Colony would fall into the category of those which must be discussed through the respective Foreign Offices.

(c) From what has already been said, it follows that no difference should be made in treatment, as between "consuls de carrière," and other consular officers.

(d) As regards the practice of appointing a Consul General with local Consuls subordinate to him, all consular officers require recognition by the respective local Governments before they can enter on their functions, although such recognition is only withheld in the case of some valid objection to the appointment.

His Majesty's Government would not interfere with the arrangements made by Foreign Governments for the performance of consular duties, and if, for example, a Foreign Government appointed a Consul General for South Africa, it would be open to that official in virtue of his exequatur to communicate (in the exercise of his duties as above defined) with all Governors in South Africa, and if the same Government appointed, in addition, a Consul in a South African Colony where the Consul General was not resident, His Majesty's Government would not require that consular communications with the Governor of that Colony should be made by the local Consul and not by the Consul General, though they might reasonably require that communications connected with any one Colony should be with the occupant of one consular post only who would be designated by the Foreign Government concerned.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,

4. Such lien upon registration as in this Ordinance provided shall attach and take effect upon the date of the registration as against subsequent purchasers, mortgagees or other encumbrancers whose mortgages or encumbrances are registered subsequent to to performance of such work or the furnishing of such wood.

5. The lien shall attach upon the estate or interest of the owner and all persons having any interest in the mine and the minerals or ores produced therefrom, and upon the appurtenances thereto, the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith and the machinery and chattels upon such lands.

6. Any lien registered under the provisions of this Ordinance shall, as to an undivided one-half interest in said mining claim, the appurtenances thereto, the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith and the machinery and chattels upon such lands and as to one-half of the output from said mining claim, take priority over all mortgages and encumbrances against the same ; Provided that a lien registered under this Ordinance shall not have priority over mortgages or encumbrances registered prior to the passing thereof.

REGISTRATION OF LIEN.

7. A claim of lien may be deposited in the office of the Mining Recorder for the district in which the mine is situated and the office of the Gold Commissioner, and shall state :—

(a) The name and residence of the claimant and of the owner of the property to be charged, and of the person for whom and upon whose credit the work was done or wood furnished, and the time or period within which the same was or was to be done or furnished ;

(b) The work done or wood furnished ;

(c) The sum claimed as due or to become due ;

2. Such claims shall be verified by the affidavit of the claimant or his agent having a personal knowledge of the facts sworn to.

8. A claim may include the claims of any number of claimants aforesaid who may choose to unite therein ; each claimant shall verify his claim by his affidavit but need not repeat the facts set out in the claim.

(9) The claim may be registered at any time within thirty days after the last day's labour for which the wages are payable, or on which wood was furnished, or within thirty days after the time fixed for payment, or if the labour is performed or wood furnished between the first day of November in any year and the thirtieth day of April in the following year, at any time within thirty days after the said thirtieth day of April.

10. The Mining Recorder, or his agent, in whose office the claim is deposited, shall forthwith forward to the Gold Commissioner a copy of such claim certified by him to be a true copy, and the Gold Commissioner shall enter a memorandum thereof against the mining claim described therein.

11. Every lien in respect of which a claim has not been duly deposited under the provisions of this Ordinance shall absolutely cease to exist on the expiration of the time hereinbefore limited for the registration thereof.

PROCEEDINGS TO REALIZE LIEN.

12. Every lien in respect of which a claim has been duly deposited under the provisions of this Ordinance shall absolutely cease to exist upon the expiration of sixty days from the registration of such lien unless in the meantime proceedings are instituted to realize the claim under the provisions of this Ordinance and a certificate thereof (which may be granted by the Court in which, or judge before whom, the proceedings are instituted) is duly filed in the office of the Gold Commissioner.

13. Liens may be enforced by originating summons in which shall be set forth the grounds upon which such lien is claimed. Such summons shall be granted upon affidavit of the facts set forth therein, and the court or judge may, either ex parte or after notice, appoint a receiver for such time and upon such terms as are just and proper, upon proof to his satisfaction that the lien holder is in danger of losing his claim unless such receiver is appointed.

14. Upon such summons being granted the court or judge may, after notice given to the various parties interested, including the workmen on the mining claim, which notice shall be given in such manner as the court or judge directs summarily determine and fix the liability of the owner or layman for wages due to the claimant and other workmen who have filed claims and also his liability to any other person in respect of wood furnished.

15. Any number of lien holders may join in one summons and any action brought by a lien holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all the lien holders who shall have registered their liens before or within thirty days after the commencement of the action, or who shall within the said thirty days file in the proper office of the court from which the summons issued a statement of their respective claims intitled in or referring to the said action.

2. In the event of the death of the plaintiff or his refusal or neglect to proceed, any other lien holder who has registered his claim or filed his statement in the manner and within the time above limited for that purpose, may be allowed to prosecute and continue the action on such terms as are considered just and reasonable by the court or judge ;

3. If the minerals or ore produced from said mining claim are not sufficient to satisfy the liens registered against it, the court or a judge may direct a sale of the estate and interest charged with the lien, to take place at any time after one month from the recovery of judgment, and it shall not be necessary to delay the sale for a longer period thereafter than is requisite to give reasonable notice thereof ;

4. The Court or judge may also direct the sale of any wood, machinery and chattels charged with the lien.

5. When judgment is given in favour of the lien holder the court or judge may add to the judgment the costs of and incidental to registering the lien as well as the costs of the action ;

6. Upon application the court or judge may receive security or payment into court in lieu of the amount of the claim, and may thereupon vacate the registration of the lien ;

7. The court or judge may annul the said registration upon any other ground ;

8. In any case the court or judge may proceed to hear and determine the matter of the lien and make such order as is just, and in case the person claiming the lien has wrongfully refused to give a discharge thereof, or has no just cause for his claim or claims a larger sum than is found by the court or judge to be due, the court or judge may order and adjudge him to pay the costs of the other party.

DEVOLUTION AND ASSIGNMENT.

16. In the event of the death of a lien holder his right of lien shall pass to his personal representatives.

17. The right of a lien holder may be assigned by instrument in writing.

DISCHARGE OF LIEN.

18. A lien may be discharged by a receipt signed by the claimant or his agent and verified by affidavit and filed in the offices mentioned in Section 7 of this Ordinance ; such receipt shall be numbered and entered like other instruments.

FEES.

19. The fee for registering any instrument under this Ordinance shall be $2.00.

ENCUMBERED MINES.

20. Every owner or layman, or if any owner or layman is an incorporated company, or is absent from the territory, the manager or agent of such owner or layman, who hires, or contracts with, any person to perform any work or service upon or in respect to or to furnish any wood to be used in the working of any mining claim, against which any mortgage or encumbrance was registered prior to the passing of this Ordinance, shall, immediately upon such hiring or contract, give notice in writing to every person holding any such mortgage or encumbrance of the fact of such hiring or contract. Such notice may be in form A in the schedule to this Ordinance.

21. Any person failing to give such notice who fails to pay any such person hired by him, or by whom wood has been furnished as in the next preceding section mentioned the full amount due such person, shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars and, in default of payment of such penalty and the amount so due, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months unless he sooner pay such penalty and amount.

22. After a lien has been registered by any person so hired, or who has furnished wood, as aforesaid for money due him in respect of such hiring, or for such wood, against any placer mining claim, it shall not be lawful for the owner or layman to remove any gold from such mining claim if a lien holder who has registered his lien gives to such owner or layman a written notice in form B in the schedule to this Ordinance. After such notice is given any person interested in such mining claim either on account of wages or for wood, or as owner, layman, mortgagee or encumbrancer, may notify the mining inspector residing nearest to such mining claim that a lien has been registered against such mining claim and that a lien holder has forbidden the removal of any gold therefrom, and upon receipt of such notice the mining inspector shall forthwith by himself or his agent take possession of every dump and sluice box upon and all gold dust produced from, such mining claim, and make provision for obtaining the gold therefrom at the expense of the owner or layman, and in the event of there being a prior mortgage or encumbrance against said mining claim shall pay or apportion pro rata not exceeding one half of such gold and gold dust to and among all persons to whom amounts are due for wages or for wood furnished in connection with said mining claim and the balance to the owner of the mine or the mortgage or encumbrance. If there is no prior encumbrance on said mining claim the full amount of such gold and gold dust and so much thereof as may be required for the purpose shall be applied and so apportioned in payment of the amounts due to such persons for wages or for wood and any balance shall be paid to the owner of the mine.

(2.) If there is any dispute as to the amount due for wages or wood, the said mining inspector shall deposit with the Clerk of the Territorial Court the gold dust produced from the mining claim to abide the decision of a judge upon any action to enforce the lien.

23. At every clean-up on any placer mining claim the men hired, or who have furnished wood, shall be entitled to have a representative present, as well as at the weighing of the gold dust obtained thereby, and it shall be the duty of the owner or layman to give to such representative, if required, a statement in writing of the quantity of gold obtained from time to time from such mining claim.

24. Any owner or layman who violates any of the provisions of the next two preceding sections and fail to pay to any such person so hired, or who has furnished wood, the amount due to such person in respect of such hiring or for such wood, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars and in default of payment of such penalty and the amounts due by him for wages or for wood to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, unless he sooner pay such penalty and the amount due and unpaid in respect to such wages or for wood.

Lat. N. 47° 8' 14"
Long. W. 65 3 55

The following angles, taken on the vessel by the Chief Engineer of the Marine Department in 1899, fix her position :

Oak point back lighthouse.....	0°
Burnt church.....	71° 50'
Portage island lighthouse.....	51 45
Fox island northernmost light.....	73 35
Swashway back range lighthouse....	17 30
Right tangent of Bay du Vin island.	96 45
Oak point back lighthouse.....	48 35

The vessel is moored in $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms water, 500 feet west of the bar. She is a wooden schooner, painted red.

The lights are fixed red, shown from seventh order dioptric lanterns, suspended above the tops of the two masts. The illuminating apparatus and arrangement of the lanterns have been changed since last year, so as to give stronger lights with less obstruction by masts, rigging, &c. The two lights, which are elevated 43 feet above the water, should be visible 8 miles all round.

In foggy weather a hand fog horn, on deck, answers all signals from vessels. The lightship will be maintained on her station as long as ice will permit, every season. N. to M. No. 63 (142) 15-6-06.

SUBSTANCE OF RULES OF THE SENATE RELATING TO NOTICES AND APPLICATIONS FOR BILLS OF DIVORCE.

As Revised and brought in force 22nd March, 1906.

Every applicant for a Bill of Divorce shall give notice of his or her intended application, and shall specify therein from whom and for what cause such divorce is sought, and shall cause such notice to be published during at least three months before the consideration by the Committee on Divorce of his or her petition for the said Bill, in the Canada Gazette and in two newspapers published in the district in Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia or the Northwest Territories, or in the county or union of counties in other provinces, wherein such applicant usually resided at the time of the separation of the parties; but if the requisite number of papers cannot be found therein, then in an adjoining district or county or union of counties.

Notices given in the Provinces of Quebec and Manitoba are to be published in one English and one French newspaper, if there be such newspapers published in the district, but otherwise shall be published in one newspaper in both languages. If a notice given for any session of Parliament is not completed in time to allow the petition to be dealt with during that session, the petition may be presented and dealt with during the next ensuing session, without any further publication of such notice.

A copy of the said notice and a copy of the petition to be presented shall, at the instance of the applicant, and not less than two months before the consideration by the Committee of the petition, be served personally, when that can be done, on the person from whom the divorce is sought, who is hereinafter called "the respondent."

If the residence of the respondent is not known or personal service cannot be effected, then, if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Committee that all reasonable efforts have been made to effect personal service, and, if unsuccessful, to bring such notice and petition to the knowledge of the respondent, what has been done may be deemed and taken by the Committee as sufficient service.

No petition for a bill of divorce shall be presented to the Senate after the first sixty days of the Session.

The petition of an applicant for bill for divorce must be fairly written and must be signed by the petitioner, and should briefly set forth the marriage, the names in full of the parties thereto, their ages and occupations, when, where and by whom the ceremony was performed, the domicile and residence of each of the parties at the time of the marriage, their matrimonial domicile, residence, and any change thereof, the material facts upon which the petitioner relies as the grounds on which relief is asked, and the nature of the relief prayed for.

The petition should also negative connivance at, or condonation of the wrong complained of and collusion in the application for divorce.

The allegations of the petition must be verified by declaration of the petitioner, under The Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

The copy of the petition served upon the respondent shall have endorsed thereon, or appended thereto, the following information:—

- (4) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa, upon whom all notices and papers may be served.
- (5) That if the respondent desires to oppose the granting of the divorce and to be heard by the Senate Committee on Divorce, the respondent must send a notice to that effect to the Clerk of the Senate at the Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, within two months from the date of service upon the respondent, and must in the notice to the Clerk of the Senate give:—
 - (a) The respondent's residence at the time of sending such notice.
 - (b) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the respondent may be delivered.
 - (c) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the respondent.
 - (d) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa upon whom all notices and papers may be served.
- (6) That, if the respondent does not so notify the Clerk of the Senate, the petition may be considered, and a bill of divorce founded thereon may be passed, without any further notice to the respondent.
- (7) When the petition is one by a husband for a divorce from his wife, that, if the wife shows to the satisfaction of the Senate Committee on Divorce that she has, and is prepared to establish upon oath, a good defence to the charges made by the petition, and that she has not sufficient money to defend herself, the Committee may make an order that her husband shall provide her with the necessary means to sustain her defence, including the cost of retaining Counsel and the travelling and living expenses of herself and of witnesses summoned to Ottawa on her behalf.

No petition for a bill of Divorce shall be considered by the Committee unless the applicant has paid into the hands of the Clerk of the Senate the sum of two hundred and ten dollars, ($210.)

The petition when presented to the Senate shall be accompanied by the evidence of the publication of the notice, and by declaration in evidence of the service of a copy of the notice and of a copy of the petition.

“ QU'IL PLAISE À VOTRE EXCELLENCE :

“ Les Communes du Canada ont voté certains subsides nécessaires pour permettre au gouvernement de faire face aux dépenses du service public.

Au nom des Communes je présente à Votre Excellence le Bill suivant :—

que je prie humblement Votre Majesté de sanctionner.”

A ce bill la sanction royale a été donnée par le greffier du Sénat, par ordre de Son Excellence, dans les termes suivants :—

“ Au nom de Sa Majesté, Son Excellence le Gouverneur Général remercie ses loyaux sujets, accepte leur bienveillance et sanctionne ce bill.”

Après quoi il a plu à Son Excellence le Gouverneur Général de clore la DEUXIÈME SESSION DU DIXIÈME PARLEMENT par le discours suivant :—

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

En vous dispensant de prolonger votre présence au parlement je désire vous remercier du soin et de l'assiduité dont vous avez fait preuve dans l'accomplissement de vos laborieux et difficiles devoirs.

Votre invitation à Sa Majesté le roi, la priant de visiter cette partie-ci de ses possessions, a été régulièrement adressée au palais de Buckingham. Qu'une réponse favorable de Sa Majesté à cette invitation soit de nature à provoquer une grande réjouissance au Canada, c'est ce que tendent à démontrer plusieurs adresses semblables qui ont été adoptées dans les différentes provinces, cités et villes, et qui expriment toutes l'espoir que Sa Majesté pourra nous honorer d'une autre visite.

Il est très satisfaisant de constater que le Canada continue de jouir d'une prospérité dont l'histoire des nations offre peu d'exemples. Le chiffre des exportations et des importations pour l'année qui vient d'expirer dépasse celui de tout exercice précédent. Le revenu accuse aussi une augmentation remarquable, les recettes imputables sur le fonds consolidé ayant doublé pendant la dernière période décennale. Le grand nombre de bills d'intérêt privé qui ont reçu votre approbation et qui avaient pour objet de constituer en corporations des compagnies de chemins de fer et d'autres compagnies industrielles, fournit une nouvelle preuve de la prospérité générale qui règne au Canada.

Le nombre d'immigrants cherchant à s'établir dans les provinces de l'ouest continue toujours d'augmenter, et vu les conditions favorables qui existent dans l'Alberta et la Saskatchewan, les terres vacantes de ces deux provinces s'enlèvent rapidement.

Plusieurs actes de grande utilité publique ont été ajoutés aux lois pendant la session qui touche maintenant à sa fin. Je suis heureux de remarquer parmi ces actes :

Un acte ayant pour objet de mieux faire observer le dimanche ;

Un acte tendant à restreindre l'usure ;

Un acte tendant à mieux régler la marque des fruits ;

Un acte exigeant que certains articles qui contiennent une certaine proportion d'or et d'argent ne soient pas exposés en vente sans avoir été honnêtement poinçonnés ;

Un acte concernant les immigrants et l'immigration et contenant, entré autres dispositions, celle qui permet aux autorités de renvoyer les sujets peu désirables.

Il est fort à espérer que l'exemple que vous avez donné en adoptant le projet de loi par lequel on demandait à mettre de côté de grandes étendues de terrain pour en faire des réserves forestières, soit suivi par les législatures provinciales ayant juridiction sur le domaine public situé dans leurs limites ; qu'il soit établi un mode de reboisement dans toutes les parties du Canada et que nous puissions conserver ainsi à nos rivières et à nos précieux pouvoirs hydrauliques un volume d'eau uniforme.

Vu le grand nombre d'actes importants adoptés et d'amendements faits aux lois existantes pendant cette session, il a été jugé à propos de retarder la publication des volumes des statuts refondus, afin d'y incorporer la récente législation.

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Je vous remercie, au nom de Sa Majesté, des subsides que vous avez si libéralement votés.

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Copie de la convention concernant les relations commerciales entre le Japon et le Canada vient d'être reçue. Le traité a été dûment ratifié et les ratifications échangées, ce qui donnera des avantages considérables au commerce du Canada avec le Japon.

Je demande maintenant à exprimer l'espoir que, de retour dans vos foyers, vous trouverez des signes que la prochaine récolte va être abondante et va assurer ainsi à tout le Canada une autre année de prospérité.

L'ORATEUR du Sénat alors dit :

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

C'est le plaisir de SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL, que ce parlement soit prorogé jusqu'à mardi, le vingt-unième jour d'août prochain pour être tenu en ce lieu, et ce parlement est, en conséquence, prorogé jusqu'à mardi, le vingt-unième jour d'août prochain.

DOWNING STREET,
2 juin 1906.

MONSIEUR, — J'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre, pour qu'elle soit publiée dans la colonie que vous administrez, copie d'un arrêté de Sa Majesté le Roi en conseil, daté le 11 de mai 1906, donnant effet au traité entre le Royaume-Uni et la République de Nicaragua, pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs, signé à Managua le 19e jour d'avril 1906.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, monsieur,
Votre très humble serviteur,

ELGIN.

A l'Administrateur
du gouvernement du Canada.

ARRÊTÉ EN CONSEIL.

A LA COUR AU CHATEAU DE BUCKINGHAM,
LE 11e JOUR DE MAI 1906.

PRÉSENTS :

Sa Très Excellente Majesté le ROI,
Le lord Président,
Le lord Chambellan,
Lord Ribblesdale,
Mr. L. Harcourt.

CONSIDÉRANT que par les Actes d'extradition, 1870 à 1895, il est statué, entre autres choses, que chaque fois qu'un arrangement aura été conclu avec un Etat étranger au sujet de la reddition à cet Etat de criminels fugitifs, Sa Majesté pourra ordonner par arrêté en conseil que les dits actes s'appliqueront à l'égard de l'Etat étranger en question ; et que Sa Majesté pourra, par le même ou par un arrêté subséquent, restreindre l'opération du dit arrêté et limiter son application aux criminels fugitifs qui se trouvent ou sont supposés se trouver dans la partie des possessions de Sa Majesté spécifiées dans l'arrêté, et en rendre l'exécution sujette aux conditions, exceptions et restrictions qui pourront être jugées convenables.

Et considérant qu'un traité a été conclu le dix-neuvième jour d'avril, mil neuf cent cinq, entre Sa Majesté et le Président de la République de Nicaragua pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs, lequel est rédigé comme suit : —

Traité entre le Royaume-Uni et la République de Nicaragua pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs.

Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume-Uni de la Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande et des possessions britanniques au delà des mers, Empereur des Indes, et Son Excellence le Président de la République de Nicaragua, ayant décidé, de consentement mutuel, de conclure un traité pour l'extradition des criminels, ont nommé pour leurs plénipotentiaires :

Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume-Uni de la Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande et des possessions britanniques au delà des mers, Empereur des Indes : Herbert William Broadley Harrison, écuyer, Compagnon de l'Ordre Très distingué de Saint-Michel et Saint-George, chargé d'affaires de Sa Majesté près la République de Nicaragua ; et Son Excellence le Président de Nicaragua : le Docteur Adolfo Altamirano, ministre des Affaires étrangères ; lesquels, après s'être communiqués leurs pleins pouvoirs respectifs, trouvés en bonne et due forme, ont arrêté et conclu les articles suivants : —

ARTICLE I.

Les hautes parties contractantes s'engagent à se livrer réciproquement, dans les circonstances et sous les conditions prévues par le présent traité, les individus qui, poursuivis ou condamnés pour un crime ou délit commis sur le territoire de l'une des parties, seront trouvés sur le territoire de l'autre.

ARTICLE II.

Les crimes et délits pour lesquels l'extradition sera accordée sont les suivants : —

1. Meurtre ou tentative ou conspiration pour commettre un meurtre.
2. Homicide sans préméditation.
3. Administration de substances ou emploi d'instruments dans l'intention de provoquer l'avortement.
4. Viol.
5. Commerce charnel avec une jeune fille n'ayant pas atteint l'âge de puberté, ou tentative de commettre ce crime, d'après les lois des pays respectifs.
6. Attentat à la pudeur avec violence.
7. Séquestration et détention illégale.
8. Abandon, exposition ou détention d'enfants.
9. Enlèvement ou rapt.
10. Bigamie.
11. Blessures ou autres lésions corporelles graves infligées avec malice.
12. Voies de fait ayant occasionné des lésions corporelles graves.
13. Menaces écrites ou autres, faites en vue d'extorquer de l'argent ou autres choses de valeur.
14. Faux serment ou subornation de témoins.
15. Incendie volontaire.
16. Vol avec effraction ou bris de maison, vol avec violence, larcin ou détournement.
17. Fraude par un dépositaire, banquier, agent, facteur, fidéicommissaire, directeur, membre ou officier public d'une compagnie.
18. Escroquerie d'argent, valeurs ou autres objets, sous de faux prétextes ; recel en connaissance de cause de numéraire, valeur ou autre propriété, provenant de soustractions, d'escroquerie ou d'abus de confiance.
19. (a) Faux, contrefaçon ou altération, ou mise en circulation de ce qui est falsifié, contrefait ou altéré.
(b) Fabrication, avec connaissance de cause d'un instrument, outil ou invention adapté et destiné à la contrefaçon de la monnaie du pays.
20. Faux, ou mise en circulation de ce qui est falsifié ou contrefait.
21. Crimes contre la loi des banqueroutes.
22. Tout acte commis avec intention de mettre en danger la sûreté d'une personne dans un train de chemin de fer.
23. Dommages malicieux à la propriété, si le fait est punissable de peines criminelles.
24. Piraterie et autres crimes ou délits commis en mer contre des personnes ou choses que les lois des hautes parties contractantes considèrent délits entraînant l'extradition.
25. Traite des esclaves en tant que la chose constitue un crime contre les lois des deux Etats.

L'extradition aura également lieu pour complicité d'un des crimes ci-dessus mentionnés, pourvu que cette complicité soit punissable par les lois des deux parties contractantes.

L'extradition aura également lieu à la discrétion de l'Etat requis au sujet de tout autre crime pour lequel, selon la loi des deux parties contractantes alors en vigueur, la demande peut être accordée.

Toutefois, l'extradition ne sera accordée dans le cas d'une personne accusée que si la perpétration du crime ou du délit est établie de telle façon que les lois du pays où le fugitif accusé sera trouvé justifieraient son arrestation et son emprisonnement si le crime ou le délit avait été commis dans ce pays ; et, dans le cas d'une personne prétendument condamnée, que sur la production d'une preuve qui, d'après les lois du pays où le fugitif a été trouvé, établirait suffisamment qu'il a été condamné.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si, d'après la loi de chaque pays, la punition maximum pour le délit imputé, est un emprisonnement pour moins d'un an.

ARTICLE III.

Nul nicaraguen ne sera délivré par le gouvernement de Nicaragua au gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, et nul sujet du Royaume-Uni ne sera délivré par le gouvernement du Royaume-Uni au gouvernement de Nicaragua.

ARTICLE IV.

L'extradition ne sera pas accordée si l'individu réclamé de la part du gouvernement du Royaume-Uni

ou de la part du gouvernement de Nicaragua a déjà été jugé, acquitté ou puni, ou se trouve encore sous jugement dans le territoire du Royaume-Uni ou dans le territoire de Nicaragua, respectivement, pour le crime à raison duquel l'extradition est demandée.

Si la personne réclamée de la part du gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, ou de la part du gouvernement de Nicaragua, est en état de prévention, ou subit une peine après condamnation dans le territoire du Royaume-Uni, ou dans le territoire de Nicaragua, respectivement, pour un autre crime, son extradition sera différée jusqu'à la conclusion de son procès, et qu'elle ait purgé la peine qui lui aura été infligée.

ARTICLE V.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si, depuis la perpétration du crime, les poursuites ou la condamnation, la prescription des poursuites ou de la peine est acquise d'après les lois du pays auquel la demande est adressée.

ARTICLE VI.

Le criminel fugitif ne sera pas extradé si le délit pour lequel l'extradition est demandée est considéré comme un délit politique, ou si l'individu prouve que la demande d'extradition a été faite en réalité dans le but de le poursuivre ou de le punir pour un délit d'un caractère politique.

ARTICLE VII.

L'individu qui a été livré ne sera, en aucun cas, dans le pays auquel l'extradition a été accordée, maintenu en état d'arrestation ou poursuivi pour aucun crime ou faits autres que ceux qui ont motivé l'extradition. Cette stipulation n'est pas applicable aux crimes commis après l'extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

La demande d'extradition sera faite par l'entremise des agents diplomatiques, ou des consuls généraux accrédités des hautes parties contractantes respectivement.

La demande d'extradition d'un prévenu devra être accompagnée d'un mandat d'arrêt décerné par l'autorité compétente de l'Etat requérant, et des preuves qui, d'après les lois de l'endroit où le prévenu a été trouvé, justifieraient son arrestation si l'acte punissable y avait été commis.

Si la demande d'extradition concerne une personne déjà condamnée, elle doit être accompagnée de l'arrêt de condamnation qui a été rendu contre le coupable par le tribunal compétent de l'Etat requérant.

Un arrêt rendu par contumace ne sera pas considéré comme une condamnation, mais une personne ainsi condamnée pourra être traitée comme une personne accusée.

ARTICLE IX.

Si la demande d'extradition s'accorde avec les stipulations précédentes, les autorités compétentes de l'Etat requis procéderont à l'arrestation du fugitif.

Le prisonnier sera alors traduit devant un magistrat compétent, qui l'interrogera et conduira l'enquête préliminaire de l'affaire, de la même manière que si l'arrestation avait eu lieu pour un crime commis dans le même pays.

ARTICLE X.

L'extradition n'aura lieu qu'à l'expiration de quinze jours après l'arrestation, et alors seulement dans le cas où les preuves fournies auront été trouvées suffisantes, d'après les lois de l'Etat requis, soit pour justifier la mise en jugement du prisonnier, dans le cas où le crime aurait été commis sur le territoire du dit Etat, soit pour constater l'identité du prisonnier avec l'individu condamné par les tribunaux de l'Etat requérant.

ARTICLE XI.

Les autorités de l'Etat requis, quand elles procéderont à l'examen établi par les stipulations précédentes, devront admettre comme preuves entièrement valables les dépositions assermentées ou les affirmations faites dans l'autre Etat, ou les copies de ces pièces, de même que les mandats d'arrêt et les sentences rendues dans ce pays, pourvu que ces documents soient signés ou certifiés par un juge, magistrat, ou officier de l'autre Etat, et soient rendus authentiques par le serment de quelque témoin, ou par le sceau officiel du ministre de la Justice, ou de quelque autre ministre d'Etat.

ARTICLE XII.

Le fugitif sera mis en liberté si les preuves suffisantes à l'appui de la demande en extradition ne sont pas produites dans l'espace de deux mois, à partir du jour de l'arrestation.

ARTICLE XIII.

Tous les objets saisis en la possession de l'individu réclamé au moment de son arrestation seront, si l'autorité compétente de l'Etat requis en a ordonné la remise, livrés lorsque l'extradition aura lieu; cette remise ne comprendra pas seulement les objets volés, mais encore tout ce qui peut servir de pièce de conviction.

ARTICLE XIV.

Les hautes parties contractantes renoncent à toute réclamation pour le remboursement des dépenses encourues par elles dans l'arrestation et l'entretien de l'individu à extraire, jusqu'à ce qu'il soit mis à bord d'un navire, et ils consentent réciproquement à supporter toutes ces dépenses elles-mêmes.

ARTICLE XV.

Les stipulations du présent traité s'appliqueront aux colonies et possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique. La demande d'extradition d'un délinquant qui s'est réfugié dans une de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères peut être faite au gouverneur ou principal fonctionnaire de cette colonie ou possession par la personne autorisée à agir dans cette colonie ou possession comme principal officier consulaire de la République de Nicaragua.

Le gouverneur ou l'autorité supérieure mentionnée décidera à l'égard de ces demandes, en se conformant autant que faire se pourra, d'après les lois de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères, aux stipulations du présent traité. Il sera toutefois libre d'accorder l'extradition ou de soumettre le cas à son gouvernement.

Il est réservé toutefois à Sa Majesté Britannique de faire, en se conformant autant que faire se pourra d'après les lois de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères, aux stipulations du présent traité, des arrangements spéciaux dans les colonies britanniques et possessions étrangères pour l'extradition de criminels de Nicaragua qui auraient trouvé un refuge dans ces colonies ou possessions étrangères.

Les demandes concernant l'extradition de criminels qui se sont échappés d'une des colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique seront traitées suivant les dispositions des articles précédents du présent traité.

ARTICLE XVI.

Le présent traité sera exécutoire dix jours après sa publication, en conformité des formules prescrites par les lois des hautes parties contractantes. Chacune des hautes parties contractantes pourra en tout temps mettre fin au traité en donnant à l'autre un avis d'au plus un an et d'au moins six mois.

Le traité sera ratifié, et les ratifications seront échangées à Londres, sous six mois de la date de la signature.

En foi de quoi les plénipotentiaires respectifs ont signé le présent traité, et y ont apposé le cachet de leurs armes.

[L.S.] HERBERT HARRISON.

[L.S.] ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

Et attendu que les ratifications du dit traité ont été échangées à Londres, le treizième jour de février mil neuf cent six,—

C'est pourquoi Sa Majesté, par et de l'avis de son Conseil privé, et en vertu de l'autorité que lui confèrent les dits actes cités, ordonne et il est par le présent ordonné, que le et après le vingt-cinquième jour de mai mil neuf cent six, les dits actes s'appliqueront dans le cas de la République de Nicaragua, par et en vertu du dit traité.

Pourvu, toujours, et il est par le présent ordonné que l'opération des dits actes sera suspendue dans la Puissance du Canada, tant que les dispositions de l'acte canadien de 1886 intitulé "Acte concernant l'extradition des criminels fugitifs," y resteront en vigueur, et pas plus longtemps.

A. W. FITZROY.

Circulaire.

DOWNING STREET,

1er juin 1906.

MONSIEUR,—Tout récemment on a attiré mon attention à certaines questions qui ont été soulevées à l'égard de la position et du traitement des consuls étrangers dans les colonies, et, après en avoir communiqué avec le Secrétaire d'Etat pour les Affaires étrangères, j'ai cru bon de poser certains principes pour la conduite des gouverneurs. Bien entendu qu'on ne s'attend pas qu'ils soient appliqués aux colonies où une pratique différente a été établie, mais je désire que les gouverneurs coloniaux s'en servent comme guide dans les occasions dans lesquelles ils peuvent être appliqués sans friction inutile.

2. Des instructions générales aux gouverneurs coloniaux concernant la position et le traitement des consuls n'ont pas été émises depuis près de quarante ans, alors qu'il a été énoncé que si dans une colonie quelconque la coutume a été de donner comme matière de courtoisie préséance au corps consulaire étranger, on ne fera pas de changement en vue d'assimiler la pratique à celle en force dans ce pays-ci sans en référer au Secrétaire d'Etat. On a observé, toutefois, que les consuls étrangers en Angleterre n'ont pas de titre à la préséance, et sont traités comme les autres résidents étrangers en Angleterre. Je ferai observer, maintenant, que ce principe s'étend également aux colonies, et il n'est pas à désirer que des instructions soient données tendant à reconnaître le principe d'accorder préséance au corps consulaire étranger. En 1863, le corps consulaire à Sydney réclama le privilège d'entrée au lever du gouverneur à l'occasion de l'anniversaire de la naissance du Souverain, et il fut alors énoncé que la règle de la cour de Sa Majesté était que les consuls généraux et les consuls comme tels n'avaient pas de caractère diplomatique et n'étaient pas des visiteurs à la cour, et tombaient dans la catégorie des résidents étrangers en Angleterre et se rendaient au lever général et étaient présentés dans le cercle général.

3. Quant aux privilèges et exemptions, il fut décidé, touchant une prétention du consul général espagnol à Brisbane en 1856, qu'il n'existait pas de privilèges auxquels les consuls étrangers avaient strictement ou légalement droit, dans la Grande-Bretagne ou dans aucune de ses colonies ; que la loi anglaise les considérait soumis à la juridiction civile et criminelle, ne leur donnait pas, ni ne leur accordait aucun privilège que ce soit, et à peine les reconnaissait-elle dans leur caractère officiel, et que ces privilèges ou exemptions dont ils jouissaient leur étaient accordés soit par l'Exécutif ou les autorités locales à leur discrétion, ou par coutume et courtoisie.

4. Cette décision doit être soigneusement gardée en vue, car il serait très embarrassant si, dans les colonies britanniques, on permettait aux consuls des puissances étrangères d'acquérir un droit aux privilèges ou immunités d'agents diplomatiques, ou de prendre sous tout autre rapport un pied différent de ce qu'ils ont dans le royaume-uni. Des expériences récentes ont fait voir que ce danger possible est cependant réel, et qu'on doit strictement s'en préserver.

5. Dans la correspondance qui a donné lieu à la présente dépêche, le gouvernement de Sa Majesté a été prié de donner des instructions touchant différents points, et je les traite dans l'ordre qu'ils ont été soulevés :

(a) Quant aux cérémonies et les courtoisies cérémonieuses. Dès le début de cette dépêche l'on voit clairement que les consuls n'ont pas droit d'être reçus spécialement aux fonctions publiques, et qu'on ne doit pas leur donner préséance sur les fonctionnaires locaux. A ce sujet, je ferai observer que même si la chose n'était pas d'ailleurs inadmissible, il serait impossible de poser des règles générales pour la préséance sur les fonctionnaires, vu la plus ou moindre grande importance que les diverses colonies attachent à une fonction qui est nominale la même, et si des règles sévères étaient posées dans chaque cas il s'ensuivrait de la part des consuls d'interminables réclamations fondées sur la pratique d'un autre pays qui serait plus favorable à leurs prétentions. Les remarques qui précèdent ne doivent pas, toutefois, empêcher le gouverneur de recevoir spécialement les consuls, comme corps, à certaines occasions telles que l'anniversaire de la naissance du Roi, ou à sa première arrivée dans la colonie, comme un acte de courtoisie et non comme un droit, si cette pratique, qui a été suivie au Cap depuis 1898, lui était imposée.

Quant aux visites, il a déjà été observé que les consuls généraux et les consuls ne sont pas des visiteurs de la cour, et il s'ensuit qu'ils ne "visitent" pas le gouverneur, qui est le représentant du Roi dans la colonie. S'ils se rendent auprès du gouverneur, en d'autre occasion que pour la transaction d'affaires consulaires, ils le font sur le même pied que tout autre habitant éminent de la colonie, et leur visite n'exige pas qu'elle soit formellement rendue de la part du gouverneur.

(b) Quant à la transaction des affaires publiques les consuls ne doivent jamais se rendre auprès des gouvernements locaux sauf pour matières concernant le bien-être personnel de leurs compatriotes comme individus, et s'ils font quelques représentations sur des questions politiques en général, ils doivent en tous les cas les communiquer à leurs gouvernements respectifs, afin qu'elles soient traitées par la voie diplomatique voulue. Les seules fonctions légitimes d'un consul étranger relativement à une administration coloniale sont celles qui concernent le bien-être de leurs nationaux comme individus, et, en conséquence, toutes questions concernant le commerce qui pourraient déranger la politique commerciale de la colonie tomberaient dans la catégorie de celles qui doivent être discutées par la voie des bureaux des Affaires étrangères.

(c) D'après ce qui a déjà été dit, il s'ensuit qu'on ne doit pas faire de différence dans le traitement des consuls de carrière et les autres officiers consulaires.

(d) Quant à la pratique de nommer un consul général avec des consuls locaux subalternes, tous les officiers consulaires doivent être reconnus par les gouvernements locaux respectifs avant de pouvoir entrer en fonctions, bien que cette reconnaissance est retenue seulement dans le cas de quelque objection valide à la nomination. Le gouvernement de Sa Majesté ne voudrait pas s'immiscer dans les arrangements faits par des gouvernements étrangers pour l'exécution des devoirs consulaires, et si, par exemple, un gouvernement étranger nommait un consul général pour l'Afrique-Sud, il appartiendrait à ce fonctionnaire en vertu de son exequatur de communiquer (dans l'exercice de ses devoirs tels que définis plus haut) avec tous les gouverneurs dans l'Afrique-Sud, et si le même gouvernement nommait, en sus, un consul dans une colonie Sud-Africaine où le consul général ne réside pas, le gouvernement de Sa Majesté n'exigerait pas que des communications consulaires avec le gouverneur de cette colonie soient faites par la voie du consul local et non par le consul général, bien qu'il pourrait raisonnablement exiger que les communications reliées avec une colonie quelconque se fassent avec l'occupant d'un seul poste consulaire qui serait désigné par le gouvernement étranger intéressé.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, monsieur,
Votre très humble serviteur,

SA TRÈS EXCELLENTE MAJESTÉ LE ROI EN CONSEIL.

CONSIDÉRANT que par l'article 84, par. 1, de l'Acte de la marine marchande 1894, il est statué que lorsqu'il appert à Sa Majesté le Roi en conseil que les règlements de tonnage du dit acte ont été adoptés par un pays étranger, et y sont en force, Sa Majesté en

conseil pourra ordonner que les navires du dit pays, seront, sans être remesurés dans les possessions de Sa Majesté, censés être du tonnage indiqué dans leurs certificats d'enregistrement ou autres papiers nationaux, de la même manière, au même degré et pour les mêmes fins que le tonnage indiqué dans le certificat d'enregistrement d'un navire britannique est censé être le tonnage de ce navire ;

Et considérant qu'il a été démontré à Sa Majesté en conseil que les règlements de tonnage du dit acte ont été adoptés par le gouvernement de Sa Majesté le roi d'Italie, et que ces règlements sont actuellement en vigueur dans le dit pays, étant devenus exécutoires le 10e jour de février 1906,

Et il plaît en outre à Sa Majesté d'ordonner que les arrêtés de feu Sa Majesté en conseil datés respectivement le 30e jour de septembre 1873, le 14e jour de février 1883, et le 23e jour de novembre 1893, soient et ils sont par le présent révoqués.

AU CHATEAU DE ST. JAMES.

Le 4e jour d'avril 1906.

PRÉSENTS :

LE LORD CHANCELIER	LE LORD DU SCEAU PRIVÉ
LE PREMIER MINISTRE	LE COMTE CARRINGTON
LE LORD PRÉSIDENT	M. SINCLAIR.

ATTENDU qu'il a plu à Sa Majesté, par sa commission datée le deuxième jour de mars 1906, de nommer et choisir le Lord Grand Chancelier de la Grande-Bretagne, le Premier Ministre et le Lord Président du Conseil, durant son absence du royaume, en pays étrangers, à l'effet de tenir au nom de Sa Majesté, son Conseil privé, et d'y signifier l'approbation de Sa Majesté de toutes matières ou choses à l'égard desquelles ils seraient ainsi autorisés par écrit sous le seing de Sa Majesté, et d'agir en toutes choses auxquelles les autorise la dite commission en la manière susdite ;

Et attendu que l'article 418 de l'Acte de la marine marchande de 1894, Sa Majesté est autorisée de temps à autre, sur la recommandation conjointe de l'Amirauté et de la Chambre de Commerce par arrêté en conseil d'établir des règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté d'ordonner que les règlements contenus dans la première annexe du dit arrêté (étant des règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer) soient substitués aux règlements à cet effet alors en force ;

Et attendu que l'article 10 des dits règlements pourvoit aux feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche ;

Et attendu que par des arrêtés en conseil datés respectivement le 30e jour de décembre 1884, et le 24e jour de juin 1885, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté, de décréter entre autres choses, que les dits règlements contenus dans l'article 10 comme susdit, seraient modifiés quant aux bateaux de pêche britanniques, tel que mentionné dans les dits arrêtés respectivement ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 27e jour de novembre 1896, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté de décréter que dès et à compter du 1er jour de juillet 1897, les dits règlements annexés au dit arrêté du 11 août 1884, sauf le dit article numéro 10 des dits règlements, soient annulés, et que les règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer contenus dans la première annexe du dit arrêté du 27e jour de novembre 1896 lui soient substitués (à l'exception susdite), et devien-

dront en vigueur à l'égard des bateaux de pêche britanniques ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 23e jour d'octobre 1905, il a plu à Sa Majesté de décréter que les dits règlements contenus dans le dit article 10 des dits règlements du 11e jour d'août 1884, soient modifiés tel que mentionné dans le dit arrêté ;

Et attendu que l'Amirauté et la Chambre de Commerce ont conjointement recommandé à Sa Majesté qu'en ce qui concerne les navires et bateaux britanniques les dispositions ci-après énoncées concernant les feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche soient substitués aux dispositions du dit article 10 dans l'annexe du dit arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, tel que modifié comme susdit ;

Et attendu que les dispositions de l'article un de l'Acte des règles de publication, 1893, ont été remplies,—

Sachez donc que le Lord Chancelier, le Premier Ministre, et le Lord Président, étant autorisés à cet effet par écrit sous le seing de Sa Majesté, en vertu des pouvoirs conférés à Sa Majesté par le dit acte précité, et par et avec l'avis de Son Conseil privé, décrètent par le présent, au nom de Sa Majesté, que dès et à compter du 1er jour de mai 1906, les dispositions du dit article 10 de l'annexe du dit arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, ainsi que les règlements annexés aux dits arrêtés en conseil du 30e jour de décembre 1884, du 24e jour de juin 1885, et du 23e jour d'octobre 1905, en tant qu'ils concernent les dispositions du dit article 10, seront annulés, et les dispositions relatives aux feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche contenues dans l'annexe du présent leur seront substitués et deviendront en vigueur en ce qui concerne des navires et bateaux britanniques qui y sont mentionnés.

ANNEXE.

ART. 9.—Les vaisseaux de pêche et bateaux de pêche, lorsqu'ils sont en marche, et qu'ils ne sont pas obligés par le présent article de porter ou montrer les feux ci-après spécifiés, porteront ou montreront les feux prescrits pour les vaisseaux de leur tonnage en marche.

(a) Les bateaux non pontés, par lesquels on entend les bateaux qui ne sont pas protégés contre l'entrée de l'eau au moyen d'un pont continu, lorsque la nuit ils sont occupés à pêcher avec des engins tendus à moins de 150 pieds horizontalement en mer, porteront un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon.

Les bateaux non pontés, lorsque la nuit ils pêchent avec des engins tendus à plus de 150 pieds horizontalement en mer, porteront un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon, et de plus, en approchant d'autres vaisseaux, ou que d'autres vaisseaux s'en approchent, montreront un deuxième feu blanc placé au moins 3 pieds plus bas que le premier feu, et à une distance horizontale d'au moins 5 pieds dans la direction dans laquelle est attaché l'engin de pêche tendu.

nage brut, ne seront pas obligés de porter le plus bas de ces deux feux ; toutefois, s'ils ne le portent pas ils montreront dans la même position (dans la direction du filet ou de l'engin) un feu blanc, visible à une distance d'au moins un mille marin, à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux.

- (c) Les vaisseaux et bateaux, sauf les bateaux non pontés tels que définie à la subdivision (a), pêchant à la ligne avec leurs lignes tendues et attachés à leurs lignes ou les retirant, et lorsqu'ils ne sont pas ancrés ou stationnaires dans le sens de la subdivision (h), porteront les mêmes feux que les vaisseaux pêchant aux filets traînants. Lorsqu'ils jettent leurs lignes ou pêchent avec des lignes traînantes, ils porteront les feux prescrits pour les vaisseaux à vapeur ou à voiles en marche respectivement.

Dans la Méditerranée et dans les mers bordant les côtes du Japon et de la Corée, les vaisseaux de pêche à voiles de moins de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut, ne seront pas obligés de porter le plus bas de ces deux feux ; toutefois, s'ils ne le portent pas, ils devront montrer dans la même position (dans la direction des lignes), un feu blanc, visible à une distance d'au moins un mille marin à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, ou en les approchant.

- (d) Les vaisseaux pêchant aux filets traînants, c'est-à-dire traînant un appareil au fond de la mer—

1. S'ils sont à vapeur, porteront dans la même position que le feu blanc mentionné à l'article 2 (a) un fanal tricolore, construit et fixé de manière à montrer un feu blanc depuis l'avant jusqu'à deux quarts de chaque côté, et un feu vert et un feu rouge sur un arc horizontal de deux quarts de chaque côté jusqu'à deux quarts sur l'arrière du travers à tribord et bâbord respectivement ; et pas moins de 6 ni plus de 12 pieds au-dessous du fanal tricolore un feu blanc dans un fanal construit de manière à projeter une lumière uniforme et non interrompue visible de tous les points de l'horizon.

2. S'ils sont à voiles, ils porteront un feu blanc dans un fanal, construit de manière à projeter une lumière uniforme et non interrompue tout autour de l'horizon, et à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, ou en les approchant, ils montreront aussi, là où il sera le mieux aperçu, un feu blanc à éclats ou une torche en temps suffisant pour éviter l'abordage.

Tous les feux mentionnés à la subdivision (d) 1 et 2 seront visibles à une distance d'au moins 2 milles.

- (e) Les dragues aux huîtres et autres vaisseaux pêchant à la drague porteront et montreront les mêmes feux que les bateaux pêchant aux filets traînants.
- (f) Les vaisseaux et bateaux de pêche pourront en tout temps employer un feu à éclats en sus des feux que le présent article les oblige de porter et montrer, et ils pourront aussi se servir de feux portatifs.
- (g) Chaque vaisseau de pêche et chaque bateau de pêche de moins de 150 pieds de longueur, à l'ancre, pourra montrer un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon à une distance d'un mille au moins.

Chaque vaisseau de pêche de 150 pieds de longueur ou plus, à l'ancre, montrera un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon, à une distance d'au moins un mille, et montrera un deuxième feu tel que prescrit pour les vaisseaux de cette longueur par l'article 11.

Si un tel vaisseau, qu'il ait moins de 150 pieds de longueur, ou ait 150 pieds de longueur ou plus, est attaché à un filet ou autre engin de pêche, il montrera, à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, un autre feu blanc placé 3 pieds au moins plus bas que le feu de mouillage, et à une distance horizontale d'au moins 5 pieds dans la direction du filet ou engin.

- (h) Si un vaisseau qui fait la pêche devient stationnaire par suite de ce que son engin de pêche s'est accroché à une roche ou à quelque autre obstacle, le jour il descendra l'amarque prescrit par la subdivision (k), la nuit il montrera le feu ou les feux prescrits pour un vaisseau à l'ancre ; et dans les temps de brume, de brouillard, de neige ou de grosses pluies il fera le signal prescrit pour un vaisseau à l'ancre. (Voir subdivision (d) et le dernier paragraphe de l'article 15.)

- (i) Dans les temps de brume, de brouillard, de neige ou de grosses pluies, les vaisseaux à filets traînants attachés à des filets, et les vaisseaux pêchant à la traînée, à la drague, ou avec toute espèce d'autres filets traînants, ou à la ligne avec leurs lignes tendues, devront, s'ils sont de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut ou plus, respectivement, à des intervalles d'une minute au plus, sonner le sifflet ou la sirène, s'ils sont à vapeur, ou faire résonner le cornet s'ils sont à voiles ; chaque son sera suivi d'un coup de cloche. Les vaisseaux de pêche et les bateaux de moins de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut ne seront pas obligés de donner les signaux ci-dessus, mais sinon, ils feront d'autres signaux à des intervalles d'au moins une minute.

- (k) Tous les vaisseaux ou bateaux pêchant aux filets ou lignes ou dragues, en marche, le jour indiqueront leur occupation à un vaisseau approchant, en déployant un panier ou autre bon signal où il sera le mieux aperçu. Si des vaisseaux ou bateaux à l'ancre ont leurs engins tendus, ils montreront à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux le même signal du côté où peuvent passer ces vaisseaux.

Les vaisseaux que le présent article oblige de porter ou de montrer les feux ci-dessus décrits, ne seront pas obligés de porter les feux prescrits par l'article 4 (a) et le dernier paragraphe de l'article 11.

Le présent article se lira et sera interprété comme formant partie des règlements contenus dans l'annexe I de l'arrêté en conseil rendu le 27e jour de novembre 1896, en vertu de l'article 418 de l'Acte de la marine marchande de 1894, et comme s'il formait partie de ces mêmes règlements, et était numéroté 9 des articles les contenant. 1-3

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

RÈGLE SPÉCIALE DU SÉNAT.

Lorsqu'un bill confirmant un bail, une convention ou toute autre espèce de contrat, sera reçu ou présenté au Sénat, ce bail, cette convention ou cette autre espèce de contrat sera exposé dans un appendice ou autrement.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Greffier du Sénat.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

Telles que révisées et mises en vigueur le 22 mars 1906.

Tout pétitionnaire en divorce doit annoncer son intention de demander un bill de divorce, par un avis spécifiant contre qui et pour quelle cause le divorce sera demandé; il fait insérer cet avis, pendant trois mois au moins avant la prise en considération par le comité des divorces de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux—du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de sa séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Saskatchewan, l'Alberta, la Colombie-Britannique ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province; et à défaut de ce nombre de journaux, l'avis doit se publier dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins.

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba, les insertions doivent se faire dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district; autrement, elles se font en anglais et en français au même journal. Si l'avis donné pour une session expire trop tard pour qu'il puisse être statué sur la pétition pendant cette session, la pétition pourra être présentée et accueillie à la session suivante, sans nouvelle publication d'avis.

Une copie de cet avis et une copie de la pétition qui sera présentée doit, à la diligence du pétitionnaire et au moins deux mois avant la prise en considération de la pétition par le comité, être signifiée en main propre si cela est possible, à la personne contre laquelle le divorce sera demandé, ci-après appelée "partie défenderesse".

Si la résidence de la partie défenderesse n'est pas connue, ou que la remise de l'avis ne peut être faite en ses mains, s'il est prouvé, d'une manière jugée satisfaisante par le comité, que tous les efforts raisonnables ont été faits pour opérer la signification en main propre, et, en cas d'inutilité de ces efforts, pour porter l'avis et la pétition à la connaissance de la partie défenderesse, ces diligences peuvent être tenues pour une suffisante notification.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est recevable après l'expiration des soixante premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce doit être écrite lisiblement et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énonce sommairement le fait du mariage, en indiquant les noms au long, l'âge et l'état des parties, en quel temps, en quel lieu et par qui a été faite la célébration; le domicile et la résidence de chacune des parties à l'époque du mariage, leur domicile conjugal, leur résidence et tout changement qui en aurait eu lieu; les faits essentiels sur lesquels est fondée la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé.

Les allégations de la pétition doivent être appuyées d'une déclaration du pétitionnaire, faite conformément à l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893.

La copie de la pétition signifiée à la partie défenderesse portera en endos ou en annexe les renseignements suivants :

(1) La résidence du pétitionnaire à l'époque de la signification.

(2) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour le pétitionnaire puissent être délivrés.

(3) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour le pétitionnaire.

(4) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(5) Si la partie défenderesse veut s'opposer à la demande en divorce et être entendue par le comité des divorces du Sénat, elle doit adresser un avis à cet effet au greffier du Sénat aux édifices du Parlement, Ottawa, dans les deux mois de la signification faite à la partie défenderesse et donner dans cet avis au greffier du Sénat :

(a) La résidence de la partie défenderesse à l'époque de l'envoi de l'avis.

(b) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour la partie défenderesse puissent être délivrés.

(c) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour la partie défenderesse.

(d) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(6) Si la partie défenderesse ne notifie pas ainsi le greffier du Sénat, la pétition peut être prise en considération, et un bill de divorce basé sur cette pétition peut suivre son cours sans autre avis à la partie défenderesse.

(7) Lorsque la pétition est présentée par un mari pour obtenir le divorce contre sa femme, si celle-ci fait voir au comité d'une manière satisfaisante qu'elle peut opposer et qu'elle est prête à produire sous serment de bons moyens de défense contre les accusations portées dans la pétition, et qu'elle n'a pas l'argent nécessaire pour faire valoir ces moyens, le comité peut rendre un ordre que son mari ait à lui fournir la somme nécessaires pour qu'elle puisse présenter sa défense en retenant les services d'un conseil, payer ses frais de voyage et de séjour et ceux des témoins assignés de sa part à Ottawa.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est prise en considération par le comité que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $210.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation au Sénat doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis et d'une déclaration établissant qu'une copie de l'avis de la pétition a été signifiée.

Une copie de toute pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce, ou relative à quelque demande de divorce, et une copie de tous documents et papiers accompagnant cette pétition, ou à produire devant le comité, devra être fournie par la personne au nom de laquelle la pétition, les documents ou les papiers seront présentés ou produits.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Greffier du Sénat.

AVIS est donné par le présent que Arthur Leon McPherson, du township de Stukely, dans le district de Bedford, dans la province de Québec, cultivateur, demandera au parlement du Canada, à sa prochaine session, un bill de divorce d'avec son épouse Dame Annie Booth, du township de Bolton, partie est, dans le dit district de Bedford, pour cause d'adultère et de bigamie.

OTTAWA, SATURDAY, JULY 21, 1906.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

APPOINTMENTS.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE OF CANADA.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL has been pleased to make the following appointment, viz. :—

OTTAWA, 19th July, 1906.

The Honourable CHARLES FITZPATRICK, Chief Justice of Canada: to be the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General.

DESPATCHES, Etc.

Copy—Canada.
No. 285.

From Lord Elgin to Lord Grey.

DOWNING STREET,
7th July, 1906.

MY LORD,—As requested in Your Lordship's despatch of 25th May, I have submitted to His Majesty the Joint Address to the King from the Senate and House of Commons of Canada expressing their loyalty and devotion to His Majesty and praying that His Majesty and Her Majesty the Queen will be graciously pleased to visit the Dominion.

His Majesty has been pleased to receive the Address very graciously.

I need scarcely remind Your Lordship of two circumstances which must not be overlooked in the consideration of these proposals. In the first place the current business of the Empire, which is continuous and incessant, imposes a heavy tax on the time and strength of its Sovereign,—and it is well known that the absence of His Majesty from this country for any length of time is difficult, if not impossible, except under very definite limitations and restrictions—even when considerations of health and the need for comparative rest render it expedient.

In the second place, it must be remembered that there are practically no limits, within the habitable globe, to the distances which must be travelled to reach all parts of the British Empire, and that it would be difficult for the King to visit one important part of His Dominions and decline to visit another.

It was no doubt these two facts which influenced Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, with wise foresight, to determine that Her eldest son should, in his youth, visit the various Colonies and Possessions of the Empire of which he was one day to become the Ruler; and accordingly His Majesty, while Prince of Wales, paid the visit to Canada to which reference is made in this Address.

Following the same counsels the present Prince of Wales, and other Members of the Royal Family, have been untiring in visiting even the most distant parts of the Empire, and have always been received as representatives of His Majesty with the utmost tenderness and loyalty.

I am commanded by His Majesty to make mention of these considerations because He would wish His loyal subjects in Canada and especially the Senate and House of Commons to understand that He is deeply touched and gratified by the terms of their Address and by the desire expressed that with Her Majesty The Queen He should again visit the Dominion. His Majesty retains a vivid recollection, even after the lapse of many years, of His former visit, of the beauties and interest of the country and of the enthusiasm and loyalty which everywhere greeted Him. He is well aware that it would be difficult to recognize the features of Canada He then learned to know in the Great Dominion, whose rapid growth in all that contributes to the development and prosperity of a nation has been so astonishing, and no greater triumph could be offered to the Head of any Empire than to be Himself the witness of a progress so remarkable.

In spite, however, of the many and strong inducements which prompt Him to gratify the loyal wishes of His Canadian subjects, I am to say that the King feels unable at present to entertain the idea of a journey to Canada. Whether the difficulties suggested in an early portion of this despatch, and others which I need not particularise, could be overcome, it is premature to discuss now. But His Majesty desires that Your Lordship should make it known to all that He is prevented by the necessities of His position and not by any lack of appreciation of the loyalty and devotion of the people of Canada to His Throne and Person.

I have, etc.,

WHEREAS by certain Letters Patent bearing even date herewith We have constituted, ordered, and declared that there shall be a Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief (hereinafter called Our said Governor-General) in and over Our Dominion of Canada (hereinafter called Our said Dominion), And We have thereby authorized and commanded Our said Governor-General to do and execute in due manner all things that shall belong to his said office, and to the trust We have reposed in him, according to the several powers and authorities granted or appointed him by virtue of the said Letters Patent and of such Commission as may be issued to him under Our Sign Manual and Signet, and according to such Instructions as may from time to time be given to him, under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or by Our Order in Our Privy Council, or by Us through One of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and to such Laws as are or shall hereafter be in force in Our said Dominion: Now, therefore, We do, by these Our Instructions under Our Sign Manual and Signet, declare Our pleasure to be as follows:—

I. Our said Governor-General for the time being shall, with all due solemnity, cause Our Commission, under Our Sign Manual and Signet, appointing Our said Governor-General for the time being, to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice for the time being, or other Judge of the Supreme Court of Our said Dominion, and of the members of the Privy Council in Our said Dominion.

Our said Governor-General, and every other Officer appointed to administer the Government of Our said Dominion, shall take the Oath of Allegiance in the form provided by an Act passed in the Session holden in the thirty-first and thirty-second years of the Reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria intituled "An Act to Amend the Law relating to Promissory Oaths"; and likewise he or they shall take the usual Oath for the due execution of the Office of Our Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our said Dominion, and for the due and impartial administration of justice; which Oaths the said Chief Justice for the time being of Our said Dominion, or, in his absence, or in the event of his being otherwise incapacitated, any Judge of the Supreme Court of Our said Dominion shall, and he is hereby required to tender and administer unto him or them.

II. And We do authorize and require Our said Governor-General from time to time, by himself or by any other person to be authorized by him in that behalf, to administer to all and to every persons or person, as he shall think fit, who shall hold any office or place of trust or profit in Our said Dominion, the said Oath of Allegiance, together with such other Oath or Oaths as may from time to time be prescribed by any Laws or Statutes in that behalf made and provided.

III. And We do require Our said Governor-General to communicate forthwith to the Privy Council for Our said Dominion these Our Instructions, and likewise all such others, from time to time, as he shall find convenient for Our service to be imparted to them.

IV. Our said Governor-General is to take care that all Laws assented to by him in Our name, or reserved for the signification of Our pleasure thereon, shall, when transmitted by him, be fairly abstracted in the margins, and be accompanied, in such cases as may seem to him necessary, with such explanatory observations as may be required to exhibit the reasons and occasions for proposing such Laws; and he shall also transmit fair copies of the Journals and Minutes of the proceedings of the Parliament of Our said Dominion, which he is to require from the clerks, or other proper officers in that behalf, of the said Parliament.

V. And We do further authorize and empower Our said Governor-General, as he shall see occasion, in Our name and on Our behalf, when any crime or offence against the Laws of Our said Dominion has been committed for which the offender may be tried therein, to grant a pardon to any accomplice, in such crime or offence, who shall give such information as shall lead to the conviction of the principal offender, or of any one of such offenders if more than one; and further, to grant to any offender convicted of any such crime or offence in any Court, or before any Judge, Justice, or Magistrate, within Our said Dominion, a pardon, either free or subject to lawful conditions, or any respite of the execution of the sentence of any such offender, for such period as to Our said Governor-General may seem fit, and to remit any fines, penalties, or forfeitures which may become due and payable to Us. Provided always, that Our said Governor-General shall not in any case, except where the offence has been of a political nature, make it a condition of any pardon or remission of sentence that the offender shall be banished from or shall absent himself from Our said Dominion. And We do hereby direct and enjoin that Our said Governor-General shall not pardon or reprieve any such offender without first receiving in capital cases the advice of the Privy Council for Our said Dominion, and in other cases the advice of one, at least, of his Ministers; and in any case in which such pardon or reprieve might directly affect the interests of Our Empire, or of any country or place beyond the jurisdiction of the Government of Our said Dominion, Our said Governor-General shall, before deciding as to either pardon or reprieve, take those interests specially into his own personal consideration in conjunction with such advice as aforesaid.

VI. And whereas great prejudice may happen to Our service and to the security of Our said Dominion by the absence of Our said Governor-General, he shall not, upon any pretence whatever, quit Our said Dominion without having first obtained leave from Us for so doing under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the nineteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five between His Majesty and the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :—

*Treaty between the United Kingdom and the Republic of

Provided that the surrender shall be made only when, in the case of a person accused, the commission of the crime shall be so established as that the laws of the country where the fugitive or person so accused shall be found would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had been there committed ; and, in the case of a person alleged to have been convicted, on such evidence as, according to the laws of the country where he is found, would prove that he had been convicted.

Extradition shall not be granted if, according to the laws of either country, the maximum punishment for the offence charged is imprisonment for less than one year.

ARTICLE III.

No Nicaraguan shall be delivered up by the Government of Nicaragua to the Government of the United Kingdom, and no subject of the United Kingdom shall be delivered up by the Government thereof to the Government of Nicaragua.

ARTICLE IV.

The extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, should be under examination for any crime in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until the conclusion of the trial and the full execution of any punishment awarded to him.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place. This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents, or duly recognized Consuls General of the High Contracting Parties respectively.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by a sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A sentence passed in contumaciam is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent Magistrate, who is to examine him and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE X.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime has been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XI.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XII.

If sufficient evidence for extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered and his conveyance till placed on board ship; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of His Britannic Majesty. The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal, who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions, shall be made to the Governor or Chief authority of such Colony or possession by the chief Consular officer of Nicaragua in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of (subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty) by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

His Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Nicaraguan criminals who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of His Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year, and not less than six months.

It shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in London within the period of six months from the date of signature.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and affixed thereto their respective seals.

(L.S.) HERBERT HARRISON.
(L.S.) ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at London on the thirteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and six:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the 25th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and six, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the Republic of Nicaragua, under and in accordance with the said Treaty:

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

SUBSTANCE OF RULES OF THE SENATE RELATING TO NOTICES AND APPLICATIONS FOR BILLS OF DIVORCE.

As Revised and brought in force 22nd March, 1906.

Every applicant for a Bill of Divorce shall give notice of his or her intended application, and shall specify therein from whom and for what cause such divorce is sought, and shall cause such notice to be published during at least three months before the consideration by the Committee on Divorce of his or her petition for the said Bill, in the Canada Gazette and in two newspapers published in the district in Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia or the Northwest Territories, or in the county or union of counties in other provinces, wherein such applicant usually resided at the time of the separation of the parties; but if the requisite number of papers cannot be found therein, then in an adjoining district or county or union of counties.

Notices given in the Provinces of Quebec and Manitoba are to be published in one English and one French newspaper, if there be such newspapers published in the district, but otherwise shall be published in one newspaper in both languages. If a notice given for any session of Parliament is not completed in time to allow the petition to be dealt with during that session, the petition may be presented and dealt with during the next ensuing session, without any further publication of such notice.

A copy of the said notice and a copy of the petition to be presented shall, at the instance of the applicant, and not less than two months before the consideration by the Committee of the petition, be served personally, when that can be done, on the person from whom the divorce is sought, who is hereinafter called "the respondent."

If the residence of the respondent is not known or personal service cannot be effected, then, if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Committee that all reasonable efforts have been made to effect personal service, and, if unsuccessful, to bring such notice and petition to the knowledge of the respondent, what has been done may be deemed and taken by the Committee as sufficient service.

No petition for a bill of divorce shall be presented to the Senate after the first sixty days of the Session.

The petition of an applicant for bill for divorce must be fairly written and must be signed by the petitioner, and should briefly set forth the marriage, the names in full of the parties thereto, their ages and occupations, when, where and by whom the ceremony was performed, the domicile and residence of each of the parties at the time of the marriage, their matrimonial domicile, residence, and any change thereof, the material facts upon which the petitioner relies as the grounds on which relief is asked, and the nature of the relief prayed for.

The petition should also negative connivance at, or condonation of the wrong complained of and collusion in the application for divorce.

The allegations of the petition must be verified by declaration of the petitioner, under The Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

The copy of the petition served upon the respondent shall have endorsed thereon, or appended thereto, the following information:—

- (1) The petitioner's residence at the time of service.
- (2) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the petitioner may be delivered.
- (3) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the petitioner.

(4) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa, upon whom all notices and papers may be served.

(5) That if the respondent desires to oppose the granting of the divorce and to be heard by the Senate Committee on Divorce, the respondent must send a notice to that effect to the Clerk of the Senate at the Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, within two months from the date of service upon the respondent, and must in the notice to the Clerk of the Senate give:—

(a) The respondent's residence at the time of sending such notice.

(b) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the respondent may be delivered.

(c) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the respondent.

(d) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa upon whom all notices and papers may be served.

(6) That, if the respondent does not so notify the Clerk of the Senate, the petition may be considered, and a bill of divorce founded thereon may be passed, without any further notice to the respondent.

(7) When the petition is one by a husband for a divorce from his wife, that, if the wife shows to the satisfaction of the Senate Committee on Divorce that she has, and is prepared to establish upon oath, a good defence to the charges made by the petition, and that she has not sufficient money to defend herself, the Committee may make an order that her husband shall provide her with the necessary means to sustain her defence, including the cost of retaining Counsel and the travelling and living expenses of herself and of witnesses summoned to Ottawa on her behalf.

No petition for a bill of Divorce shall be considered by the Committee unless the applicant has paid into the hands of the Clerk of the Senate the sum of two hundred and ten dollars, ($210.)

The petition when presented to the Senate shall be accompanied by the evidence of the publication of the notice, and by declaration in evidence of the service of a copy of the notice and of a copy of the petition.

A copy of every petition for a Bill of Divorce, or relating to any matter arising out of an application for divorce, and of every document and paper accompanying such petition or produced in evidence before the Committee, shall be furnished to the Committee by the person on whose behalf the petition, document or paper is presented or produced.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Clerk of the Senate.

DEPÊCHES, Etc.

Copie—Canada.
No 285.

Lord Elgin à Lord Grey.

DOWNING STREET,
7 juillet 1906.

MILORD,—Conformément à la dépêche de Votre Seigneurie du 25 mai, j'ai soumis à Sa Majesté l'Adresse que le Sénat et la Chambre des Communes du Canada ont conjointement envoyée au Roi, exprimant leur loyauté et leur dévouement à Sa Majesté et faisant le vœu que Leurs Majestés le Roi et la Reine veuillent bien visiter le Dominion.

Sa Majesté a reçu l'Adresse très gracieusement.

Inutile de rappeler à Votre Seigneurie les deux circonstances qu'il ne faut pas négliger dans la considération de ces propositions. En premier lieu—la besogne ordinaire de l'Empire, qui est continue et incessante, est une lourde tâche pour le temps et les forces de son Souverain,—et il est bien connu qu'il est difficile, sinon impossible, que Sa Majesté s'absente de ce pays, sauf dans certaines limites et restrictions bien définies—même quand des considérations de santé et le besoin de repos le rendent expédient.

En second lieu, il faut se rappeler que pratiquement il n'existe pas de limite aux distances qu'il faut franchir pour atteindre toutes les parties de l'Empire britannique, et que le Roi pourrait difficilement visiter une importante partie de ses possessions et refuser d'en visiter une autre.

Ces deux raisons ont indubitablement influencé feu Sa Majesté la Reine Victoria, à décider, avec une sage prévoyance, que son fils aîné visiterait dans sa jeunesse, les diverses colonies et possessions de l'Empire qu'il devait un jour gouverner ; et conséquemment, Sa Majesté, en sa qualité de Prince de Galles, fit la visite au Canada que mentionne la présente Adresse.

Suivant les mêmes conseils, le Prince de Galles d'aujourd'hui, et d'autres membres de la famille royale n'ont pas cessé de visiter même les parties les plus reculées de l'Empire, et ont toujours été reçus comme les représentants de Sa Majesté avec une tendresse et une loyauté sans bornes.

Je suis chargé par Sa Majesté de mentionner ces considérations, car il désire que ses loyaux sujets au Canada, et plus particulièrement le Sénat et la Chambre des Communes soient convaincus qu'il est profondément touché et très heureux des termes de leur Adresse et du désir qui y est exprimé que le Roi, accompagné de Sa Majesté la Reine, visite une seconde fois le Dominion. Sa Majesté a conservé un doux souvenir, même après de longues années, de sa première visite, des beautés et de l'intérêt du pays et de l'enthousiasme et de la loyauté qu'il a rencontrés partout. Il ne doute pas qu'il lui serait difficile de retrouver tous les aspects du Canada, qu'il a alors appris à connaître, dans le grand Dominion dont la rapide croissance dans tout ce qui contribue au développement et à la prospérité d'une nation a été si étonnante ; et il ne saurait être offert au chef d'aucun empire de plus grand triomphe que d'être lui-même le témoin d'un progrès si remarquable.

En dépit, cependant, de tous les puissants motifs qui le portent à se rendre aux vœux loyaux de ses sujets canadiens, je dois dire que le Roi se trouve dans l'impossibilité de songer à entreprendre un voyage au Canada, pour le présent. Il serait prématuré de discuter maintenant si les difficultés dont il a été question au commencement de cette dépêche, et d'autres que je ne crois pas devoir mentionner, pourraient être surmontées. Mais Sa Majesté désire que Votre Seigneurie fasse part à tous du fait qu'il est empêché par les obligations de sa position et non par défaut d'appréciation de la loyauté et du dévouement du peuple du Canada à son Trône et à sa Personne.

J'ai, etc.,

INSTRUCTIONS sous le seing manuel et le cachet du Roi pour le gouverneur-général et commandant en chef de la Puissance du Canada.

En date du 15 juin 1905.

EDOUARD R. & I.

INSTRUCTIONS à notre gouverneur-général et commandant en chef de notre Puissance du Canada, ou, en son absence, à notre lieutenant-gouverneur, ou à l'officier administrant le gouvernement de notre dite Puissance.

Donné à notre cour à St. James, ce quinzième jour de juin 1905, l'an cinquième de notre règne.

ATTENDU que, par lettres patentes portant la date de ces présentes, nous avons établi, ordonné et déclaré qu'il y aurait un gouverneur-général et commandant en chef (ci-après appelé notre dit gouverneur-général) de notre Puissance du Canada (ci-après appelée notre dite Puissance) ; et que par les dites lettres patentes nous avons donné autorité et ordonné à notre dit gouverneur-général de faire et exécuter dûment tout ce qui appartiendra à son mandat et à la charge que nous lui avons confiée, en se conformant aux pouvoirs et attributions qui lui sont ou seront donnés ou conférés par les dites lettres patentes et par telle commission qui pourra lui être décernée sous notre seing manuel et notre cachet, ainsi qu'aux instructions qu'il pourra recevoir de temps en temps sous nos seing manuel et cachet ; ou par notre ordre rendu en notre conseil privé, ou de nous par l'intermédiaire de l'un de nos principaux secrétaires d'Etat, comme aussi aux lois qui sont actuellement ou qui seront par la suite en vigueur dans notre dite Puissance ; à ces causes, par nos présentes instructions sous nos seing manuel et cachet, nous déclarons que nous voulons et nous plaît,

I. Que le dit gouverneur-général nommé par nous fasse lire et publier, avec toute la solennité convenable, notre dite commission sous nos seing manuel et cachet, nommant notre dit gouverneur-général, en présence du juge en chef ou de tout autre juge de la cour Suprême de notre dite Puissance, et des membres du Conseil privé de notre dite Puissance ;

Que notre dit gouverneur-général et tout autre officier chargé d'administrer le gouvernement de notre dite Puissance, prêtent le serment d'allégeance, selon la formule prévue par un acte passé en la session tenue dans les trente-unième et trente-deuxième années de notre règne, sous le titre : "An Act to amend the law relating to Promissory Oaths," (Acte pour amender la loi concernant les serments promissoires), comme aussi le serment accoutumé de bien et fidèlement remplir les devoirs de la charge de notre gouverneur-général et commandant en chef de notre dite Puissance du Canada, et de bien et impartialement administrer la justice : — lesquels serments le dit juge en chef de notre dite Puissance, ou, en son absence, ou dans le cas où il en serait autrement empêché, tout autre juge de la cour Suprême de notre dite Puissance, aura le devoir et est par les présentes requis de recevoir.

II. Et nous donnons pouvoir à notre dit gouverneur-général, et le requérons de faire prêter, à toute époque, soit par lui-même, soit par toute autre personne qu'il aura autorisée pour cet effet, à tout et chaque titulaire d'une charge ou fonction de confiance ou d'émoluments en notre dite Puissance, quand il le croira à propos, le dit serment d'allégeance, ainsi que tout autre serment ou tous autres serments qui pourraient être prescrits par des lois ou statuts spéciaux.

III. Et nous requérons notre dit gouverneur-général de communiquer sans délai au conseil privé de notre dite Puissance, nos présentes instructions, et pareillement toutes autres instructions ultérieures dont il jugera opportun, pour le bien de notre service, de lui faire part.

IV. Notre dit gouverneur-général aura soin que toutes les lois sanctionnées par lui en notre nom, ou réservées pour la signification de notre bon plaisir, portent, lorsqu'il nous les transmettra, de bons sommaires marginaux, et soient accompagnées, s'il y a lieu, d'observations explicatives sur les motifs et l'opportunité des dites lois ; et il devra aussi transmettre des copies conformes des journaux et procès-verbaux du Parlement de notre dite Puissance du Canada, copies qu'il se fera donner par les greffiers ou autres officiers qu'il appartiendra du dit Parlement.

V. Et nous donnons, de plus, autorité et pouvoir à notre dit gouverneur-général d'accorder, comme il le jugera à propos, en notre nom et de notre part, lorsqu'il aura été commis un crime pour lequel le coupable pourra être jugé dans notre dite Puissance, le pardon à tout complice qui n'aura pas pris part à la perpétration même de ce crime, s'il fait des révélations telles qu'elles conduisent à la conviction du coupable principal ; comme aussi d'accorder à tout individu reconnu coupable d'un crime dans une cour de justice, ou devant un juge, juge de paix ou magistrat, en notre dite Puissance, un pardon soit entier, soit soumis à des conditions licites, ou un sursis à l'exécution de son jugement pour le temps que notre dit gouverneur-général jugera convenable ; et de remettre toute amende ou confiscation qui pourrait avoir été prononcée à notre profit ; pourvu toutefois que notre dit gouverneur-général ne mette pas à ce pardon ou à cette remise de sentence, excepté dans le cas où l'offense serait de nature politique, la condition que le coupable sera banni ou sortira de notre dite Puissance. Et par les présentes nous mandons et enjoignons à notre dit gouverneur-général de ne faire grâce ou de n'accorder de sursis à aucun criminel qu'après avoir reçu dans les cas de sentence capitale, l'avis du Conseil privé de notre dite Puissance, et, dans les autres cas, l'avis d'un de ses ministres, au moins ; et si le pardon ou le sursis devait affecter directement les intérêts de notre empire ou ceux de tout autre pays ou lieu hors de la juridiction du gouvernement de notre dite Puissance, notre dit gouverneur-général, avant de prendre une décision, consultera sur ces intérêts son propre jugement, tout en considérant l'avis reçu comme il est dit ci-haut.

VI. Et attendu que notre service et la sécurité de notre dite Puissance pourraient souffrir grandement de l'absence de notre dit gouverneur-général, il ne quittera, sous aucun prétexte, notre dite Puissance, qu'au préalable il n'en ait obtenu de nous la permission, soit sous notre seing manuel et notre cachet, soit par l'intermédiaire d'un de nos principaux secrétaires d'Etat.

Circulaire.

DOWNING STREET,
2 juin 1906.

MONSIEUR,—J'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre, pour qu'elle soit publiée dans la colonie que vous administrez, copie d'un arrêté de Sa Majesté le Roi en conseil, daté le 11 de mai 1906, donnant effet au traité entre le Royaume-Uni et la République de Nicaragua, pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs, signé à Managua le 19e jour d'avril 1906.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, monsieur,

Votre très humble serviteur,

ELGIN.

du gouvernement du Canada.

ARRÊTÉ EN CONSEIL.

A LA COUR AU CHATEAU DE BUCKINGHAM,
LE 11e JOUR DE MAI 1906.

PRÉSENTS :

Sa Très Excellente Majesté le ROI,
Le lord Président,
Le lord Chambellan,
Lord Ribblesdale,
Mr. L. Harcourt.

CONSIDÉRANT que par les Actes d'extradition, 1870 à 1895, il est statué, entre autres choses, que chaque fois qu'un arrangement aura été conclu avec un Etat étranger au sujet de la reddition à cet Etat de criminels fugitifs, Sa Majesté pourra ordonner par arrêté en conseil que les dits actes s'appliqueront à l'égard de l'Etat étranger en question ; et que Sa Majesté pourra, par le même ou par un arrêté subséquent, restreindre l'opération du dit arrêté et limiter son application aux criminels fugitifs qui se trouvent ou sont supposés se trouver dans la partie des possessions de Sa Majesté spécifiées dans l'arrêté, et en rendre l'exécution sujette aux conditions, exceptions et restrictions qui pourront être jugées convenables.

Et considérant qu'un traité a été conclu le dix-neuvième jour d'avril, mil neuf cent cinq, entre Sa Majesté et le Président de la République de Nicaragua pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs, lequel est rédigé comme suit :—

Traité entre le Royaume-Uni et la République de Nicaragua pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs.

Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume-Uni de la Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande et des possessions britanniques au delà des mers, Empereur des Indes, et Son Excellence le Président de la République de Nicaragua, ayant décidé, de consentement mutuel, de conclure un traité pour l'extradition des criminels, ont nommé pour leurs plénipotentiaires :

Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume-Uni de la Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande et des possessions britanniques au delà des mers, Empereur des Indes : Herbert William Broadley Harrison, écuyer, Compagnon de l'Ordre Très distingué de Saint-Michel et Saint-George, chargé d'affaires de Sa Majesté près la République de Nicaragua ; et Son Excellence le Président de Nicaragua : le Docteur Adolfo Altamirano, ministre des Affaires étrangères ; lesquels, après s'être communiqués leurs pleins pouvoirs respectifs, trouvés en bonne et due forme, ont arrêté et conclu les articles suivants :—

ARTICLE I.

Les hautes parties contractantes s'engagent à se livrer réciproquement, dans les circonstances et sous les conditions prévues par le présent traité, les individus qui, poursuivis ou condamnés pour un crime ou délit commis sur le territoire de l'une des parties, seront trouvés sur le territoire de l'autre.

ARTICLE II.

Les crimes et délits pour lesquels l'extradition sera accordée sont les suivants :—

6. Attentat à la pudeur avec violence.
7. Séquestration et détention illégale.
8. Abandon, exposition ou détention d'enfants.

L'extradition aura également lieu à la discrétion de l'Etat requis au sujet de tout autre crime pour lequel, selon la loi des deux parties contractantes alors en vigueur, la demande peut être accordée.

Toutefois, l'extradition ne sera accordée dans le cas d'une personne accusée que si la perpétration du crime ou du délit est établie de telle façon que les lois du pays où le fugitif accusé sera trouvé justifieraient son arrestation et son emprisonnement si le crime ou le délit avait été commis dans ce pays ; et, dans le cas d'une personne prétendument condamnée, que sur la production d'une preuve qui, d'après les lois du pays où le fugitif a été trouvé, établirait suffisamment qu'il a été condamné.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si, d'après la loi de chaque pays, la punition maximum pour le délit imputé, est un emprisonnement pour moins d'un an.

ARTICLE III.

Nul nicaraguayen ne sera délivré par le gouvernement de Nicaragua au gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, et nul sujet du Royaume-Uni ne sera délivré par le gouvernement du Royaume-Uni au gouvernement de Nicaragua.

ARTICLE IV.

L'extradition ne sera pas accordée si l'individu réclamé de la part du gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, ou de la part du gouvernement de Nicaragua a déjà été jugé, acquitté ou puni, ou se trouve encore sous jugement dans le territoire du Royaume-Uni ou dans le territoire de Nicaragua, respectivement, pour le crime à raison duquel l'extradition est demandée.

Si la personne réclamée de la part du gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, ou de la part du gouvernement de Nicaragua, est en état de prévention, ou subit une peine après condamnation dans le territoire du Royaume-Uni, ou dans le territoire de Nicaragua, respectivement, pour un autre crime, son extradition sera différée jusqu'à la conclusion de son procès, et qu'elle ait purgé la peine qui lui aura été infligée.

ARTICLE V.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si, depuis la perpétration du crime, les poursuites ou la condamnation, la prescription des poursuites ou de la peine est acquise d'après les lois du pays auquel la demande est adressée.

ARTICLE VI.

Le criminel fugitif ne sera pas extradé si le délit pour lequel l'extradition est demandée est considéré comme un délit politique, ou si l'individu prouve que la demande d'extradition a été faite en réalité dans le but de le poursuivre ou de le punir pour un délit d'un caractère politique.

ARTICLE VII.

L'individu qui a été livré ne sera, en aucun cas, dans le pays auquel l'extradition a été accordée, maintenu en état d'arrestation ou poursuivi pour aucun crime ou faits autres que ceux qui ont motivé l'extradition. Cette stipulation n'est pas applicable aux crimes commis après l'extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

La demande d'extradition sera faite par l'entremise des agents diplomatiques, ou des consuls généraux accrédités des hautes parties contractantes respectivement.

La demande d'extradition d'un prévenu devra être accompagnée d'un mandat d'arrêt décerné par l'autorité compétente de l'Etat requérant, et des preuves qui, d'après les lois de l'endroit où le prévenu a été trouvé, justifieraient son arrestation si l'acte punissable y avait été commis.

Si la demande d'extradition concerne une personne déjà condamnée, elle doit être accompagnée de l'arrêt de condamnation qui a été rendu contre le coupable par le tribunal compétent de l'Etat requérant.

Un arrêt rendu par contumace ne sera pas considéré comme une condamnation, mais une personne ainsi condamnée pourra être traitée comme une personne accusée.

ARTICLE IX.

Si la demande d'extradition s'accorde avec les stipulations précédentes, les autorités compétentes de l'Etat requis procéderont à l'arrestation du fugitif.

Le prisonnier sera alors traduit devant un magistrat compétent, qui l'interrogera et conduira l'enquête préliminaire de l'affaire, de la même manière que si l'arrestation avait eu lieu pour un crime commis dans le même pays.

ARTICLE X.

L'extradition n'aura lieu qu'à l'expiration de quinze jours après l'arrestation, et alors seulement dans le cas où les preuves fournies auront été trouvées suffisantes, d'après les lois de l'Etat requis, soit pour justifier la mise en jugement du prisonnier, dans le cas où le crime aurait été commis sur le territoire du dit Etat, soit pour constater l'identité du prisonnier avec l'individu condamné par les tribunaux de l'Etat requérant.

ARTICLE XI.

Les autorités de l'Etat requis, quand elles procéderont à l'examen établi par les stipulations précédentes, devront admettre comme preuves entièrement valables les dépositions assermentées ou les affirmations faites dans l'autre Etat, ou les copies de ces pièces, de même que les mandats d'arrêt et les sentences rendues dans ce pays, pourvu que ces documents soient signés ou

certifiés par un juge, magistrat, ou officier de l'autre Etat, et soient rendus authentiques par le serment de quelque témoin, ou par le sceau officiel du ministre de la Justice, ou de quelque autre ministre d'Etat.

ARTICLE XII.

Le fugitif sera mis en liberté si les preuves suffisantes à l'appui de la demande en extradition ne sont pas produites dans l'espace de deux mois, à partir du jour de l'arrestation.

ARTICLE XIII.

Tous les objets saisis en la possession de l'individu réclamé au moment de son arrestation seront, si l'autorité compétente de l'Etat requis en a ordonné la remise, livrés lorsque l'extradition aura lieu ; cette remise ne comprendra pas seulement les objets volés, mais encore tout ce qui peut servir de pièce de conviction.

ARTICLE XIV.

Les hautes parties contractantes renoncent à toute réclamation pour le remboursement des dépenses encourues par elles dans l'arrestation et l'entretien de l'individu à extraditer, jusqu'à ce qu'il soit mis à bord d'un navire, et ils consentent réciproquement à supporter toutes ces dépenses elles-mêmes.

ARTICLE XV.

Les stipulations du présent traité s'appliqueront aux colonies et possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique. La demande d'extradition d'un délinquant qui s'est réfugié dans une de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères peut être faite au gouverneur ou principal fonctionnaire de cette colonie ou possession par la personne autorisée à agir dans cette colonie ou possession comme principal officier consulaire de la République de Nicaragua.

Le gouverneur ou l'autorité supérieure mentionnée décidera à l'égard de ces demandes, en se conformant autant que faire se pourra, d'après les lois de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères, aux stipulations du présent traité. Il sera toutefois libre d'accorder l'extradition ou de soumettre le cas à son gouvernement.

Il est réservé toutefois à Sa Majesté Britannique de faire, en se conformant autant que faire se pourra d'après les lois de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères, aux stipulations du présent traité, des arrangements spéciaux dans les colonies britanniques et possessions étrangères pour l'extradition de criminels de Nicaragua qui auraient trouvé un refuge dans ces colonies ou possessions étrangères.

Les demandes concernant l'extradition de criminels qui se sont échappés d'une des colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique seront traitées suivant les dispositions des articles précédents du présent traité.

ARTICLE XVI.

Le présent traité sera exécutoire dix jours après sa publication, en conformité des formules prescrites par les lois des hautes parties contractantes. Chacune des hautes parties contractantes pourra en tout temps mettre fin au traité en donnant à l'autre un avis d'au plus un an et d'au moins six mois.

Le traité sera ratifié, et les ratifications seront échangées à Londres, sous six mois de la date de la signature.

En foi de quoi les plénipotentiaires respectifs ont signé le présent traité, et y ont apposé le cachet de leurs armes.

[L.S.] HERBERT HARRISON.

[L.S.] ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

Et attendu que les ratifications du dit traité ont été échangées à Londres, le treizième jour de février mil neuf cent six,—

C'est pourquoi Sa Majesté, par et de l'avis de son Conseil privé, et en vertu de l'autorité que lui confèrent les dits actes cités, ordonne et il est par le présent ordonné, que le et après le vingt-cinquième jour de mai mil neuf cent six, les dits actes s'appliqueront dans le cas de la République de Nicaragua, par et en vertu du dit traité.

Pourvu, toujours, et il est par le présent ordonné que l'opération des dits actes sera suspendue dans la Puissance du Canada, tant que les dispositions de l'acte canadien de 1886 intitulé "Acte concernant l'extradition des criminels fugitifs," y resteront en vigueur, et pas plus longtemps.

Circulaire.

DOWNING STREET,

1er juin 1906.

MONSIEUR,—Tout récemment on a attiré mon attention à certaines questions qui ont été soulevées à l'égard de la position et du traitement des consuls étrangers dans les colonies, et, après en avoir communiqué avec le Secrétaire d'Etat pour les Affaires étrangères, j'ai cru bon de poser certains principes pour la conduite des gouverneurs. Bien entendu qu'on ne s'attend pas qu'ils soient appliqués aux colonies où une pratique différente a été établie, mais je désire que les gouverneurs coloniaux s'en servent comme guide dans les occasions dans lesquelles ils peuvent être appliqués sans friction inutile.

2. Des instructions générales aux gouverneurs coloniaux concernant la position et le traitement des consuls n'ont pas été émises depuis près de quarante ans, alors qu'il a été énoncé que si dans une colonie quelconque la coutume a été de donner comme matière de courtoisie préséance au corps consulaire étranger, on ne fera pas de changement en vue d'assimiler la pratique à celle en force dans ce pays-ci sans en référer au Secrétaire d'Etat. On a observé, toutefois, que les consuls étrangers en Angleterre n'ont pas de titre à la préséance, et sont traités comme les autres résidents étrangers en Angleterre. Je ferai observer, maintenant, que ce principe s'étend également aux colonies, et il n'est pas à désirer que des instructions soient données tendant à reconnaître le principe d'accorder préséance au corps consulaire étranger. En 1863, le corps consulaire à Sydney réclama le privilège d'entrée au lever du gouverneur à l'occasion de l'anniversaire de la naissance du Souverain, et il fut alors énoncé que la règle de la cour de Sa Majesté était que les consuls généraux et les consuls comme tels n'avaient pas de caractère diplomatique et n'étaient pas des visiteurs à la cour, et tombaient dans la catégorie des résidents étrangers en Angleterre et se rendaient au lever général et étaient présentés dans le cercle général.

3. Quant aux privilèges et exemptions, il fut décidé, touchant une prétention du consul général espagnol à Brisbane en 1856, qu'il n'existait pas de privilèges auxquels les consuls étrangers avaient strictement ou légalement droit, dans la Grande-Bretagne ou dans aucune de ses colonies; que la loi anglaise les considérait soumis à la juridiction civile et criminelle, ne leur donnait pas, ni ne leur accordait aucun privilège que ce soit, et à peine les reconnaissait-elle dans leur caractère officiel, et que ces privilèges ou exemptions dont ils jouissaient leur étaient accordés soit par l'Exécutif ou les autorités locales à leur discrétion, ou par coutume et courtoisie.

4. Cette décision doit être soigneusement gardée en vue, car il serait très embarrassant si, dans les colonies britanniques, on permettait aux consuls des puissances étrangères d'acquiescer un droit aux privilèges ou immunités d'agents diplomatiques, ou de prendre sous tout autre rapport un pied différent de ce qu'ils ont dans le royaume-uni. Des expériences récentes ont fait voir que ce danger possible est cependant réel, et qu'on doit strictement s'en préserver.

5. Dans la correspondance qui a donné lieu à la présente dépêche, le gouvernement de Sa Majesté a été prié de donner des instructions touchant différents points, et je les traite dans l'ordre qu'ils ont été soulevés :

(a) Quant aux cérémonies et les courtoisies cérémonieuses. Dès le début de cette dépêche l'on voit clairement que les consuls n'ont pas droit d'être reçus spécialement aux fonctions publiques, et qu'on ne doit pas leur donner préséance sur les fonctionnaires locaux. A ce sujet, je ferai observer que même si la chose n'était pas d'ailleurs inadmissible, il serait impossible de poser des règles générales pour la préséance sur les fonctionnaires, vu la plus ou moindre grande importance que les diverses colonies attachent à une fonction qui est nominalement la même, et si des règles sévères étaient posées dans chaque cas il s'ensuivrait de la part des consuls d'interminables réclamations fondées sur la pratique d'un autre pays qui serait plus favorable à leurs prétentions. Les remarques qui précèdent ne doivent pas, toutefois, empêcher le gouverneur de recevoir spécialement les consuls, comme corps, à certaines occasions telles que l'anniversaire de la naissance du Roi, ou à sa première arrivée dans la colonie, comme un acte de courtoisie et non comme un droit, si cette pratique, qui a été suivie au Cap depuis 1898, lui était imposée.

Quant aux visites, il a déjà été observé que les consuls généraux et les consuls ne sont pas des visiteurs de la cour, et il s'ensuit qu'ils ne "visitent" pas le gouverneur, qui est le représentant du Roi dans la colonie. S'ils se rendent auprès du gouverneur, en d'autre occasion que pour la transaction d'affaires consulaires, ils le font sur le même pied que tout autre habitant éminent de la colonie, et leur visite n'exige pas qu'elle soit formellement rendue de la part du gouverneur.

(b) Quant à la transaction des affaires publiques les consuls ne doivent jamais se rendre auprès des gouvernements locaux sauf pour matières concernant le bien-être personnel de leurs compatriotes comme individus, et s'ils font quelques représentations sur des questions politiques en général, ils doivent en tous les cas les communiquer à leurs gouvernements respectifs, afin qu'elles soient traitées par la voie diplomatique voulue. Les seules fonctions légitimes d'un consul étranger relativement à une administration coloniale sont celles qui concernent le bien-être de leurs nationaux comme individus, et, en conséquence, toutes questions concernant le commerce qui pourraient déanger la politique commerciale de la colonie tomberaient dans la catégorie de celles qui doivent être discutées par la voie des bureaux des Affaires étrangères.

(c) D'après ce qui a déjà été dit, il s'ensuit qu'on ne doit pas faire de différence dans le traitement des consuls de carrière et les autres officiers consulaires.

(d) Quant à la pratique de nommer un consul général avec des consuls locaux subalternes, tous les officiers consulaires doivent être reconnus par les gouvernements locaux respectifs avant de pouvoir entrer en fonctions, bien que cette reconnaissance est retenue seulement dans le cas de quelque objection valide à la nomination. Le gouvernement de Sa Majesté ne voudrait pas s'immiscer dans les arrangements faits par des gouvernements étrangers pour l'exécution des devoirs consulaires, et si, par exemple, un gouvernement étranger nommait un consul général pour l'Afrique-Sud, il appartiendrait à ce fonctionnaire en vertu de son exécutif de communiquer (dans l'exercice de ses devoirs tels que définis plus haut) avec tous les gouverneurs dans l'Afrique-Sud, et si le même gouvernement nommait, en sus, un consul dans une colonie Sud-Africaine où le consul général ne réside pas, le gouvernement de Sa Majesté n'exigerait pas que des communications consulaires avec le gouverneur de cette colonie soient faites par la voie du consul local et non par le consul général, bien qu'il pourrait raisonnablement exiger que les communications reliées avec une colonie quelconque se fassent avec l'occupant d'un seul poste consulaire qui serait désigné par le gouvernement étranger intéressé.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, monsieur,
Votre très humble serviteur,

ELGIN.

AU PALAIS DE BUCKINGHAM,

Le 11e jour de mai 1906.

PRÉSENT :

SA TRÈS EXCELLENTE MAJESTÉ LE ROI EN CONSEIL.

CONSIDÉRANT que par l'article 84, par. 1, de l'Acte de la marine marchande 1894, il est statué que lorsqu'il appert à Sa Majesté le Roi en conseil que les règlements de tonnage du dit acte ont été adoptés par un pays étranger, et y sont en force, Sa Majesté en

conseil pourra ordonner que les navires du dit pays, seront, sans être remesurés dans les possessions de Sa Majesté, censés être du tonnage indiqué dans leurs certificats d'enregistrement ou autres papiers nationaux, de la même manière, au même degré et pour les mêmes fins que le tonnage indiqué dans le certificat d'enregistrement d'un navire britannique est censé être le tonnage de ce navire ;

Et considérant qu'il a été démontré à Sa Majesté en conseil que les règlements de tonnage du dit acte ont été adoptés par le gouvernement de Sa Majesté le roi d'Italie, et que ces règlements sont actuellement en vigueur dans le dit pays, étant devenus exécutoires le 10e jour de février 1906,

Il plaît à Sa Majesté, et par et avec l'avis de Son Conseil privé, d'ordonner que les navires marchands du royaume d'Italie, dont le mesurage le 10e jour de février 1906, a été déterminé et inscrit dans les registres ou autres documents nationaux du bord, seront censés être du tonnage inscrit dans ces registres ou autres documents nationaux, de la même nature, au même degré, et pour toutes les fins pour lesquelles le tonnage inscrit sur le certificat d'enregistrement d'un navire britannique est censé être le tonnage de ce navire.

Et il plaît en outre à Sa Majesté d'ordonner que les arrêtés de feu Sa Majesté en conseil datés respectivement le 30e jour de septembre 1873, le 14e jour de février 1883, et le 23e jour de novembre 1893, soient et ils sont par le présent révoqués.

Le 4e jour d'avril 1906.

PRÉSENTS :

LE LORD CHANCELIER	LE LORD DU SCEAU PRIVÉ
LE LORD PRÉSIDENT	M. SINCLAIR.

ATTENDU qu'il a plu à Sa Majesté, par sa commission datée le deuxième jour de mars 1906, de nommer et choisir le Lord Grand Chancelier de la Grande-Bretagne, le Premier Ministre et le Lord Président du Conseil, durant son absence du royaume, en pays étrangers, à l'effet de tenir au nom de Sa Majesté, son Conseil privé, et d'y signifier l'approbation de Sa Majesté de toutes matières ou choses à l'égard desquelles ils seraient ainsi autorisés par écrit sous le seing de Sa Majesté, et d'agir en toutes choses auxquelles les autorise la dite commission en la manière susdite ;

Et attendu que l'article 418 de l'Acte de la marine marchande de 1894, Sa Majesté est autorisée de temps à autre, sur la recommandation conjointe de l'Amirauté et de la Chambre de Commerce par arrêté en conseil d'établir des règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté d'ordonner que les règlements contenus dans la première annexe du dit arrêté (étant des règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer) soient substitués aux règlements à cet effet alors en force ;

Et attendu que l'article 10 des dits règlements pourvoit aux feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche ;

Et attendu que par des arrêtés en conseil datés respectivement le 30e jour de décembre 1884, et le 24e jour de juin 1885, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté, de décréter entre autres choses, que les dits règlements contenus dans l'article 10 comme susdit, seraient modifiés quant aux bateaux de pêche britanniques, tel que mentionné dans les dits arrêtés respectivement ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 27e jour de novembre 1896, il a plu à feu Sa Majesté de décréter que dès et à compter du 1er jour de juillet 1897, les dits règlements annexés au dit arrêté du 11 août 1884, sauf le dit article numéro 10 des dits règlements, soient annulés, et que les règlements pour prévenir les abordages en mer contenus dans la première annexe du dit arrêté du 27e jour de novembre 1896 lui soient substitués (à l'exception susdite), et devien-

dront en vigueur à l'égard des bateaux de pêche britanniques ;

Et attendu que par un arrêté en conseil daté le 23e jour d'octobre 1905, il a plu à Sa Majesté de décréter que les dits règlements contenus dans le dit article 10 des dits règlements du 11e jour d'août 1884, soient modifiés tel que mentionné dans le dit arrêté ;

Et attendu que l'Amirauté et la Chambre de Commerce ont conjointement recommandé à Sa Majesté qu'en ce qui concerne les navires et bateaux britanniques les dispositions ci-après énoncées concernant les feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche soient substitués aux dispositions du dit article 10 dans l'annexe du dit arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, tel que modifié comme susdit ;

Et attendu que les dispositions de l'article un de l'Acte des règles de publication, 1893, ont été remplies,

Sachez donc que le Lord Chancelier, le Premier Ministre, et le Lord Président, étant autorisés à cet effet par écrit sous le seing de Sa Majesté, en vertu des pouvoirs conférés à Sa Majesté par le dit acte précité, et par et avec l'avis de Son Conseil privé, décrètent par le présent, au nom de Sa Majesté, que dès et à compter du 1er jour de mai 1906, les dispositions du dit article 10 de l'annexe du dit arrêté en conseil daté le 11e jour d'août 1884, ainsi que les règlements annexés aux dits arrêtés en conseil du 30e jour de décembre 1884, du 24e jour de juin 1885, et du 23e jour d'octobre 1905, en tant qu'ils concernent les dispositions du dit article 10, seront annulés, et les dispositions relatives aux feux et signaux des bateaux de pêche contenues dans l'annexe du présent leur seront substitués et deviendront en vigueur en ce qui concerne des navires et bateaux britanniques qui y sont mentionnés.

ANNEXE.

ART. 9.—Les vaisseaux de pêche et bateaux de pêche, lorsqu'ils sont en marche, et qu'ils ne sont pas obligés par le présent article de porter ou montrer les feux ci-après spécifiés, porteront ou montreront les feux prescrits pour les vaisseaux de leur tonnage en marche.

(a) Les bateaux non pontés, par lesquels on entend les bateaux qui ne sont pas protégés contre l'entrée de l'eau au moyen d'un pont continu, lorsque la nuit ils sont occupés à pêcher avec des engins tendus à moins de 150 pieds horizontalement en mer, porteront un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon.

Les bateaux non pontés, lorsque la nuit ils pêchent avec des engins tendus à plus de 150 pieds horizontalement en mer, porteront un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon, et de plus, en approchant d'autres vaisseaux, ou que d'autres vaisseaux s'en approchent, montreront un deuxième feu blanc placé au moins 3 pieds plus bas que le premier feu, et à une distance horizontale d'au moins 5 pieds dans la direction dans laquelle est attaché l'engin de pêche tendu.

nage brut, ne seront pas obligés de porter le plus bas de ces deux feux ; toutefois, s'ils ne le portent pas ils montreront dans la même position (dans la direction du filet ou de l'engin) un feu blanc, visible à une distance d'au moins un mille marin, à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux.

- (c) Les vaisseaux et bateaux, sauf les bateaux non pontés tels que définis à la subdivision (a), pêchant à la ligne avec leurs lignes tendues et attachés à leurs lignes ou les retirant, et lorsqu'ils ne sont pas ancrés ou stationnaires dans le sens de la subdivision (h), porteront les mêmes feux que les vaisseaux pêchant aux filets traînants. Lorsqu'ils jettent leurs lignes ou pêchent avec des lignes traînantes, ils porteront les feux prescrits pour les vaisseaux à vapeur ou à voiles en marche respectivement.

- (d) Les vaisseaux pêchant aux filets traînants, c'est-à-dire traînant un appareil au fond de la mer—

1. S'ils sont à vapeur, porteront dans la même position que le feu blanc mentionné à l'article 2 (a) un fanal tricolore, construit et fixé de manière à montrer un feu blanc depuis l'avant jusqu'à deux quarts de chaque côté, et un feu vert et un feu rouge sur un arc horizontal de deux quarts de chaque côté jusqu'à deux quarts sur l'arrière du travers à tribord et bâbord respectivement ; et pas moins de 6 ni plus de 12 pieds au-dessous du fanal tricolore un feu blanc dans un fanal construit de manière à projeter une lumière uniforme et non interrompue visible de tous les points de l'horizon.
2. S'ils sont à voiles, ils porteront un feu blanc dans un fanal, construit de manière à projeter une lumière uniforme et non interrompue tout autour de l'horizon, et à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, ou en les approchant, ils montreront aussi, là où il sera le mieux aperçu, un feu blanc à éclats ou une torche en temps suffisant pour éviter l'abordage.

Tous les feux mentionnés à la subdivision (d) 1 et 2 seront visibles à une distance d'au moins 2 milles.

- (e) Les dragues aux huîtres et autres vaisseaux pêchant à la drague porteront et montreront les mêmes feux que les bateaux pêchant aux filets traînants.
- (f) Les vaisseaux et bateaux de pêche pourront en tout temps employer un feu à éclats en sus des feux que le présent article les oblige de porter et montrer, et ils pourront aussi se servir de feux portatifs.
- (g) Chaque vaisseau de pêche et chaque bateau de pêche de moins de 150 pieds de longueur, à l'ancre, pourra montrer un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon à une distance d'un mille au moins.

Chaque vaisseau de pêche de 150 pieds de longueur ou plus, à l'ancre, montrera un feu blanc visible de tous les points de l'horizon, à une distance d'au moins un mille, et montrera un deuxième feu tel que prescrit pour les vaisseaux de cette longueur par l'article 11.

Si un tel vaisseau, qu'il ait moins de 150 pieds de longueur, ou ait 150 pieds de longueur ou plus, est attaché à un filet ou autre engin de pêche, il montrera, à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux, un autre feu blanc placé 3 pieds au moins plus bas que le feu de mouillage, et à une distance horizontale d'au moins 5 pieds dans la direction du filet ou engin.

- (h) Si un vaisseau qui fait la pêche devient stationnaire par suite de ce que son engin de pêche s'est accroché à une roche ou à quelque autre obstacle, le jour il descendra l'amarque prescrit par la subdivision (k), la nuit il montrera le feu ou les feux prescrits pour un vaisseau à l'ancre ; et dans les temps de brume, de brouillard, de neige ou de grosses pluies il fera le signal prescrit pour un vaisseau à l'ancre. (Voir subdivision (d) et le dernier paragraphe de l'article 15.)
- (i) Dans les temps de brume, de brouillard, de neige ou de grosses pluies, les vaisseaux à filets traînants attachés à des filets, et les vaisseaux pêchant à la trainée, à la drague, ou avec toute espèce d'autres filets traînants, ou à la ligne avec leurs lignes tendues, devront, s'ils sont de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut ou plus, respectivement, à des intervalles d'une minute au plus, sonner le sifflet ou la sirène, s'ils sont à vapeur, ou faire résonner le cornet s'ils sont à voiles ; chaque son sera suivi d'un coup de cloche. Les vaisseaux de pêche et les bateaux de moins de 20 tonneaux de tonnage brut ne seront pas obligés de donner les signaux ci-dessus, mais, si on les aperçoit d'autres signaux à des intervalles d'au moins une minute.
- (k) Tous les vaisseaux ou bateaux pêchant aux filets ou lignes ou dragues, en marche, le jour indiqueront leur occupation à un vaisseau approchant, en déployant un panier ou autre bon signal où il sera le mieux aperçu. Si des vaisseaux ou bateaux à l'ancre ont leurs engins tendus, ils montreront à l'approche d'autres vaisseaux le même signal du côté où peuvent passer ces vaisseaux.

Les vaisseaux que le présent article oblige de porter ou de montrer les feux ci-dessus décrits, ne seront pas obligés de porter les feux prescrits par l'article 4 (a) et le dernier paragraphe de l'article 11.

Le présent article se lira et sera interprété comme formant partie des règlements contenus dans l'annexe I de l'arrêté en conseil rendu le 27^e jour de novembre 1896, en vertu de l'article 418 de l'Acte de la marine marchande de 1894, et comme s'il formait partie de ces mêmes règlements, et était numéroté 9 des articles les contenant. 1-3

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

RÈGLE SPÉCIALE DU SÉNAT.

Lorsqu'un bill confirmant un bail, une convention ou toute autre espèce de contrat, sera reçu ou présenté au Sénat, ce bail, cette convention ou cette autre espèce de contrat sera exposé dans un appendice ou autrement.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,

Greffier du Sénat.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

Telles que révisées et mises en vigueur le 22 mars 1906.

Tout pétitionnaire en divorce doit annoncer son intention de demander un bill de divorce, par un avis spécifiant contre qui et pour quelle cause le divorce sera demandé; il fait insérer cet avis, pendant trois mois au moins avant la prise en considération par le comité des divorces de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux—du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de sa séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Saskatchewan, l'Alberta, la Colombie-Britannique ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province; et à défaut de ce nombre de journaux, l'avis doit se publier dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins.

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba, les insertions doivent se faire dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district; autrement, elles se font en anglais et en français au même journal. Si l'avis donné pour une session expire trop tard pour qu'il puisse être statué sur la pétition pendant cette session, la pétition pourra être présentée et accueillie à la session suivante, sans nouvelle publication d'avis.

Une copie de cet avis et une copie de la pétition qui sera présentée doit, à la diligence du pétitionnaire et au moins deux mois avant la prise en considération de la pétition par le comité, être signifiée en main propre si cela est possible, à la personne contre laquelle le divorce sera demandé, ci-après appelée "partie défenderesse".

Si la résidence de la partie défenderesse n'est pas connue, ou que la remise de l'avis ne peut être faite en ses mains, s'il est prouvé, d'une manière jugée satisfaisante par le comité, que tous les efforts raisonnables ont été faits pour opérer la signification en main propre, et, en cas d'inutilité de ces efforts, pour porter l'avis et la pétition à la connaissance de la partie défenderesse, ces diligences peuvent être tenues pour une suffisante notification.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est recevable après l'expiration des soixante premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce doit être écrite lisiblement et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énonce sommairement le fait du mariage, en indiquant les noms au long, l'âge et l'état des parties, en quel temps, en quel lieu et par qui a été faite la célébration; le domicile et la résidence de chacune des parties à l'époque du mariage, leur domicile conjugal, leur résidence et tout changement qui en aurait eu lieu; les faits essentiels sur lesquels est fondée la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé.

Les allégations de la pétition doivent être appuyées d'une déclaration du pétitionnaire, faite conformément à l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893.

La copie de la pétition signifiée à la partie défenderesse portera en endos ou en annexe les renseignements suivants :

(1) La résidence du pétitionnaire à l'époque de la signification.

(2) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour le pétitionnaire puissent être délivrés.

(3) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour le pétitionnaire.

(4) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(5) Si la partie défenderesse veut s'opposer à la demande en divorce et être entendue par le comité des divorces du Sénat, elle doit adresser un avis à cet effet au greffier du Sénat aux édifices du Parlement, Ottawa, dans les deux mois de la signification faite à la partie défenderesse et donner dans cet avis au greffier du Sénat :

(a) La résidence de la partie défenderesse à l'époque de l'envoi de l'avis.

(b) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour la partie défenderesse puissent être délivrés.

(c) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour la partie défenderesse.

(d) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(6) Si la partie défenderesse ne notifie pas ainsi le greffier du Sénat, la pétition peut être prise en considération, et un bill de divorce basé sur cette pétition peut suivre son cours sans autre avis à la partie défenderesse.

(7) Lorsque la pétition est présentée par un mari pour obtenir le divorce contre sa femme, si celle-ci fait voir au comité d'une manière satisfaisante qu'elle peut opposer et qu'elle est prête à produire sous serment de bons moyens de défense contre les accusations portées dans la pétition, et qu'elle n'a pas l'argent nécessaire pour faire valoir ces moyens, le comité peut rendre un ordre que son mari ait à lui fournir la somme nécessaires pour qu'elle puisse présenter sa défense en retenant le service d'un conseil, payer ses frais de voyage et de séjour et ceux des témoins assignés de sa part à Ottawa.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est prise en considération par le comité que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $210.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation au Sénat doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis et d'une déclaration établissant qu'une copie de l'avis de la pétition a été signifiée.

Une copie de toute pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce, ou relative à quelque demande de divorce, — et une copie de tous documents et papiers accompagnant cette pétition, ou à produire devant le comité, devra être fournie par la personne au nom de laquelle la pétition, les documents ou les papiers seront présentés ou produits.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Greffier du Sénat.

"3. Upon repayment by the company to such applicant of all payments made by the applicant upon such construction, the said spur or branch line, right of way and equipment shall become the absolute property of the company, free from any such lien."

"2. Upon any application for such leave the applicant shall submit to the Board a plan and profile of such crossing or junction, and such other plans, drawings and specifications as the Board may in any case, or by regulation, require.

"The Board may by order grant such application on such terms as to protection and safety as it deems expedient, may change the plan and profile, drawings and specifications, so submitted, and fix the place and mode of crossing or junction, and may direct that one line or track, or one set of lines or tracks, be carried over or under another line or track or set of lines or tracks, and that such works, structures, equipment, appliances

No. 285.

From Lord Elgin to Lord Grey.

DOWNING STREET,

7th July, 1906.

MY LORD,—As requested in Your Lordship's despatch of 25th May, I have submitted to His Majesty the Joint Address to the King from the Senate and House of Commons of Canada expressing their loyalty and devotion to His Majesty and praying that His Majesty and Her Majesty the Queen will be graciously pleased to visit the Dominion.

His Majesty has been pleased to receive the Address very graciously.

I need scarcely remind Your Lordship of two circumstances which must not be overlooked in the consideration of these proposals. In the first place the current business of the Empire, which is continuous and incessant, imposes a heavy tax on the time and strength of its Sovereign,—and it is well known that the absence of His Majesty from this country for any length of time is difficult, if not impossible, except under very definite limitations and restrictions—even when considerations of health and the need for comparative rest render it expedient.

In the second place, it must be remembered that there are practically no limits, within the habitable globe, to the distances which must be travelled to reach all parts of the British Empire, and that it would be difficult for the King to visit one important part of His Dominions and decline to visit another.

It was no doubt these two facts which influenced Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, with wise foresight, to determine that Her eldest son should, in his youth, visit the various Colonies and Possessions of the Empire of which he was one day to become the Ruler ; and accordingly His Majesty, while Prince of Wales, paid the visit to Canada to which reference is made in this Address.

Following the same counsels the present Prince of Wales, and other Members of the Royal Family, have been untiring in visiting even the most distant parts of the Empire, and have always been received as representatives of His Majesty with the utmost tenderness and loyalty.

I am commanded by His Majesty to make mention of these considerations because He would wish His loyal subjects in Canada and especially the Senate and House of Commons to understand that He is deeply touched and gratified by the terms of their Address and by the desire expressed that with Her Majesty The Queen He should again visit the Dominion. His Majesty retains a vivid recollection, even after the lapse of many years, of His former visit, of the beauties and interest of the country and of the enthusiasm and loyalty which everywhere greeted Him. He is well aware that it would be difficult to recognize the features of Canada He then learned to know in the Great Dominion, whose rapid growth in all that contributes to the development and prosperity of a nation has been so astonishing, and no greater triumph could be offered to the Head of any Empire than to be Himself the witness of a progress so remarkable.

In spite, however, of the many and strong inducements which prompt Him to gratify the loyal wishes of His Canadian subjects, I am to say that the King feels unable at present to entertain the idea of a journey to Canada. Whether the difficulties suggested in an early portion of this despatch, and others which I need not particularise, could be overcome, it is premature to discuss now. But His Majesty desires that Your Lordship should make it known to all that He is prevented by the necessities of His position and not by any lack of appreciation of the loyalty and devotion of the people of Canada to His Throne and Person.

I have, etc.,

INSTRUCTIONS passed under the Royal Sign Manual and Signet to the Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

Dated 15th June 1905.

EDWARD R. & I.

INSTRUCTIONS to Our Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our Dominion of Canada, or, in his absence, to Our Lieutenant-Governor or other Officer for the time being administering the Government of Our said Dominion.

Given at Our Court at Saint James's, this Fifteenth day of June 1905, in the Fifth year of Our Reign.

WHEREAS by certain Letters Patent bearing even date herewith We have constituted, ordered, and declared that there shall be a Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief (hereinafter called Our said Governor-General) in and over Our Dominion of Canada (hereinafter called Our said Dominion), And We have thereby authorized and commanded Our said Governor-General to do and execute in due manner all things that shall belong to his said office, and to the trust We have reposed in him, according to the several powers and authorities granted or appointed him by virtue of the said Letters Patent and of such Commission as may be issued to him under Our Sign Manual and Signet, and according to such Instructions as may from time to time be given to him, under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or by Our Order in Our Privy Council, or by Us through One of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and to such Laws as are or shall hereafter be in force in Our said Dominion: Now, therefore, We do, by these Our Instructions under Our Sign Manual and Signet, declare Our pleasure to be as follows:—

I. Our said Governor-General for the time being shall, with all due solemnity, cause Our Commission, under Our Sign Manual and Signet, appointing Our said Governor-General for the time being, to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice for the time being, or other Judge of the Supreme Court of Our said Dominion, and of the members of the Privy Council in Our said Dominion.

Our said Governor-General, and every other Officer appointed to administer the Government of Our said Dominion, shall take the Oath of Allegiance in the form provided by an Act passed in the Session holden in the thirty-first and thirty-second years of the Reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria intituled "An Act to Amend the Law relating to Promissory Oaths"; and likewise he or they shall take the usual Oath for the due execution of the Office of Our Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our said Dominion, and for the due and impartial administration of justice; which Oaths the said Chief Justice for the time being of Our said Dominion, or, in his absence, or in the event of his being otherwise incapacitated, any Judge of the Supreme Court of Our said Dominion shall, and he is hereby required to tender and administer unto him or them.

II. And We do authorize and require Our said Governor-General from time to time, by himself or by any other person to be authorized by him in that behalf, to administer to all and to every persons or person, as he shall think fit, who shall hold any office or place of trust or profit in Our said Dominion, the said Oath of Allegiance, together with such other Oath or Oaths as may from time to time be prescribed by any Laws or Statutes in that behalf made and provided.

III. And We do require Our said Governor-General to communicate forthwith to the Privy Council for Our said Dominion these Our Instructions, and likewise all such others, from time to time, as he shall find convenient for Our service to be imparted to them.

IV. Our said Governor-General is to take care that all Laws assented to by him in Our name, or reserved for the signification of Our pleasure thereon, shall, when transmitted by him, be fairly abstracted in the margins, and be accompanied, in such cases as may seem to him necessary, with such explanatory observations as may be required, to exhibit the reasons and occasions for proposing such Laws; and he shall also transmit fair copies of the Journals and Minutes of the proceedings of the Parliament of Our said Dominion, which he is to require from the clerks, or other proper officers in that behalf, of the said Parliament.

V. And We do further authorize and empower Our said Governor-General, as he shall see occasion, in Our name and on Our behalf, when any crime or offence against the Laws of Our said Dominion has been committed for which the offender may be tried therein, to grant a pardon to any accomplice, in such crime or offence, who shall give such information as shall lead to the conviction of the principal offender, or of any one of such offenders if more than one; and further, to grant to any offender convicted of any such crime or offence in any Court, or before any Judge, Justice, or Magistrate, within Our said Dominion, a pardon, either free or subject to lawful conditions, or any respite of the execution of the sentence of any such offender, for such period as to Our said Governor-General may seem fit, and to remit any fines, penalties, or forfeitures which may become due and payable to Us. Provided always, that Our said Governor-General shall not in any case, except where the offence has been of a political nature, make it a condition of any pardon or remission of sentence that the offender shall be banished from or shall absent himself from Our said Dominion. And We do hereby direct and enjoin that Our said Governor-General shall not pardon or reprieve any such offender without first receiving in capital cases the advice of the Privy Council for Our said Dominion, and in other cases the advice of one, at least, of his Ministers; and in any case in which such pardon or reprieve might directly affect the interests of Our Empire, or of any country or place beyond the jurisdiction of the Government of Our said Dominion, Our said Governor-General shall, before deciding as to either pardon or reprieve, take those interests specially into his own personal consideration in conjunction with such advice as aforesaid.

VI. And whereas great prejudice may happen to Our service and to the security of Our said Dominion by the absence of Our said Governor-General, he shall not, upon any pretence whatever, quit Our said Dominion without having first obtained leave from Us for so doing under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

PRESENT :

The KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.

Lord Chamberlain.

Lord Ribblesdale.

Mr. L. Harcourt.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1895, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient;

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the nineteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five between His Majesty and the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following:—

Treaty between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Nicaragua for the Mutual Surrender of Fugitive Criminals.

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and His Excellency the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, having determined, by common consent, to conclude a Treaty for the extradition of criminals, have accordingly named as their Plenipotentiaries:

ARTICLE I.

The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other those persons who, being accused or convicted of a crime committed in the territory of the one Party, shall be found within the territory of the other Party, under circumstances and conditions stated in the present Treaty.

ARTICLE II.

2. Manslaughter.

17. Fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, director, member, or public officer of any Company.

18. Obtaining money, valuable security, or goods by false pretences; receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been stolen or unlawfully obtained.

25. Dealing in slaves in such manner as to constitute a criminal offence against the laws of both States.

Extradition shall also be granted for participation in any of the aforesaid crimes, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both Contracting Parties.

Extradition may also be granted at the discretion of the State applied to in respect of any other crime for which, according to the laws of both the Contracting Parties for the time being in force, the grant can be made.

Provided that the surrender shall be made only when, in the case of a person accused, the commission of the crime shall be so established as that the laws of the country where the fugitive or person so accused shall be found would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had been there committed; and, in the case of a person alleged to have been convicted, on such evidence as, according to the laws of the country where he is found, would prove that he had been convicted.

Extradition shall not be granted if, according to the laws of either country, the maximum punishment for the offence charged is imprisonment for less than one year.

ARTICLE III.

No Nicaraguan shall be delivered up by the Government of Nicaragua to the Government of the United Kingdom, and no subject of the United Kingdom shall be delivered up by the Government thereof to the Government of Nicaragua.

ARTICLE IV.

The extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, should be under examination for any crime in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until the conclusion of the trial and the full execution of any punishment awarded to him.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place. This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents, or duly recognized Consuls General of the High Contracting Parties respectively.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by a sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A sentence passed in contumaciam is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authority of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent Magistrate, who is to examine him and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE X.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime has been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XI.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XII.

If sufficient evidence for extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered and his conveyance till placed on board ship; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of His Britannic Majesty. The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal, who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions, shall be made to the Governor or Chief authority of such Colony or possession by the chief Consular officer of Nicaragua in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of (subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty) by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

His Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Nicaraguan criminals who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of His Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year, and not less than six months.

It shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in London within the period of six months from the date of signature.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and affixed thereto their respective seals.

(L.S.) HERBERT HARRISON.

(L.S.) ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at London on the thirteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and six:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the 25th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and six, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the Republic of Nicaragua, under and in accordance with the said Treaty:

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

ORDERS IN COUNCIL.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, the 30th day of June, 1906.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

SUBSTANCE OF RULES OF THE SENATE RELATING TO NOTICES AND APPLICATIONS FOR BILLS OF DIVORCE.

As Revised and brought in force 22nd March, 1906.

Every applicant for a Bill of Divorce shall give notice of his or her intended application, and shall specify therein from whom and for what cause such divorce is sought, and shall cause such notice to be published during at least three months before the consideration by the Committee on Divorce of his or her petition for the said Bill, in the Canada Gazette and in two newspapers published in the district in Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia or the Northwest Territories, or in the county or union of counties in other provinces, wherein such applicant usually resided at the time of the separation of the parties; but if the requisite number of papers cannot be found therein, then in an adjoining district or county or union of counties.

Notices given in the Provinces of Quebec and Manitoba are to be published in one English and one French newspaper, if there be such newspapers published in the district, but otherwise shall be published in one newspaper in both languages. If a notice given for any session of Parliament is not completed in time to allow the petition to be dealt with during that session, the petition may be presented and dealt with during the next ensuing session, without any further publication of such notice.

A copy of the said notice and a copy of the petition to be presented shall, at the instance of the applicant, and not less than two months before the consideration by the Committee of the petition, be served personally, when that can be done, on the person from whom the divorce is sought, who is hereinafter called "the respondent."

If the residence of the respondent is not known or personal service cannot be effected, then, if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Committee that all reasonable efforts have been made to effect personal service, and, if unsuccessful, to bring such notice and petition to the knowledge of the respondent, what has been done may be deemed and taken by the Committee as sufficient service.

No petition for a bill of divorce shall be presented to the Senate after the first sixty days of the Session.

The petition of an applicant for bill for divorce must be fairly written and must be signed by the petitioner, and should briefly set forth the marriage, the names in full of the parties thereto, their ages and occupations, when, where and by whom the ceremony was performed, the domicile and residence of each of the parties at the time of the marriage, their matrimonial domicile, residence, and any change thereof, the material facts upon which the petitioner relies as the grounds on which relief is asked, and the nature of the relief prayed for.

The petition should also negative connivance at, or condonation of the wrong complained of and collusion in the application for divorce.

The allegations of the petition must be verified by declaration of the petitioner, under The Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

The copy of the petition served upon the respondent shall have endorsed thereon, or appended thereto, the following information:—

(1) The petitioner's residence at the time of service.
(2) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the petitioner may be delivered.
(3) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the petitioner.

(4) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa, upon whom all notices and papers may be served.

(5) That if the respondent desires to oppose the granting of the divorce and to be heard by the Senate Committee on Divorce, the respondent must send a notice to that effect to the Clerk of the Senate at the Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, within two months from the date of service upon the respondent, and must in the notice to the Clerk of the Senate give:—

(a) The respondent's residence at the time of sending such notice.

(b) A Post Office address in Canada at which letters and notices for the respondent may be delivered.

(c) The name and address of the solicitor, if any, acting for the respondent.

(d) If such solicitor's address is not at Ottawa, the name and address of some agent for him at Ottawa upon whom all notices and papers may be served.

(6) That, if the respondent does not so notify the Clerk of the Senate, the petition may be considered, and a bill of divorce founded thereon may be passed, without any further notice to the respondent.

(7) When the petition is one by a husband for a divorce from his wife, that, if the wife shows to the satisfaction of the Senate Committee on Divorce that she has, and is prepared to establish upon oath, a good defence to the charges made by the petition, and that she has not sufficient money to defend herself, the Committee may make an order that her husband shall provide her with the necessary means to sustain her defence, including the cost of retaining Counsel and the travelling and living expenses of herself and of witnesses summoned to Ottawa on her behalf.

No petition for a bill of Divorce shall be considered by the Committee unless the applicant has paid into the hands of the Clerk of the Senate the sum of two hundred and ten dollars, ($210.)

The petition when presented to the Senate shall be accompanied by the evidence of the publication of the notice, and by declaration in evidence of the service of a copy of the notice and of a copy of the petition.

A copy of every petition for a Bill of Divorce, or relating to any matter arising out of an application for divorce, and of every document and paper accompanying such petition or produced in evidence before the Committee, shall be furnished to the Committee by the person on whose behalf the petition, document or paper is presented or produced.

No 285.

Lord Elgin à Lord Grey.

DOWNING STREET,

7 juillet 1906.

MILORD,—Conformément à la dépêche de Votre Seigneurie du 25 mai, j'ai soumis à Sa Majesté l'Adresse que le Sénat et la Chambre des Communes du Canada ont conjointement envoyée au Roi, exprimant leur loyauté et leur dévouement à Sa Majesté et faisant le vœu que Leurs Majestés le Roi et la Reine veuillent bien visiter le Dominion.

Sa Majesté a reçu l'Adresse très gracieusement.

Inutile de rappeler à Votre Seigneurie les deux circonstances qu'il ne faut pas négliger dans la considération de ces propositions. En premier lieu—la besogne ordinaire de l'Empire, qui est continue et incessante, est une lourde tâche pour le temps et les forces de son Souverain,—et il est bien connu qu'il est difficile, sinon impossible, que Sa Majesté s'absente de ce pays, sauf dans certaines limites et restrictions bien définies—même quand des considérations de santé et le besoin de repos le rendent expédient.

En second lieu, il faut se rappeler que pratiquement il n'existe pas de limite aux distances qu'il faut franchir pour atteindre toutes les parties de l'Empire britannique, et que le Roi pourrait difficilement visiter une importante partie de ses possessions et refuser d'en visiter une autre.

Ces deux raisons ont indubitablement influencé feu Sa Majesté la Reine Victoria, à décider, avec une sage prévoyance, que son fils aîné visiterait dans sa jeunesse, les diverses colonies et possessions de l'Empire qu'il devait un jour gouverner ; et conséquemment, Sa Majesté, en sa qualité de Prince de Galles, fit la visite au Canada que mentionne la présente Adresse.

Suivant les mêmes conseils, le Prince de Galles d'aujourd'hui, et d'autres membres de la famille royale n'ont pas cessé de visiter même les parties les plus reculées de l'Empire, et ont toujours été reçus comme les représentants de Sa Majesté avec une tendresse et une loyauté sans bornes.

Je suis chargé par Sa Majesté de mentionner ces considérations, car il désire que ses loyaux sujets au Canada, et plus particulièrement le Sénat et la Chambre des Communes soient convaincus qu'il est profondément touché et très heureux des termes de leur Adresse et du désir qui y est exprimé que le Roi, accompagné de Sa Majesté la Reine, visite une seconde fois le Dominion. Sa Majesté a conservé un doux souvenir, même après de longues années, de sa première visite, des beautés et de l'intérêt du pays et de l'enthousiasme et de la loyauté qu'il a rencontrés partout. Il ne doute pas qu'il lui serait difficile de retrouver tous les aspects du Canada, qu'il a alors appris à connaître, dans le grand Dominion dont la rapide croissance dans tout ce qui contribue au développement et à la prospérité d'une nation a été si étonnante ; et il ne saurait être offert au chef d'aucun empire de plus grand triomphe que d'être lui-même le témoin d'un progrès si remarquable.

En dépit, cependant, de tous les puissants motifs qui le portent à se rendre aux vœux loyaux de ses sujets canadiens, je dois dire que le Roi se trouve dans l'impossibilité de songer à entreprendre un voyage au Canada, pour le présent. Il serait prématuré de discuter maintenant si les difficultés dont il a été question au commencement de cette dépêche, et d'autres que je ne crois pas devoir mentionner, pourraient être surmontées. Mais Sa Majesté désire que Votre Seigneurie fasse part à tous du fait qu'il est empêché par les obligations de sa position et non par défaut d'appréciation de la loyauté et du dévouement du peuple du Canada à son Trône et à sa Personne.

J'ai, etc.,

INSTRUCTIONS sous le seing manuel et le cachet du Roi pour le gouverneur-général et commandant en chef de la Puissance du Canada.

En date du 15 juin 1905.

EDOUARD R. & I.

INSTRUCTIONS à notre gouverneur-général et commandant en chef de notre Puissance du Canada, ou, en son absence, à notre lieutenant-gouverneur, ou à l'officier administrant le gouvernement de notre dite Puissance.

Donné à notre cour à St. James, ce quinzième jour de juin 1905, l'an cinquième de notre règne.

ATTENDU que, par lettres patentes portant la date de ces présentes, nous avons établi, ordonné et déclaré qu'il y aurait un gouverneur-général et commandant en chef (ci-après appelé notre dit gouverneurgénéral) de notre Puissance du Canada (ci-après appelée notre dite Puissance) ; et que par les dites lettres patentes nous avons donné autorité et ordonné à notre dit gouverneur-général de faire et exécuter dûment tout ce qui appartiendra à son mandat et à la charge que nous lui avons confiée, en se conformant aux pouvoirs et attributions qui lui sont ou seront donnés ou conférés par les dites lettres patentes et par telle commission qui pourra lui être décernée sous notre seing manuel et notre cachet, ainsi qu'aux instructions qu'il pourra recevoir de temps en temps sous nos seing manuel et cachet ; ou par notre ordre rendu en notre conseil privé, ou de nous par l'intermédiaire de l'un de nos principaux secrétaires d'Etat, comme aussi aux lois qui sont actuellement ou qui seront par la suite en vigueur dans notre dite Puissance ; à ces causes, par nos présentes instructions sous nos seing manuel et cachet, nous déclarons que nous voulons et nous plaît,

I. Que le dit gouverneur-général nommé par nous fasse lire et publier, avec toute la solennité convenable, notre dite commission sous nos seing manuel et cachet, nommant notre dit gouverneur général, en présence du juge en chef ou de tout autre juge de la cour Suprême de notre dite Puissance, et des membres du Conseil privé de notre dite Puissance ;

Que notre dit gouverneur-général et tout autre officier chargé d'administrer le gouvernement de notre dite Puissance, prêtent le serment d'allégeance, selon la formule prévue par un acte passé en la session tenue dans les trente-unième et trente-deuxième années de notre règne, sous le titre : "An Act to amend the law relating to Promissory Oaths," (Acte pour amender la loi concernant les serments promissoires), comme aussi le serment accoutumé de bien et fidèlement remplir les devoirs de la charge de notre gouverneur-général et commandant en chef de notre dite Puissance du Canada, et de bien et impartialement administrer la justice :—lesquels serments le dit juge en chef de notre dite Puissance, ou, en son absence, ou dans le cas où il en serait autrement empêché, tout autre juge de la cour Suprême de notre dite Puissance, aura le devoir et est par les présentes requis de recevoir.

II. Et nous donnons pouvoir à notre dit gouverneur-général, et le requérons de faire prêter, à toute époque, soit par lui-même, soit par toute autre personne qu'il aura autorisée pour cet effet, à tout et chaque titulaire d'une charge ou fonction de confiance ou d'émoluments en notre dite Puissance, quand il le croira à propos, ledit serment d'allégeance, ainsi que tout autre serment ou tous autres serments qui pourraient être prescrits par des lois ou statuts spéciaux.

III. Et nous requérons notre dit gouverneur-général de communiquer sans délai au conseil privé de notre dite Puissance, nos présentes instructions, et pareillement toutes autres instructions ultérieures dont il jugera opportun, pour le bien de notre service, de lui faire part.

IV. Notre dit gouverneur-général aura soin que toutes les lois sanctionnées par lui en notre nom, ou réservées pour la signification de notre bon plaisir, portent, lorsqu'il nous les transmettra, de bons sommaires marginaux, et soient accompagnées, s'il y a lieu, d'observations explicatives sur les motifs et l'opportunité des dites lois ; et il devra aussi transmettre des copies conformes des journaux et procès-verbaux du Parlement de notre dite Puissance du Canada, copies qu'il se fera donner par les greffiers ou autres officiers qu'il appartiendra du dit Parlement.

V. Et nous donnons, de plus, autorité et pouvoir à notre dit gouverneur-général d'accorder, comme il le jugera à propos, en notre nom et de notre part, lorsqu'il aura été commis un crime pour lequel le coupable pourra être jugé dans notre dite Puissance, le pardon à tout complice qui n'aura pas pris part à la perpétration même de ce crime, s'il fait des révélations telles qu'elles conduisent à la conviction du coupable principal ; comme aussi d'accorder à tout individu reconnu coupable d'un crime dans une cour de justice, ou devant un juge, juge de paix ou magistrat, en notre dite Puissance, un pardon soit entier, soit soumis à des conditions licites, ou un sursis à l'exécution de son jugement pour le temps que notre dit gouverneur-général jugera convenable ; et de remettre toute amende ou confiscation qui pourrait avoir été prononcée à notre profit ; pourvu toutefois que notre dit gouverneur-général ne mette pas à ce pardon ou à cette rémission de sentence, excepté dans le cas où l'offense serait de nature politique, la condition que le coupable sera banni ou sortira de notre dite Puissance. Et par les présentes nous mandons et enjoignons à notre dit gouverneur-général de ne faire grâce ou de n'accorder de sursis à aucun criminel qu'après avoir reçu dans les cas de sentence capitale, l'avis du Conseil privé de notre dite Puissance, et, dans les autres cas, l'avis d'un de ses ministres, au moins ; et si le pardon ou le sursis devait affecter directement les intérêts de notre empire ou ceux de tout autre pays ou lieu hors de la juridiction du gouvernement de notre dite Puissance, notre dit gouverneur-général, avant de prendre une décision, consultera sur ces intérêts son propre jugement, tout en considérant l'avis reçu comme il est dit ci-haut.

VI. Et attendu que notre service et la sécurité de notre dite Puissance pourraient souffrir grandement de l'absence de notre dit gouverneur-général, il ne quittera, sous aucun prétexte, notre dite Puissance, qu'au préalable il n'en ait obtenu de nous la permission, soit sous notre seing manuel et notre cachet, soit par l'intermédiaire d'un de nos principaux secrétaires d'Etat.

Circulaire.

DOWNING STREET,
2 juin 1906.

MONSIEUR,—J'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre, pour qu'elle soit publiée dans la colonie que vous administrez, copie d'un arrêté de Sa Majesté le Roi en conseil, daté le 11 de mai 1906, donnant effet au traité entre le Royaume-Uni et la République de Nicaragua, pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs, signé à Managua le 19^e jour d'avril 1906.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, monsieur,

Votre très humble serviteur,

ELGIN.

du gouvernement du Canada.

ARRÊTÉ EN CONSEIL.

A LA COUR AU CHATEAU DE BUCKINGHAM,
LE 11^E JOUR DE MAI 1906.

PRÉSENTS :

Sa Très Excellente Majesté le ROI,
Le lord Président,
Le lord Chambellan,
Lord Ribblesdale,
Mr. L. Harcourt.

CONSIDÉRANT que par les Actes d'extradition, 1870 à 1895, il est statué, entre autres choses, que chaque fois qu'un arrangement aura été conclu avec un Etat étranger au sujet de la reddition à cet Etat de criminels fugitifs, Sa Majesté pourra ordonner par arrêté en conseil que les dits actes s'appliqueront à l'égard de l'Etat étranger en question ; et que Sa Majesté pourra, par le même ou par un arrêté subséquent, restreindre l'opération du dit arrêté et limiter son application aux criminels fugitifs qui se trouvent ou sont supposés se trouver dans la partie des possessions de Sa Majesté spécifiées dans l'arrêté, et en rendre l'exécution sujette aux conditions, exceptions et restrictions qui pourront être jugées convenables.

Et considérant qu'un traité a été conclu le dix-neuvième jour d'avril, mil neuf cent cinq, entre Sa Majesté et le Président de la République de Nicaragua pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs, lequel est rédigé comme suit :—

Traité entre le Royaume-Uni et la République de Nicaragua pour l'extradition mutuelle de criminels fugitifs.

Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume-Uni de la Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande et des possessions britanniques au delà des mers, Empereur des Indes, et Son Excellence le Président de la République de Nicaragua, ayant décidé, de consentement mutuel, de conclure un traité pour l'extradition des criminels, ont nommé pour leurs plénipotentiaires :

Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume-Uni de la Grande-Bretagne et d'Irlande et des possessions britanniques au delà des mers, Empereur des Indes : Herbert William Broadley Harrison, écuyer, Compagnon de l'Ordre Très distingué de Saint-Michel et Saint-George, chargé d'affaires de Sa Majesté près la République de Nicaragua ; et Son Excellence le Président de Nicaragua : le Docteur Adolfo Altamirano, ministre des Affaires étrangères ; lesquels, après s'être communiqués leurs pleins pouvoirs respectifs, trouvés en bonne et due forme, ont arrêté et conclu les articles suivants :—

ARTICLE I.

Les hautes parties contractantes s'engagent à se livrer réciproquement, dans les circonstances et sous les conditions prévues par le présent traité, les individus qui, poursuivis ou condamnés pour un crime ou délit commis sur le territoire de l'une des parties, seront trouvés sur le territoire de l'autre.

ARTICLE II.

Les crimes et délits pour lesquels l'extradition sera accordée sont les suivants :—

1. Meurtre ou tentative ou conspiration pour commettre un meurtre.

2. Homicide sans préméditation.

3. Administration de substances ou emploi d'instruments dans l'intention de provoquer l'avortement.

4. Viol.

5. Commerce charnel avec une jeune fille n'ayant pas atteint l'âge de puberté, ou tentative de commettre ce crime, d'après les lois des pays respectifs.

6. Attentat à la pudeur avec violence.

7. Séquestration et détention illégale.

8. Abandon, exposition ou détention d'enfants.

9. Enlèvement ou rapt.

10. Bigamie.

11. Blessures ou autres lésions corporelles graves infligées avec malice.

12. Voies de fait ayant occasionné des lésions corporelles graves.

13. Menaces écrites ou autres, faites en vue d'extorquer de l'argent ou autres choses de valeur.

14. Faux serment ou subornation de témoins.

15. Incendie volontaire.

16. Vol avec effraction ou bris de maison, vol avec violence, larcin ou détournement.

17. Fraude par un dépositaire, banquier, agent, facteur, fidéicommissaire, directeur, membre ou officier public d'une compagnie.

18. Escroquerie d'argent, valeurs ou autres objets, sous de faux prétextes ; recel en connaissance de cause de numéraire, valeur ou autre propriété, provenant de soustractions, d'escroquerie ou d'abus de confiance.

19. (a) Faux, contrefaçon ou altération, ou mise en circulation de ce qui est falsifié, contrefait ou altéré.

(b) Fabrication, avec connaissance de cause d'un instrument, outil ou invention adapté et destiné à la contrefaçon de la monnaie du pays.

20. Faux, ou mise en circulation de ce qui est falsifié ou contrefait.

21. Crimes contre la loi des banqueroutes.

22. Tout acte commis avec intention de mettre en danger la sûreté d'une personne dans un train de chemin de fer.

23. Dommages malicieux à la propriété, si le fait est punissable de peines criminelles.

24. Piraterie et autres crimes ou délits commis en mer contre des personnes ou choses que les lois des hautes parties contractantes considèrent délits entraînant l'extradition.

25. Traite des esclaves en tant que la chose constitue un crime contre les lois des deux Etats.

L'extradition aura également lieu pour complicité d'un des crimes ci-dessus mentionnés, pourvu que cette complicité soit punissable par les lois des deux parties contractantes.

L'extradition aura également lieu à la discrétion de l'Etat requis au sujet de tout autre crime pour lequel, selon la loi des deux parties contractantes alors en vigueur, la demande peut être accordée.

Toutefois, l'extradition ne sera accordée dans le cas d'une personne accusée que si la perpétration du crime ou du délit est établie de telle façon que les lois du pays où le fugitif accusé sera trouvé justifieraient son arrestation et son emprisonnement si le crime ou le délit avait été commis dans ce pays ; et, dans le cas d'une personne prétendument condamnée, que sur la production d'une preuve qui, d'après les lois du pays où le fugitif a été trouvé, établirait suffisamment qu'il a été condamné.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si, d'après la loi de chaque pays, la punition maximum pour le délit imputé, est un emprisonnement pour moins d'un an.

ARTICLE III.

Nul nicaraguen ne sera délivré par le gouvernement de Nicaragua au gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, et nul sujet du Royaume-Uni ne sera délivré par le gouvernement du Royaume-Uni au gouvernement de Nicaragua.

ARTICLE IV.

L'extradition ne sera pas accordée si l'individu réclamé de la part du gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, ou de la part du gouvernement de Nicaragua a déjà été jugé, acquitté ou puni, ou se trouve encore sous jugement dans le territoire du Royaume-Uni ou dans le territoire de Nicaragua, respectivement, pour le crime à raison duquel l'extradition est demandée.

Si la personne réclamée de la part du gouvernement du Royaume-Uni, ou de la part du gouvernement de Nicaragua, est en état de prévention, ou subit une peine après condamnation dans le territoire du Royaume-Uni, ou dans le territoire de Nicaragua, respectivement, pour un autre crime, son extradition sera différée jusqu'à la conclusion de son procès, et qu'elle ait purgé la peine qui lui aura été infligée.

ARTICLE V.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si, depuis la perpétration du crime, les poursuites ou la condamnation, la prescription des poursuites ou de la peine est acquise d'après les lois du pays auquel la demande est adressée.

ARTICLE VI.

Le criminel fugitif ne sera pas extradé si le délit pour lequel l'extradition est demandée est considéré comme un délit politique, ou si l'individu prouve que la demande d'extradition a été faite en réalité dans le but de le poursuivre ou de le punir pour un délit d'un caractère politique.

ARTICLE VII.

L'individu qui a été livré ne sera, en aucun cas, dans le pays auquel l'extradition a été accordée, maintenu en état d'arrestation ou poursuivi pour aucun crime ou faits autres que ceux qui ont motivé l'extradition. Cette stipulation n'est pas applicable aux crimes commis après l'extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

La demande d'extradition sera faite par l'entremise des agents diplomatiques, ou des consuls généraux accrédités des hautes parties contractantes respectivement.

La demande d'extradition d'un prévenu devra être accompagnée d'un mandat d'arrêt décerné par l'autorité compétente de l'Etat requérant, et des preuves qui, d'après les lois de l'endroit où le prévenu a été trouvé, justifieraient son arrestation si l'acte punissable y avait été commis.

Si la demande d'extradition concerne une personne déjà condamnée, elle doit être accompagnée de l'arrêt de condamnation qui a été rendu contre le coupable par le tribunal compétent de l'Etat requérant.

Un arrêt rendu par contumace ne sera pas considéré comme une condamnation, mais une personne ainsi condamnée pourra être traitée comme une personne accusée.

ARTICLE IX.

Si la demande d'extradition s'accorde avec les stipulations précédentes, les autorités compétentes de l'Etat requis précéderont à l'arrestation du fugitif.

Le prisonnier sera alors traduit devant un magistrat compétent, qui l'interrogera et conduira l'enquête préliminaire de l'affaire, de la même manière que si l'ar-restation avait eu lieu pour un crime commis dans le même pays.

ARTICLE X.

L'extradition n'aura lieu qu'à l'expiration de quinze jours après l'arrestation, et alors seulement dans le cas où les preuves fournies auront été trouvées suffisantes, d'après les lois de l'Etat requis, soit pour justifier la mise en jugement du prisonnier, dans le cas où le crime aurait été commis sur le territoire du dit Etat, soit pour constater l'identité du prisonnier avec l'individu condamné par les tribunaux de l'Etat requérant.

ARTICLE XI.

Les autorités de l'Etat requis, quand elles procéderont à l'examen établi par les stipulations précédentes, devront admettre comme preuves entièrement valables les dépositions assermentées ou les affirmations faites dans l'autre Etat, ou les copies de ces pièces, de même que les mandats d'arrêt et les sentences rendues dans ce pays, pourvu que ces documents soient signés ou certifiés par un juge, magistrat, ou officier de l'autre Etat, et soient rendus authentiques par le serment de quelque témoin, ou par le sceau officiel du ministre de la Justice, ou de quelque autre ministre d'Etat.

ARTICLE XII.

ARTICLE XIII.

Tous les objets saisis en la possession de l'individu réclamé au moment de son arrestation seront, si l'autorité compétente de l'Etat requis en a ordonné la remise, livrés lorsque l'extradition aura lieu ; cette remise ne comprendra pas seulement les objets volés, mais encore tout ce qui peut servir de pièce de conviction.

ARTICLE XIV.

Les hautes parties contractantes renoncent à toute réclamation pour le remboursement des dépenses encourues par elles dans l'arrestation et l'entretien de l'individu à extraditer, jusqu'à ce qu'il soit mis à bord d'un navire, et ils consentent réciproquement à supporter toutes ces dépenses elles-mêmes.

ARTICLE XV.

Les stipulations du présent traité s'appliqueront aux colonies et possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique. La demande d'extradition d'un délinquant qui s'est réfugié dans une de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères peut être faite au gouverneur ou principal fonctionnaire de cette colonie ou possession par la personne autorisée à agir dans cette colonie ou possession comme principal officier consulaire de la République de Nicaragua.

Le gouverneur ou l'autorité supérieure mentionné décidera à l'égard de ces demandes, en se conformant autant que faire se pourra, d'après les lois de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères, aux stipulations du présent traité. Il sera toutefois libre d'accorder l'extradition ou de soumettre le cas à son gouvernement.

Il est réservé toutefois à Sa Majesté Britannique de faire, en se conformant autant que faire se pourra d'après les lois de ces colonies ou possessions étrangères, aux stipulations du présent traité, des arrangements spéciaux dans les colonies britanniques et possessions étrangères pour l'extradition de criminels de Nicaragua qui auraient trouvé un refuge dans ces colonies ou possessions étrangères.

Les demandes concernant l'extradition de criminels qui se sont échappés d'une des colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique seront traitées suivant les dispositions des articles précédents du présent traité.

ARTICLE XVI.

Le présent traité sera exécutoire dix jours après sa publication, en conformité des formules prescrites par les lois des hautes parties contractantes. Chacune des hautes parties contractantes pourra en tout temps mettre fin au traité en donnant à l'autre un avis d'au plus un an et d'au moins six mois.

Le traité sera ratifié, et les ratifications seront échangées à Londres, sous six mois de la date de la signature. En foi de quoi les plénipotentiaires respectifs ont signé le présent traité, et y ont apposé le cachet de leurs armes.

Fait en double à Managua, le dix-neuvième jour d'avril mil neuf cent six.

[L.S.] HERBERT HARRISON.
[L.S.] ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

Et attendu que les ratifications du dit traité ont été échangées à Londres, le treizième jour de février mil neuf cent six,—

C'est pourquoi Sa Majesté, par et de l'avis de son Conseil privé, et en vertu de l'autorité que lui confèrent les dits actes cités, ordonne et il est par le présent ordonné, que le et après le vingt-cinquième jour de mai mil neuf cent six, les dits actes s'appliqueront dans le cas de la République de Nicaragua, par et en vertu du dit traité.

Pourvu, toujours, et il est par le présent ordonné que l'opération des dits actes sera suspendue dans la Puissance du Canada, tant que les dispositions de l'acte canadien de 1886 intitulé "Acte concernant l'extradition des criminels fugitifs," y resteront en vigueur, et pas plus longtemps.

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

RÈGLE SPÉCIALE DU SÉNAT.

Lorsqu'un bill confirmant un bail, une convention ou toute autre espèce de contrat, sera reçu ou présenté au Sénat, ce bail, cette convention ou cette autre espèce de contrat sera exposé dans un appendice ou autrement.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,

Greffier du Sénat.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

Telles que révisées et mises en vigueur le 22 mars 1906.

Tout pétitionnaire en divorce doit annoncer son intention de demander un bill de divorce, par un avis spécifiant contre qui et pour quelle cause le divorce sera demandé ; il fait insérer cet avis, pendant trois mois au moins avant la prise en considération par le comité des divorces de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux—du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de sa séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Saskatchewan, l'Alberta, la Colombie-Britannique ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province ; et à défaut de ce nombre de journaux, l'avis doit se publier dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins.

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba, les insertions doivent se faire dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district ; autrement, elles se font en anglais et en français au même journal. Si l'avis donné pour une session expire trop tard pour qu'il puisse être statué sur la pétition pendant cette session, la pétition pourra être présentée et accueillie à la session suivante, sans nouvelle publication d'avis.

Une copie de cet avis et une copie de la pétition qui sera présentée doit, à la diligence du pétitionnaire et au moins deux mois avant la prise en considération de la pétition par le comité, être signifiée en main propre si cela est possible, à la personne contre laquelle le divorce sera demandé, ci-après appelée "partie défenderesse".

Si la résidence de la partie défenderesse n'est pas connue, ou que la remise de l'avis ne peut être faite en ses mains, s'il est prouvé, d'une manière jugée satisfaisante par le comité, que tous les efforts raisonnables ont été faits pour opérer la signification en main propre, et, en cas d'inutilité de ces efforts, pour porter l'avis et la pétition à la connaissance de la partie défenderesse, ces diligences peuvent être tenues pour une suffisante notification.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est recevable après l'expiration des soixante premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce doit être écrite lisible et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énonce sommairement le fait du mariage, en indiquant les noms au long, l'âge et l'état des parties, en quel temps, en quel lieu et par qui a été faite la célébration ; le domicile et la résidence de chacune des parties à l'époque du mariage, leur domicile conjugal, leur résidence et tout changement qui en aurait eu lieu ; les faits essentiels sur lesquels est fondée la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé.

Les allégations de la pétition doivent être appuyées d'une déclaration du pétitionnaire, faite conformément à l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893.

La copie de la pétition signifiée à la partie défenderesse portera en endos ou en annexe les renseignements suivants :

(1) La résidence du pétitionnaire à l'époque de la signification.

(2) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour le pétitionnaire puissent être délivrés.

(3) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour le pétitionnaire.

(4) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(5) Si la partie défenderesse veut s'opposer à la demande en divorce et être entendue par le comité des divorces du Sénat, elle doit adresser un avis à cet effet au greffier du Sénat aux édifices du Parlement, Ottawa, dans les deux mois de la signification faite à la partie défenderesse et donner dans cet avis au greffier du Sénat :

(a) La résidence de la partie défenderesse à l'époque de l'envoi de l'avis.

(b) Une adresse postale en Canada à laquelle les lettres et avis pour la partie défenderesse puissent être délivrés.

(c) Le nom et l'adresse de l'avocat, s'il y en a un, agissant pour la partie défenderesse.

(d) Si cet avocat n'a pas d'adresse à Ottawa, le nom et l'adresse de quelque agent le représentant à Ottawa, à qui tous avis et pièces puissent être signifiés.

(e) Si la partie défenderesse ne notifie pas ainsi le greffier du Sénat, la pétition peut être prise en considération, et un bill de divorce basé sur cette pétition peut suivre son cours sans autre avis à la partie défenderesse.

(f) Lorsque la pétition est présentée par un mari pour obtenir le divorce contre sa femme, si celle-ci fait voir au comité d'une manière satisfaisante qu'elle peut opposer et qu'elle est prête à produire sous serment de bons moyens de défense contre les accusations portées dans la pétition, et qu'elle n'a pas l'argent nécessaire pour faire valoir ces moyens, le comité peut rendre un ordre que son mari ait à lui fournir la somme nécessaires pour qu'elle puisse présenter sa défense en retenant le service d'un conseil, payer ses frais de voyage et de séjour et ceux des témoins assignés de sa part à Ottawa.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est prise en considération par le comité que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $210.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation au Sénat doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis et d'une déclaration établissant qu'une copie de l'avis de la pétition a été signifiée.

Une copie de toute pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce, ou relative à quelque demande de divorce, — et une copie de tous documents et papiers accompagnant cette pétition, ou à produire devant le comité, devra être fournie par la personne au nom de laquelle la pétition, les documents ou les papiers seront présentés ou produits.

Greffier du Sénat.

WHEREAS by certain Letters Patent bearing even date herewith We have constituted, ordered, and declared that there shall be a Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief (hereinafter called Our said Governor-General) in and over Our Dominion of Canada (hereinafter called Our said Dominion), And We have thereby authorized and commanded Our said Governor-General to do and execute in due manner all things that shall belong to his said office, and to the trust We have reposed in him, according to the several powers and authorities granted or appointed him by virtue of the said Letters Patent and of such Commission as may be issued to him under Our Sign Manual and Signet, and according to such Instructions as may from time to time be given to him, under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or by Our Order in Our Privy Council, or by Us through One of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and to such Laws as are or shall hereafter be in force in Our said Dominion: Now, therefore, We do, by these Our Instructions under Our Sign Manual and Signet, declare Our pleasure to be as follows:—

I. Our said Governor-General for the time being shall, with all due solemnity, cause Our Commission, under Our Sign Manual and Signet, appointing Our said Governor-General for the time being, to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice for the time being, or other Judge of the Supreme Court of Our said Dominion, and of the members of the Privy Council in Our said Dominion.

Our said Governor-General, and every other Officer appointed to administer the Government of Our said Dominion, shall take the Oath of Allegiance in the form provided by an Act passed in the Session holden in the thirty-first and thirty-second years of the Reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria intituled "An Act to Amend the Law relating to Promissory Oaths"; and likewise he or they shall take the usual Oath for the due execution of the Office of Our Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our said Dominion, and for the due and impartial administration of justice; which Oaths the said Chief Justice for the time being of Our said Dominion, or, in his absence, or in the event of his being otherwise incapacitated, any Judge of the Supreme Court of Our said Dominion shall, and he is hereby required to tender and administer unto him or them.

II. And We do authorize and require Our said Governor-General from time to time, by himself or by any other person to be authorized by him in that behalf, to administer to all and to every persons or person, as he shall think fit, who shall hold any office or place of trust or profit in Our said Dominion, the said Oath of Allegiance, together with such other Oath or Oaths as may from time to time be prescribed by any Laws or Statutes in that behalf made and provided.

III. And We do require Our said Governor-General to communicate forthwith to the Privy Council for Our said Dominion these Our Instructions, and likewise all such others, from time to time, as he shall find convenient for Our service to be imparted to them.

IV. Our said Governor-General is to take care that all Laws assented to by him in Our name, or reserved for the signification of Our pleasure thereon, shall, when transmitted by him, be fairly abstracted in the margins, and be accompanied, in such cases as may seem to him necessary, with such explanatory observations as may be required to exhibit the reasons and occasions for proposing such Laws; and he shall also transmit fair copies of the Journals and Minutes of the proceedings of the Parliament of Our said Dominion, which he is to require from the clerks, or other proper officers in that behalf, of the said Parliament.

V. And We do further authorize and empower Our said Governor-General, as he shall see occasion, in Our name and on Our behalf, when any crime or offence against the Laws of Our said Dominion has been committed for which the offender may be tried therein, to grant a pardon to any accomplice, in such crime or offence, who shall give such information as shall lead to the conviction of the principal offender, or of any one of such offenders if more than one; and further, to grant to any offender convicted of any such crime or offence in any Court, or before any Judge, Justice, or Magistrate, within Our said Dominion, a pardon, either free or subject to lawful conditions, or any respite of the execution of the sentence of any such offender, for such period as to Our said Governor-General may seem fit, and to remit any fines, penalties, or forfeitures which may become due and payable to Us. Provided always, that Our said Governor-General shall not in any case, except where the offence has been of a political nature, make it a condition of any pardon or remission of sentence that the offender shall be banished from or shall absent himself from Our said Dominion. And We do hereby direct and enjoin that Our said Governor-General shall not pardon or reprieve any such offender without first receiving in capital cases the advice of the Privy Council for Our said Dominion, and in other cases the advice of one, at least, of his Ministers; and in any case in which such pardon or reprieve might directly affect the interests of Our Empire, or of any country or place beyond the jurisdiction of the Government of Our said Dominion, Our said Governor-General shall, before deciding as to either pardon or reprieve, take those interests specially into his own personal consideration in conjunction with such advice as aforesaid.

VI. And whereas great prejudice may happen to Our service and to the security of Our said Dominion by the absence of Our said Governor-General, he shall not, upon any pretence whatever, quit Our said Dominion without having first obtained leave from Us for so doing under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

No. 285.

From Lord Elgin to Lord Grey.

DOWNING STREET,
7th July, 1906.

MY LORD,—As requested in Your Lordship's despatch of 25th May, I have submitted to His Majesty the Joint Address to the King from the Senate and House of Commons of Canada expressing their loyalty and devotion to His Majesty and praying that His Majesty and Her Majesty the Queen will be graciously pleased to visit the Dominion.

His Majesty has been pleased to receive the Address very graciously.

I need scarcely remind Your Lordship of two circumstances which must not be overlooked in the consideration of these proposals. In the first place the current business of the Empire, which is continuous and incessant, imposes a heavy tax on the time and strength of its Sovereign,—and it is well known that the absence of His Majesty from this country for any length of time is difficult, if not impossible, except under very definite limitations and restrictions—even when considerations of health and the need for comparative rest render it expedient.

In the second place, it must be remembered that there are practically no limits, within the habitable globe, to the distances which must be travelled to reach all parts of the British Empire, and that it would be difficult for the King to visit one important part of His Dominions and decline to visit another.

It was no doubt these two facts which influenced Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, with wise foresight, to determine that Her eldest son should, in his youth, visit the various Colonies and Possessions of the Empire of which he was one day to become the Ruler; and accordingly His Majesty, while Prince of Wales, paid the visit to Canada to which reference is made in this Address.

Following the same counsels the present Prince of Wales, and other Members of the Royal Family, have been untiring in visiting even the most distant parts of the Empire, and have always been received as representatives of His Majesty with the utmost tenderness and loyalty.

I am commanded by His Majesty to make mention of these considerations because He would wish His loyal subjects in Canada and especially the Senate and House of Commons to understand that He is deeply touched and gratified by the terms of their Address and by the desire expressed that with Her Majesty The Queen He should again visit the Dominion. His Majesty retains a vivid recollection, even after the lapse of many years, of His former visit, of the beauties and interest of the country and of the enthusiasm and loyalty which everywhere greeted Him. He is well aware that it would be difficult to recognize the features of Canada. He then learned to know in the Great Dominion, whose rapid growth in all that contributes to the development and prosperity of a nation has been so astonishing, and no greater triumph could be offered to the Head of any Empire than to be Himself the witness of a progress so remarkable.

In spite, however, of the many and strong inducements which prompt Him to gratify the loyal wishes of His Canadian subjects, I am to say that the King feels unable at present to entertain the idea of a journey to Canada. Whether the difficulties suggested in an early portion of this despatch, and others which I need not particularise, could be overcome, it is premature to discuss now. But His Majesty desires that Your Lordship should make it known to all that He is prevented by the necessities of His position and not by any lack of appreciation of the loyalty and devotion of the people of Canada to His Throne and Person.

I have, etc.,
